The Warbling of Blackbirds.

When I see the waters fretting,
All her lovely blossoms faller down, I think,
"Alas! the day!"
Once, with magical sweet singing,
Blackbirds set the woodland ringing That awakes no more while April hours wear themselves away.

In our hearts fair hope lay smiling,
Sweet as air, and all beguiling:
And there hung a mist of bluebells on the slope and down the dell;
And we talked of joy and splendor,
That the years unborn would render,
And the blackbirds helped us with the story for they knew it well.

Piping, fluting, "Bees are humming,
April's here, and summer's coming:
Don't forget us when you walk, a man with men in pride and joy;
Think on us in all our days."

For no fairer day have we to hope for, little

BELLEVILLE, TUESDAY, SEPT. 3.

Major LeVesconte's Funeral

We yesterday had the sad duty of recording the death of our respected fellow-townsmen, Major C. G. LeVESCONTRE. His remains were interred with military honors, yesterday afternoon, in the burial ground of St. Thomas' Church, and were accompanied to the place of interment by a large concourse of his fellow-townsmen. The following was the order of the pro-

Escort composed of the Belleville Rifle Company of the 49th Battalion (Major Levesconte's old Company), and a detachment of the Grand Trunk Rifles, the whole under the command of Major BOWELL.

The Schooling Esdras, Bearers, Sergeants of the Rifle Company Hearse with the Body.

Citizens of Belleville two and two.

The service was read by the Rev. John Grier, and the eulogy by the Rev. J. W. Grier.

A party chosen from the escort.

Major G. de LeVoisette was the third son of Captain Henry LeVoisette, R. N. and was born at Mardencombe, near Torquay, in Devonshire, England, on the 12th day of November, 1818. His grandfather, father and uncle were all in the British Army, the first as acting Lieutenant of the Blenheim, was in the action of the Dogger Bank, in 1789, where he lost a leg. His father, who had sailed with the Victory in 1805, was killed at Waterloo and was in Nelson's battles of the Nile and Trafalgar, emigrated to Canada in 1835, but before he could reach this place spent some time in the "Hundred Days" in France. Mr. de LeVoisette, the subject of our notice, who had passed through some of the preliminary studies for a military profession, went into the service of Mr. C. Chandler, a druggist, who purchased Mr. Chandler's drug business, which occupation he continued to exercise until the death of his decessor. — Then Mr. LeVoisette continued his military studies as follows: In 1837 he joined the 1st Volunteer Rifle Company, and was shortly after promoted to the rank of Ensign in Captain McCallan's Company. He was killed during the Rebellion. In the winter of 1867 and '68, while engaged, along with Meers, S. Ball, G. S. and J. W. Brown, in the capture of "Bill Johnston," the horses they were driving (which they had taken from Mr. John Breckenridge, who had broken through the ice, and Mr. LeVoisette had killed Mr. Breckenridge while the others went for assistance. While thus employed he had his horse killed and was severely wounded. He was raised by the Belleville Rifle Company in 1857 he joined the 1st Cavalry Company, Col. James Brown and Major Bowell of the 49th Battalion being respectively his Lieut. and Captain. He was killed in 1862, while on duty with his company, on the morning of the Queen's Birthday, he was wounded in the left foot by the accidental discharge of a rifle. He was killed by the same shot in the bones of the metatarsus. This wound never thoroughly healed; but notwithstanding this disability he continued to go with his company to Amherstburg, and to the frontier after the St. Albans raid, and again led it to Aulsville during the Fenian excitement. He was retired from the service, retaining his rank.

Major LeVesconte was for several years a prominent member of the Corporation of Belleville, having sat as one of the Councilors for Ketcheson Ward since 1852 to the present time, with the exception of one year. In his municipal capacity, he took an active part in the adjustment of matters on the separation of the Town from the County, and the Town is largely indebted to his exertions for the handsome bridges which he possesses, and also for the neat stone wall on the bank of the Moira near the upper bridge.

His death was occasioned by a fresh outbreak of the wound in his foot, mortification having set in, unobserved until too late.

Mr. C. WALLINGBORO. His address is New York City. He is a member of the Senate, and he has been collected to become the representative to his defeat, and to his subsequent election. One of the greatest misapprehensions of the people is the idea that the great public life, in his past record. He was willing to stand by that position, he was willing to let the dead bury the dead. The greatest question ever before the people was before men now. Great Britain had given us warning for good or for evil. That question was whether we should have a Union with Great Britain, or whether we should have a Union without Great Britain. He voted against it as he believed the Legislature would have been preferable. He was not a member of the Legislature, and what would be in a few years would have 30 States. The question of state rights would come up and no man could tell what would be the result. He was not a member of the Nova Scotia issue before the people. The question of taxation of the Imperial Government caused on Revolution and the people were not to be satisfied. He had the Union question submitted to the people, but having got the Union now, it was not the best of it, and work it as much as you can. The people are not the Government. The Assessment Rolls will have another column in them for taxes the General Government, and you will have to pay the expenses. The people will pay by Pop, but by Pop, you got to pay by Pop, but so it is. But the system is not being ticked into shape yet, and that is the argument for a coalition. The people are not the Government, they are asked. We were not in favor of a factions opposition to the Government. We then re-

BOWELL, Esq. then came forward, and was greeted with loud and continued cheering. He said notwithstanding the rapid march of the procession, he had not advanced to the point again, and would save the sails which had been drawn into the counter with much more ease than the sails of the ship. He then said that the speaker had given of him one word which he did not believe he had horns, hoofs and tail visible, and was as bad as man could be. He said he would not be so easily satisfied simply to punish him. Well, all he had to say was that when statement is investigated by the light of truth, you will find it all wrong. He said he would not be so ready to make about himself and this contest to day, at the meeting at Lake's it will be remembered that he had no desire to be a candidate, that at the Convention to be called he was selected, well and good, if another was chosen, he would not object. He said that before that Convention was held, and before he was made known to be the candidate, he was a stranger announcing himself so that he would not know how he was elected, and consequently the statement that he came out to punish him was not true—having no voice in the election. He said that if he were a candidate, and he would consent to it to the end, and if he was to be guided by the voice of the electors, so far as he had to do, he would not object to it. He said with regard to the present Government, if elected he would give it a fair opportunity. He would not support any man who would not support the Government, as he was the case.

with this opponent, but he would support upon principle. When his opponent says he will not support one member of the Administration, he is not saying that he does not know what Constitutional Government is. He should know, as you all know, that he is a member of a Ministry, he is a member of the Executive, and in our country's history it becomes the duty of every one to lend his aid to place the Government upon a firm basis, and to be running order, and the man who would refuse to do this is a man who is not fit to be the old party issues, which had long ago been settled. He would carry an election in his country, but he is not a good citizen. He would now take up the points in Mr. Wallbridge's position with which he has been asked to deal, and he would answer them satisfactorily to all present. The first is related respecting Confederation. Mr. Wallbridge had taken the Parliamentary documents, and he had said that he had voted against a new nationality, and against the Federal principle, and against the Federal principle, and would prove it to them from the journals of the House of Assembly that he did so. He would now take up Mr. Dorion's amendment on the same principle that his brother voted upon the same principle, for, for and against, so that he might say to the House, "I voted for the rate of interest: 'O, my dear fellow, don't you see I voted for the USury Law, and I voted for the rate of interest, and I didn't I voted to take the money out of the House?' " So with Mr. T. C. Wallbridge. He will turn to the Journals of the House of Assembly, and he will find that he voted amongst certain resolutions which were introduced and passed there in one in which it is stated that the country is desirous of creating a new nationality. "That resolution is not feasible and reasonable. Now if a vote was voted for such a resolution, would he not be declaring for a new nationality, and is not that what he is doing? He would then read the very opposite of Legislative Union for which he has taken to himself the credit of supporting exclusively? That resolution is that the country is desirous of creating a new nationality." Well, let us see who voted for that resolution. Turning to the Journals of the House of Assembly, we find that Mr. Wallbridge's second, who was standing beside him, to look over the book and see for himself, and he would find that he had voted for it. When he tells the audience if Mr. T. C. Wallbridge had voted for it, he would say, "I have looked the book and have examined it, and I find that Mr. Wallbridge has voted for it." But Mr. Wallbridge knew that he (Bowl) had not.

Whenever mentioning this point, always explain that vote, but it did not alter his position one iota. Had he persistently done so, he would have been regarded as a man of national faith," he declared that he advocated the Federal principle, and from the journals of the House he had proved that his statement was correct. He then read the following, which was drawn from the counter and driven into Wallbridge himself. Probably the greater attempt to impose upon the credulity of the people was Mr. Wallbridge's statement that he had been present at the meeting, and that he had with him having voted for the first and second readings of the Usury Bill in 1864, and of speaking out of the House when the bill was read a third time. He then read a third reading. Mr. Wallbridge denies the charge and accuses me of lying about him. How does he explain it? Why he takes up the bill and reads it out of the House. He voted for the first and second readings of the Usury Bill that Session, and that before the Bill came to a third reading the House was divided. He then reads the following in reference to but in the Session of 1864, and at the Marmora meeting I gave Mr. Wallbridge a memorandum of the year, and page of the Journals of the House, and he refused to read the year, and the people any longer with respect to that vote, yet he has the courtesy to come here to today and endeavor to explain away that scandal by the production of a bill. He says that the bill will not will turn into the Journals of 1864, he will find that Mr. T. C. Wallbridge voted for the first and second readings of the Usury Bill, and that he was present at the House for the last ten years Mr. Bourne has brought forth the Bill for restricting the interest of money. Well on the 9th day of June 1864, the Bill was read a first time. Mr. Wallbridge was present on the same evening for we find his name recorded three times that evening in the Journals (and here again he showed his good nature) and he said that he himself was satisfied what was said was correct. But when the Bill was reported to the House, he was not present. How do we do find. But a motion is made by Mr. McDonald supported by Mr. T. C. Wallbridge, and Mr. T. C. Wallbridge, and Mr. Barry, he asked if Mr. T. C. Wallbridge's name was there recorded. (Mr. Barry replied no). Mr. Bowell continued, "I have not seen the Journals, but I saw what was the result of his absence. The vote of that motion stood 4 to 23. Had Mr. Wall-

Mr. Wallbridge was present and voted against it. He said that he had a little to say to the chair, and he rose, but had not Mr. T. C. Wallbridge left the House, would have saved the Bill, and it would have passed.

VOICE—Is that all drawn?

Mr. Wallbridge, I think that I will leave it for the other side to say whether it is not. Let me pass to another point. In Bancockburn the other day a gentleman in conversation with me said that he had seen Mr. Wallbridge, and he had said that he was keeping steady to the Bill, and that the clause providing for taxing the municipalities when you know it is not correct, and that he was not going to vote against it, but I assert it in order to put those of denying it upon my opponents, and thereby keep them hammering me to death.

VOICE—That is not true.

Mr. Bowell said he expected Mr. Wallbridge would deny it, so he would produce the evidence. Fortunately for the Government, Mr. W. H. C. Wallbridge and three or four others were present that heard Mr. Wall-

Mr. W. H. CARPENTER then came forward to the stand and said Mr. Wallbridge did make the statement, and there were three others present who heard him. (Applause.)

Mr. BOWELL—And yet Mr. Wallbridge will deny that he said it, and without a blush upon his countenance repeat that denial. Mr. Wallbridge accuses me of advocating Municipal Taxation. I defy Mr. Wallbridge to say to anyone to prove that I ever said one word in the journal which I control, or in any other way in favor of Municipal taxation for railway purposes, or that Mr. Flint did so. I men to be held responsible for what they write down, I suppose it is but fair to hold Mr. Wallbridge responsible for what his friends and neighbors say. I have no doubt that his intimate friends take upon this very question. Did not Mr. M. P. Hayes, who still supports Mr. Wallbridge upon this question, say that he could get at least two of the back towns to take stock in the railway. But Mr. Wallbridge says that the Government and the Municipalities cannot tax the people without their consent. And he knows that the law provides no person but a taxpayer can be taxed. And he would not coveneant to pay the taxes, and thus for a whole time for which money is borrowed, and then the question of borrowing money for any purpose, but that according to the interest which they have the right to take whether they will be taxed or not. But Mr. Flint's Bill the Railway must go. Mr. Bridgewater. Now I will read the clause which shows that here again Mr. Wallbridge is right. "That the said road shall be run through at Belleville, and run by the village of Belleville to Twiss, Bridgewater, and by any other places that may be desired, and the Bill of 1864, which Mr. Wallbridge struck, after laying down the line as before, says, "that the said road shall be run by any shall select," so that the statement without foundation, that the Bill made it imperative that the Road should go to Bridgewater, is not true. It is left to the people of the country? But he would say if Mr. Flint could show to a Company that he has mine property, that he could make sufficient traffic to pay the taxes, and that he would not there is no doubt the Company would run through that village, and if it could be shown that it would be profitable to run it through the valley of the Town it would be by that route. What we want is the real mine wealth of this back country developed, and then the Government will be able to get wealth he would cordially support. Wallbridge produces the Hon. Mr. McCall's letter to show that the Government was not in a hurry to get the Geological Survey was favorable. But McDougall was but one of a Cabinet, and his letter is speaks "for myself," and not for the Government. He was not John A. Macdonald, McDougall's master, that occasion say? In a letter to John B. Esq., of the same office, which he would read, Mr. Esq. says the Government was not in the Bill whatever, and the Government had not the slightest objections to have the mine property as a subject for local interest only. Boyce says that that is not Mr. Macdonald's hand-writing.

Mr. WELLSBIDGE. It is
Mr. BOWEN. — Well, what becomes of McDougal's letter? It is the veriest trash to quote that letter as an excuse for his conduct. Mr. WELLSBIDGE. — Well, Mr. bridge says he was the man to move for Geological Survey, and goes about the country boasting what he has done. Well, it is a pity that he has not done more. We know the truth even in small matters well as large ones. It was not Mr. W. bridge who moved for the report. Mr.
WELLSBIDGE. — Yes, the journey to the west was on Mr. Parker's motion. That the Bill was laid before the House. But the passage of the Bill would not have prevented the Bill from being made. The burning of the Bill did prevent it, for it was given to a rival Railway, and this County suffered from having its Railway, and consequently its business, taken away. I had every opportunity to have changed my mind, but I did not. I was anxious to suit his views, but he allowed it to die.

by allowing it to die he sacrificed your interests to his own caprice. The speaker then referred to the bridge in the House, which prevented the bridge of a grant of land being made over the Road was built, and security given that the bridge would be made good, and the money to come.

Reference was also made to the length to the responsibility of Mr. Wallbridge for what he said, and the position of the Government in the matter. The Government promised the member of the Government the land. If the editor said that paper desired that information he should acquire, Mr. Wallbridge, who stated in the House on 10 October last, that information was provided by the Government. If that statement were false Mr. Wallbridge was responsible for it. Mr. Wallbridge attempts to rid himself of the Cobourg Bill, and asks what are the facts? The moment he asked Mr. Filin's Bill to do the Cobourg Bill was pushed through, an amalgamation was made between the Cobourg Bill and the Company went into the hands of American capitalists, and the first act was to pay $50,000 of the debt of Cobourg, and give it $100,000 more, and then to take out of the $300,000 in cash, and $170,000 in paid-up stock. The Road is built, and 300 or 400 tons of coal are used every day, and the men are at work at the ore beds, and 400 tons of coal are used every day, and the men of which is going away from the Town.

not that of his opponent. The speaker then referred to the resolution of the House respecting the Parliamentary saloon, and the subsequent opening of it by order of the House. He then alluded to the conduct of the House, and the fearful amount of intemperance thereby produced. He closed his speech by a reference to the Mining Act, which he said would be a benefit to the people, and should be amended. He thanked the people for the patient hearing they had given him, and hoped his friends would keep up the good work. He then moved the adjournment, and he trusted he would be elected by a wide-spread majority.

Mr. JAMES McLENNAN then addressed the assembly, and, to their amusement, and having them mutually arranged that the other parties nominated should not speak, it getting late, the meeting broke up by passing the vote of thanks to the Evening Standard, giving credit to the speakers, and the respective candidates. Turkey.

THE CRISTIAN INSTRUCTION—THE SULTAN'S RETURN.
A despatch from our correspondent at Constantinople, dated August 13, says:—
The affair of the American consul at Crete is becoming serious. Mr. Morris has demanded the most ample apologies from the Turks. The resolution of Congress on Crete is not mending the matter.

The French and Russian are removing great numbers of the non-combatants from Crete. Omar Pasha is not accomplishing anything these days, rather retreating.

The Sultan has come back, and, as far as can be seen, has fallen back into his old ways. He did not appear at any of the fetes in his honor.

The fetes exceeded anything ever seen before. The Pasha of Egypt alone spent £40,000 sterling on illumination, and several others as much.

The Sultan is very enthusiastic about England and Prussia, but quite cool about France.

From every part of Turkey public and private advices agree in reporting unusually favorable harvests. The same in South Russia.

Great Riot in Kamouraska.

THE RETURNING OFFICER ABANDONED—WRITS CARRIED OFF BY THE MOB.

Quebec, Sept. 2nd, 1897.
The County of Kamouraska has voluntarily disfranchised itself by the action of the mob at the nomination in that county on Saturday. The contest was to be between Mr. P. Pelletier, Advocate, of Quebec, and the Hon. Mr. Chapais, Priy Councillor.

Howdies who assembled at the hustings wanted the Returning Officer to declare himself in favor of what he deemed an illegal course in reference to certain parishes whose municipalities had failed to comply with the election law. On his refusal, they assaulted him, and being some thousands strong, drove him from the poll to his house, which his friends had to defend by barricades. It and the house adjacent were nearly destroyed, and many persons were injured.

The fighting lasted from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., the mob carrying off the writs and threatening to drown the Returning Officer if he dared to return Mr. Chapais as elected.

Two men are reported to have been fatally injured. The people are protesting against Mr. Chapais, particularly in the parishes they are disfranchised, and should the election take place, we doubt the return of Mr. Chapais to the House.

Mr. Trustee Sacklides was sitting in his doorway, one day, when Saunders presented himself before him, a perfect stranger, in search of a school to keep for the winter. "Have you ever kept school?" "No," replied Saunders. "What are your qualifications?" asked Sacklides. "I have been through the rule of three, and I can read and spell any word in the spelling book and I reckon I can fog any boy who won't mind." "Have you any recommendations?" "No, sir, I thought you would examine me and if I was qualified, I could line out." "What do you ask a month?" "What do you pay, old chap?" "Well, according to the qualifications of the teacher." "I'd like to be examined then. If you'll bring on your books, you may begin." "So I can tell you about a teacher's seeing him walk." "That's easily done," said the candidate with an air. "Well, then," said Sacklides, "you set out and walk up the road," pointing in the direction which Saunders came, and when I'm satisfied I'll call you to stop." The teacher started off at a brisk pace, and Sacklides sat the door and went into the house. When Saunders reached the top of the hill half a mile away, it began to occur to him that his examination had passed.

The fact that Charlotte, Maximilian's widow, is undergoing different treatment, while her condition is steadily improving since her return to Belgium, is attracting the attention of those practitioners abroad who have always condemned the practice of imposing solitary upon themselves. While at Miramar Charlotte was entirely left to herself, and there constantly grew worse, until her life was almost despaired of. Since the Belgian royal family decided to take a more lively interest in the King's widowed sister, the celebrated Belgian physician, Dr. Bulken, has subjected his patient to a different system of treatment, entirely opposed to that of the German physicians who had charge of the Empress while at Miramar. Dr. Bulken permits Charlotte to associate with the rest of the royal family, to visit places known to her from her early youth, and to spend most of her time in company. The effect is already marked, for we now hear the Empress's convalescence, though slow, will be steady, and that in due time her mind may be so completely restored as to allow the end date of her husband to be communicated to her.

Prorogation of Parliament.

THE QUEEN'S SPEECH.

On the afternoon of the 31st ult., Parliament was prorogued by Commission. The Lord Chancellor read the Queen's speech, which is worded as follows:—

My Lords and Gentlemen: I am happy to be enabled to release you from the labors of a long and more than usually eventful session, and to offer you my acknowledgments for the successful diligence with which you have applied yourselves to your Parliamentary duties.

My relations with foreign countries continue on a friendly footing.

At the commencement of the present year great fears were entertained that differences which had arisen between France and Prussia might have led to a war of which it was impossible to foresee the ultimate result. Happily the advice tendered by my Government, and by those of the other neutral States, aided by the moderation of the two powers chiefly interested, sufficed to avert the threatened calamity; and I trust that no ground at present exists for apprehending any disturbance of the general peace.

The communications which I have made to the reigning monarch of Abyssinia, with a view to obtain the release of the British subjects whom he detains in his dominions, have, I regret to say, thus far proved ineffectual. I have therefore found it necessary to address to him a solemn and imperative demand for their immediate liberation, and to take measures for supporting that demand, should it ultimately be found necessary to resort to force.

The treasonable conspiracy in Ireland, to which I have before called your attention, broke out in the early part of the year in a futile attempt at insurrection. That it was suppressed, almost without bloodshed, is due not more to the disciplined valor of my troops, and to the admirable conduct of the police, than to the general loyalty of the population, and the absence of any token of sympathy with the insurgents on the part of any considerable portion of my subjects. I rejoice that the supremacy of the law was vindicated without imposing on me the painful necessity of sacrificing a single life.

The bill for the abolition of certain local exemptions from taxation, enabled me to avail myself of a liberal concession made, in anticipation, by the Emperor of the French, whereby several taxes were removed which pressed heavily upon British shipping.

I have concluded a Postal Convention with the United States of America, whereby the rate of postage between the two countries will be diminished by one-half, and further arrangements are in progress for increasing the intercourse between this country and the continent of North America.

The Act for the union of the British North American Provinces is the final accomplishment of a scheme long contemplated, whereby the colonies are now united in one dominion, may be expected not only to gain additional strength for the purposes of defence against external aggression, but may be united among themselves by fresh ties of mutual interest, and attached to the mother country by the only bonds which can effectually secure such important dependencies—those of loyalty to the crown and attachment to British connection.

I have great satisfaction in giving my assent to a bill for amending the representation of the people in Parliament. I earnestly trust that the extensive and liberal measure which you have passed may effect a durable settlement of a question which has long engaged the public attention; and that the large number of my subjects who will be for the first time admitted to the exercise of the elective franchise, may, in the discharge of the duties thereto devolved upon them, prove themselves worthy of the confidence which Parliament has reposed in them.

It is gratifying to me to find that the lengthened consideration which you have necessarily given to this important question has not prevented your entering on many subjects to which your attention was directed at the beginning of the session, and particularly to such as have immediate reference to the well-being of the industrial classes.

Terrible Scaffold Scene.

EXECUTION OF A WOMAN—SHE SEIZES THE AXE AND ATTACKS THE EXECUTIONER.

A horrible scaffold scene occurred the other day in the prison yard of Janer, Sicily. A young woman, not of the lowest class of population, was to be beheaded for gratifying her jealousy of a former lover by an act that had led to the death of several persons. The faithful man had deserted her and married another girl. The deserted mistress, to revenge herself, set fire to his house, and several persons perished in the flames. She was arrested, convicted, and sentenced to suffer death. On the scaffold, just at the moment when the executioner bared her neck and was about to fasten her to the fatal block, she broke loose from him and his assistants, seized the large axe that was to cut off her head, and defied the dumfounded officer to take her. They rushed upon her, showering blows on her head, and finally, after wounding some of them, she was knocked down and handcuffed. She uttered wild, terrible screams all the while, and the executioner and his men tried to dispatch her as quick as possible. They tore her dress from her, and she died her feet and dragged her to the block. Although she still screamed and resisted to the last of her power, the leather strap on the back of her head, which the victim is drawn forward, was soon slipped over it, and the executioner seized the axe. Unfortunately the dreadful scene had made him quite nervous, and, on striking her, he missed her neck, and cut deeply into her shoulder and back. The blood rushed from the fearful wound, and the screams of the unfortunate woman grew heartrending beyond description. A second blow, dealt her a few seconds afterwards, finally put a stop to her sufferings.

Arrest of Two Counterfeiters.

On Monday evening, Mr. Wood, Chief of the detective force of Washington, U. S., and an assistant, arrived in Toronto in search of two men named Charles Ulrich and Adrian Harco, who escaped a few weeks ago from Brooklyn jail where they had been awaiting trial on a charge of forgery and counterfeiting. After communicating with the authorities here, Detective Sheehan and Constable Wood were detailed to assist in searching for the fugitives from justice, and soon succeeded in taking them into custody. They had been lodging for the past ten days at Meyers' Hotel, corner Front and York streets. It appears from the statement of Mr. Wood, that the detectives of the United States had been actively engaged for several years past in trying to discover the authors of forgeries of National Bank bills, and were unsuccessful until a few weeks ago, when Ulrich was taken into custody and lodged in Brooklyn jail, where Harco was already confined on a charge of having issued a large number of counterfeit $5 and $100 notes, which were largely circulated by his associates. The forgeries on the National banks consisted of $500 and $100 notes, and were such excellent imitations that they were freely taken all over the country as genuine, and even at the banks by which they were supposed to have been issued. After a vigorous search Ulrich was arrested in New York and the plates of the $500 and $100 found on the premises. He was consequently placed in Brooklyn jail above stated, where he and Harco met and made arrangements to escape, which they succeeded in doing, and made their way to Canada. They were traced to this city, as already stated, and will appear before the police magistrate to-day, after which they will doubtless be extradited. It is alleged that Ulrich forged a large amount some years ago on the Bank of England and escaped to the United States, where he was arrested, but escaped being extradited through a defect in the law. Being a first class engraver he commenced operations in the States, and has been doing a thriving business since.

Daily Intelligencer.

BELLEVILLE, FRIDAY, SEPT. 6.

Mr. T. C. WALLBRIDGE claims credit for having stopped the Marmora Railway. We are disposed to give him all the credit he deserves for that deed, though we think he will find it on the wrong side of his ledger, in this county—whatever it may be at Cobourg.

The Grit confession of Faith, before the elections.

Great is George Brown, and Mr. Kellar is his prophet.
The Grit confession after the elections, "Brown is done brown" and so is his prophet.

A NIOS PROSPECT.—The U. S. Indian Commissioners, now in the West, have been questioning the prominent military commanders on the Plains as to the number of troops and the amount of money likely to be required for an effective prosecution of war. According to the New York Tribune, the result of these is, that with 60,000 men, three-quarters of them cavalry, and an expenditure of $500,000, we may be able to conquer a peace in about five years. This is rather a dismal prospect for the success of a "war of extermination," such as is urged in some quarters.

AN AMERICAN OPINION OF GEORGE BROWN.—The Chicago Republican thus briefly epitomizes the elections in Canada:—"Thus far in the Canadian elections not a single man has been returned to Parliament in opposition to the McDonald Ministry. The great mischief-maker, George Brown, was beaten in practically the most sharply contested of all the districts, (a district, by the way, of his own choice), and his pack of followers have been ineffectually 'recruited.' George Brown calls himself a 'Reformer,' and speaks at a long distance, like the great John Bright. But he is only a non-clad jackass, whose bravadoes have indeed been heard, but whose bark and fore are all in the rear."

Nomination at Picton.

The nomination for the county of Prince Edward took place at Picton yesterday. Messrs. James M. McLaughlin and Walter Rose received nominations for the House of Commons, and Messrs. D. B. Solmes and A. Greely for the Ontario Legislature. The polling will take place on Wednesday and Thursday, 11th and 12th September.

East Hastings Election.

FIRST DAYS POLLING.

READ AND CORBY HEAD THE POLL.

The following is the true state of the poll in this riding at the close on the first day:

	FAIRLEY.	READ.
Tyendinaga.....	48	179
Thurlow.....	139	186
Hungerford.....	30	116
	217	481

Majority for Read.....264

	HENDERSON.	CORBY.
Tyendinaga.....	87	139
Thurlow.....	125	189
Hungerford.....	48	103
	260	431

Majority for Corby.....168

Up to the time of going to press we have received no returns of the second day's polling.

North Hastings Election.

Election of North Hastings: The Wallbridge family give it out that they have you all under their thumb, and that they can return whom they please for their constituency. Will you allow them to have a right to hold such language respecting you for the future, as they will have, if you return one of themselves after the way they have treated you, setting at naught your interests and betraying your trusts? Or will you not rather, by supporting Mr. Bowell, teach them, as their head and chief, George Brown himself has been taught, that the people of Canada will brook no insolent dictation as to how they are to exercise their franchise, but will give their votes free and unconstrained in support of those who will have no family interests to pauper and toster, and who have no interests to serve but such as are common to them and yourselves? Such a representative, faithful and honest, Mr. Bowell will be. Will you not support him?

Election Intelligence.

SOUTH GREENVILLE, second day.—For the Commons: Shanley 898; Patrick 730—majority for Shanley 168. For the Assembly: Clarke 848; McCarthy 738—majority for Clarke 110.

RUSSELL, at the close.—For the Commons: Grant 599; Bell 279—majority for Grant 320. For the Assembly: Craig (Union) 445; O'Hanley (Fenian-Brownite) 193; Sparks (Union) 154.

WEST ELGIN.—The result of this election is that Mr. Munro is returned by a majority of 264 over Mr. McDougall, and Mr. N. McCall by 78 over Mr. S. McGill.

KENT.—The close of the first day's poll gives Mr. Stephenson a majority of 66 over Mr. McKellar, and Mr. McMichael 16 over Mr. Smith.

EAST PETERBOROUGH.—So far as heard from Mr. Grover stands 79 ahead of Mr. Anderson, and Mr. Reid 160 above Mr. Ingram.

GLENGARRY.—First day, for the Local Legislature: Mr. Craig, the Union candidate, heads the poll over Mr. McNab by 135.

OTTAWA COUNTY.—No precise returns have yet been received, but it is stated that Mr. Church is far ahead of Mr. McCreery.

PONTIAC.—Messrs. Edmund Heath, for the Commons, and John Poupore for the Assembly, have been elected by acclamation.

NORTH RENFREW.—Full accounts cannot be had yet. Messrs. Rankin and Murray were nearly a tie. Mr. Supple was far ahead of his opponent when last heard from.

NORTH HURON.—First day, 4 townships heard from. For the Commons: Whitehead 394; Sloan 44; Holmes 132. For the Assembly: Hays 284; Gibson 200.

EAST ELGIN.—As near as we can learn, the Union candidates, Dobble and Linton, had a majority of about 80 over Burwell and Nairn.

ESSEX.—Close of the Poll.—For the Commons: O'Connor 413; Rankin 411—majority for O'Connor 2. For the Assembly: Wigle 531; Cameron 392—majority for Wigle 139.

NORTH PEORIA.—First day.—For the Commons: Redford 695; Day 484—Redford's majority 211. For the Assembly: Month 653; Hays 492—Month's majority 171.

MONTREAL EAST.—The first day's polling gives Mr. Carter a majority of 571 for the Commons over Lanctot and of 577 for the Assembly over Lanctot.

MONTREAL WEST.—In this division Mr. T. D. McFee had a majority of 601 over Devlin.

BELLECHAS.—Mr. Caneau has been elected by a majority of 116 for the House of Commons over Remillard, and Dr. Pelletier for the Assembly.

MONTREAL.—Hon. Mr. Irvine, Solicitor General, has been elected by a large majority for both Houses.

If you have Chubbins, see Daily Mail. If you have Chubbins, see Daily Mail. If you have Chubbins, see Daily Mail.

The fears of those who were imposed upon by Messrs. Farley and Henderson's boasts have proved groundless, and the union and loyal candidates have taken their place here as in most other places at the head of the poll. The first day's returns showing such a majority for Messrs. Read and Corby as must act as "a heavy blow and great discouragement" to their opponents in the contest of to-day; while the friends of the union candidates will be encouraged to make fresh exertions to bring their men in triumphant.

Editorial Summary.

—The first train of steam cars passed over the railroad across Mount Cenis on last Wednesday.

—Coffins covered with purple velvet are the latest style in Albany.

—A jury composed of half blacks and half whites was empanelled at Montgomery, Ala., on Monday last.

—Bonner's seven horses cost him $118,000. They were all got by advertising out of the Ledger.

—A Kingston paper says that the sunken propeller Magnet, of Jacques, Tracy & Co's line, has been raised to within twelve feet of the surface.

—A misunderstanding has arisen between Austria and Italy concerning the return of Venetian archives and works of art removed to Austria when Venice was evacuated, and also as to the boundary line.

—James Stephens, the late Head-Center, is still residing in Paris in seemingly distressed circumstances; he is engaged in writing a history of his connection with the Fenian plot, and hopes to prove satisfactorily that he made no improper use of the funds of the society.

—General Grant has requested to be relieved from military matters in order of discussion, as he does not think it proper for a military officer to take part in political discussions.

—The whites and blacks broke out in open war at Washington, East Tennessee, on Wednesday, the fight resulting in the wounding of a number of persons. A general war among the races it is feared will be the result in that region.

—In his late letter to the citizens of South Carolina, Wade Hampton said that the Supreme Court had decided that a negro could not be a citizen of the United States, and Congress could not change that decision by an act, but he still favors universal suffrage as it now stands in that region.

—In Cincinnati a little boy, twelve years old, fell from a second story window upon the pavement beneath, and to the astonishment of all who witnessed it, he rose to his feet and trotted to the door unharmed, although terribly scared.

—There is a man in St. Paul who is singularly afflicted. One side of his head never sweats. The perspiration rolls off the left side of his face in drops, while the right side is entirely free from moisture. He attributes the phenomena to disease, which he says stopped up the pores of his face on that side.

—The London Star relates that after the Crimean war, a young officer in the House of Commons wore tremendous moustaches, of which one of the members said, "My dear fellow, now that the war is over, why don't you put your moustaches on the peace establishment?" "Had you not better put your tongue on the civil list?" was the prompt reply.

—Dr. Gould of Cambridge stated at the recent meeting of the Association for the advancement of Science, that in some experiments on the Atlantic Cable last Autumn, he sent messages from Valentia to Newfoundland by the use of a battery made of a percussion cap, a piece of zinc no larger than a mustard-seed, and a drop of acidulated water. The transmission was at the rate of 600 miles per second.

—They have sharp newboys in Liverpool. A correspondent of a British paper says: "The day that I arrived in Liverpool, I was saluted while taking a stroll through the city, by a newboy, who shouted out to me, 'paper sir, latest news from America, sir; suicide of Andy Johnson, sir.' Had it not been that I could not conscientiously reward dishonesty, I should have liked to give the youngster something for making so good a guess at my politics."

—The crew from St. John, N. B., which is to compete with the celebrated Ward Brothers of New York, for a purse of $5,000, at Springfield, Mass., on the 14th of September, went into training last week. The crew will consist of John Morris (who made the match for the St. John boatmen), the McCaffrey brothers, and a man named McAuley. If this crew is beaten by the Ward brothers, it is intimated that the crew which was so successful at the international regatta in Paris will give them a chance to try their mettle.

—A physician practicing in Portland was recently called to visit a young professional man, a French family in that city, consisting of a mother and seven children, three of the latter suffering from an attack of typhoid fever, and notwithstanding he was assured that he had not means to procure food for her sick family, he demanded and took from her the last dollar she had, about aware that it had just been taken by a charitably disposed person. Such menaces, let us hope, is rare in the medical profession.

—The Journal of Commerce, speaking of the revival of trade in New York, says there is little excitement, and no great eagerness among the buyers, but a far more healthy trade is often seen when the competition for goods is more furious. The loaded drays pressing around the entrance to the docks, thronging the streets in converging lines toward the principal freight depots, and impeding each other wherever there is a chance for transportation, are indicative of the revival of a demand for interior consumption.

BY ATLANTIC CABLE.

LONDON, Sept. 6, evening.—The monthly returns of the Bank of England show that the amount of bullion in its vaults has increased 250,000 since the last report.

DUBLIN, Sept. 5.—Criminal prosecutions have been commenced in the County of Wick against several persons who are known to be bitter Orangemen and who are charged with participating in the recent disorderly processions of Orangemen and with being parties to the disturbance which occurred on those occasions.

COPENHAGEN, Sept. 5, evening.—The report that the Government of Denmark has sold the Danish Islands in the West Indies to the United States is officially denied.

BERLIN, Sept. 5, evening.—Returns of the recent elections from all parts of Prussia and from the other States of the Confederation show that the Liberal candidates for the North German Parliament have generally been successful, and the Liberal party will undoubtedly have a large and controlling majority during the coming session of Parliament.

In the Prussian Senate to-day action was taken which indicates that the Senate is willing to accept the assurances which have been given that the Solingen conference is a guaranty of peace to Europe.

The conferences which have for some time been in progress here between the Prussian government and the Hanoverian notables have resulted in the appointment of Baron Von Vuitk, an eminent Prussian statesman, to preside over the government of Hanover. His appointment, it is considered, will be particularly acceptable to the Hanoverians, as the Baron Von Vuitk, although a native of Prussia, has an estate in Ostensleben, Hanover, which he has made his habitable residence for many years.

LONDON, Sept. 6, noon.—As previously telegraphed, the weekly statement of the Bank of England shows an increase of bullion of nearly half a million pounds sterling. For the first time in fifteen years the specie in the vaults exceeds the circulation of the bank.

LONDON, September 6, noon.—Consols 94½; Bonds weak at 73½; Erie 45½; TC 77½.

American Despatches.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 5.—Partial returns from less than one-half of the Counties in the State, but including the most populous, show large democratic gains everywhere. The democratic legislative ticket is probably elected in San Francisco and Sacramento. This defeats the re-election of Senator Conness.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 5.—There were 25 deaths from yellow fever during the 24 hours ending at 6 o'clock this morning.

AUGUSTA, Georgia, Sept. 5.—Ben Hill is writing a series of letters to General Grant in reply to General Pope, in which he asserts that no respectable white man in the South approves of the Military Bill as constitutional, right, just or desirable.

GALVESTON, Texas, Sept. 5.—The yellow fever has somewhat abated. The number of deaths yesterday was 17. General Griffin's only child has died. Dr. Rowe, late medical director, is dead. There is only one case of fever on duty.

MONTE, Sept. 5.—Colonel N. B. Shepherd, who was shot at Mount Vernon Arsenal a few weeks since by Captain Shaaf, of the United States army, died here to-day of the wounds he received. Captain Shaaf has been on trial before a military commission since Monday. His examination concluded to-day, but the sentence has not been promulgated.

CHARLESTON, Sept. 5.—At noon to-day Gen. Canby appeared at the district headquarters and formally relieved Gen. Sickles.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6.—The National Intelligencer contradicts all the stories about a rupture between the President and General Grant, but says it believes a change in the Cabinet, other than in the War Department, is imminent.

And shadowy woodlands tempt the sight
With patient fingers and eyes serene,
She weaves, as she waits for her absent knave,
As fair a fabric as ever was seen,

 Come he early, or come he late,
 Little it matters, for one sweet tune
 Singeth she ever—I wait! I wait!

One is noble and true, I know:
Surely he will come back again
And bear her away at his saddle-bow,
All the longing and all the pain
She will breathe in whisperings soft and

The Fenians Again.

ONE MORE UNFORTUNATE ANXIOUS TO LEAD AN ASSAULT ON THE OBSCURE BRITISH LION.

The N. Y. Times comments thus severely and pleasantly on a new candidate for Fenianism, as a leader of the Fenians to glory and the gallows.

Gen. Charles L. Reeman, of San Francisco, (whose name has not the honor of knowing privately, officially, historically or militarily,) has sent an offer through the Fenian Brotherhood, which we do not feel at liberty to conceal from their knowledge.

He announces that deep regret with which he observes that the Grand Army of Freedom is without a leader—one to lead every true Irishman on to independence—then the General declares that he has had great experience in military and diplomatic affairs, having served throughout the entire war with honor, or to myself and credit to my country, and having returned from China, where I have held the distinguished position of United States Consul. After this comes the point of capital interest: "I then," says he, to the Fenian Brotherhood, "will be your leader raised up by Heaven to be an avenger of your wrongs, and to be your Central Organizer of the Irish Republic. I will sacrifice myself on the altar of my country, and swear to you never to rest night or day till the murderous Saxon and bloody Orangemen are driven out of our beloved land once and for all. Brothers, unite! Let your watchword be 'Onward!' You have a mighty task to perform. Many of you will fall by the way—which, I must say, is not pleasant to think of; but others will have a good time, and will live and sing Hail Hibernia!" General Reeman sends us, as references, the names of a number of eminent politicians; but we do not care to consult them as to his character, capacity, or fitness for the position he seeks. We turn him and the whole subject over to the attention of the Fenian Congress, and subsequently of the Irish constabulary.

Snake Charming.

A MEXICAN ARAB TRIES TO TAME A BATTLE-SNAKE, IS BITTEN AND DIES IN THREE AGONY.

At the White Sulphur Springs, Virginia, great excitement was created by the appearance of a snake charmer, with a rattlesnake in his hand. He walked deliberately into the parlor one day after dinner, flourished the reptile around, and finally placed him on the ground, to the great annoyance of many people who left the room. The fangs of the snake had been extracted, but that made the sight of him none the less shocking to many. There is no beauty in a rattlesnake either of form or color. His flat copper shaped head is positively repulsive, and countrymen, no matter how much they may fancy them as pets, should not be allowed to shock the sensibilities of more nervous natures.

While this man was there a circus company arrived, to the members of which he exhibited the snake. To one of them, whose business it was to exhibit the snake, he offered this one for three dollars. But the man, who was said to be an Arab, and whose style of dress, dark complexion and little figure gave some reason for the belief, refused the offer, and considering himself versed in the ways of the world, determined to tame one for himself. So he purchased one from a boy and commenced to experiment upon it. For a while he got on very well; but the vicious reptile was deaf to the voice of the charmer, charm he never so wisely, and when the man least expected it, and while he had the snake in his hands, looking steadily at it, it darted out its fangs, struck him twice on the right hand, once on the left, and once on his lower lip.

The man immediately called for whiskey, and drank nearly a quart. But in a few hours the limbs began to swell in a frightful manner, and the pain to become agonizing. A doctor was sent for, but before he came the man called eagerly for a snake. As it was brought to him, he seized upon it with mortal avidity, caught it by the back of the neck with his teeth, shook it as a dog would shake a rat, then bit off its head, spit it on the floor, and ate and swallowed some four inches of the snake's body. Whether his idea was to cure his malady, whether he was carrying out the superstitions of his race—whether he was simply delicious, or whether his own nature had become so thoroughly impregnated with snake nature that he was merely satisfying snake vengeance, it is impossible now to say. "He certainly hung himself on the ground as soon as he had ceased devouring the snake flesh, and writhed and wriggled along the floor unaided by arms or legs, after the manner of a crawling reptile."

The poor fellow could never tell his experience. He was drenched with whiskey, but too late—he died in 24 hours. During his last hours he called wildly on any number of Spanish words, and it was evident that, though Arab by profession, the poor fellow was a Mexican by birth.

Facts About Crime.

Some facts about crime in England, and Wales have just been published in the Blue Book of judicial statistics for 1866. Compared with the previous year, the serious offences show a decrease, while, probably on account of more frequent application of summary jurisdiction, the minor offences disposed of by magistrates show an increase. We learn that we have 23,728 policemen, who cost us £1,827,105; being 478 constables and 278,647 more than the year before. The criminal classes "at large" are set down at 113,566, but of these 33,101 are of the tramp and vagrant fraternity. Those not at large are 16,708 in local prisons, 7,018 in convict establishments, and 8,933 in reformatories. In England and Wales there are 30,249 houses of bad character. During the year there were 50,549 indictable offences, in respect of which 37,190 persons were apprehended and committed. The murders numbered 131, being four less than the total of 1865. The attempts to murder were 45, and there were cases of manslaughter, 8 of attempts to procure miscarriage, 211 of concealment of birth, 155 of unnatural offences, 337 of rape, 323 of assaults with intent, &c., 272 of assaults and bodily harm, 207 of common assault, and 164 of assaults on "peace officers." There were 481,770 persons prosecuted during summarily, and of these more than one-fourth were discharged.

BELLEVEILLE, SATURDAY, SEPT. 7.

CONNECTION.—The election for the County of Prince Edward will be held on Thursday and Friday next, the 12th and 13th inst., instead of on Wednesday and Thursday as announced in yesterday's Intelligencer.

A GOOD TINGE.—At a recent election meeting in Tyndinaga, a defeated candidate, (who is well known from the manner of his gesticulation as well as his blowing,) after taking various drinks of water, was interrupted by a wild son of Erin with the ejaculation: "Be jabbers, that's the first windmill I ever see drove by water!"

PANFUEL SUPPER.—A few of Mr. Frederick Bogart's friends invited him to spend a social hour with them at the Club House on Friday evening, on the occasion of his removal to Montreal. A very pleasant evening was spent, and if the speeches made upon the occasion and the uproarious manner in which they were received be any criterion, Fred Bogart must be a Prince of good fellows. We are sorry indeed to lose Mr. Bogart from among us. A good cricketer, a good musician, and a right good fellow, Montreal gets at our expense. Good luck attend him.

Mr. Wallbridge among Conservatives. denies that he ever represented himself as a Reformer, and among Reformers repudiates the name of a Conservative. How are we to know which side he belongs to when the one side of his tongue contradicts the other at this rate. The man who blew both hot and cold with the same breath was put out in the cold, and so should Mr. Wallbridge be by both parties until he shall teach his tongue to talk straight.

Election Intelligence.

NORTH HUDON.—Second day.—Commons: Whitehead 940; Sloan 662; Holmes 1325. Assembly: Gibson 1907; Hays 2032. Whitehead's majority 615. Hays' majority 65.

MONTREAL WEST.—Close of election.—McGee 2748; Devlin 2486.—majority for McGee 262. Another dispatch says that the majority for McGee was 277. After the result was announced, a mob of about 200 of the Devlin party assembled opposite the Mechanics' Hall and tore down the statement of the poll. A riot then commenced, a shower of stones was sent at the hall, and the lower windows were broken. A free fight then commenced in the streets; several parties were badly beaten, and shots were fired to keep the assailants out of the hall. One man was shot in the arm and another in the head. In the evening the windows of Mr. McCready's house were broken.

ADRIENVILLE.—Mr. Abbott is elected by a majority of 99.

GLAUCIARY.—Second day.—Mr. Craig's majority over Mr. McNabb is 281.

SOUTH NORFOLK.—Mr. Walker's majority over Mr. Lawson, for the Commons, was 20; and Mr. McCull's over Mr. Chrysler, for the Assembly, 5.

A WELCOME TO THE CANDIDATES.

A large and respectable meeting of the electors and inhabitants generally of the town, was held in Nelson's Hall last evening, to greet the successful candidates for the East Riding. C. I. Starling, Esq., was called to the chair, and T. Wills, Esq., appointed as secretary. The Hon. Robt. Reed first addressed the audience, and in short but appropriate terms, thanked the electors for the honor they had done him in extending to him a renewal of their confidence, and the public for the encouragement they had given him throughout, and hoped that the North Riding would follow the example set by the other divisions of the County.

Mr. Corby followed, and in his usual effective style, congratulated the audience, and through them the public at large, upon the triumph of the principles he came forward to support. He had steadily advocated these principles for upwards of thirty years of public life, and felt proud to think that that course had won for him the approval of his fellow subjects, as evinced by the additional mark of confidence they had that day bestowed upon him, in addition to the Municipal honors they had favored him with this year. All that he could say was that he would endeavor so to conduct himself in his new capacity that when he should be called upon to give an account of his stewardship, he might be found not to have disgraced their good opinion. He heartily thanked them for their exertions in his behalf, and besought them to do what they could to aid the success of the Union cause in the North Riding, in the persons of Mr. Bowell and Mr. Boulter.

On Mr. Corby's conclusion there were loud calls for Mr. Graham, who ascended the platform, and gave one of his spirit-stirring speeches, proclaiming the triumph of sound principles, and bespeaking the sympathy of his hearers, and the assistance of all who had it in their power to aid the cause of those who were about to fight the good fight in the North Riding. "Let every man," said he, "who has a vote in any of the northern townships, go to his polling place and register his vote for Mr. Bowell and Mr. Boulter; and such of you as have no vote, if you have a team, give the use of it to the Union Committees to convey their voters to the polls, that no divided victory won." Mr. Graham sat down amid loud applause.

Mr. R. D. O'Brien then took his stand, and amid shouts of applause gave the audience "a few croaks from the old croak." The electors of the East Riding, he said, had done well, they had put down faction and refused dictation, and returned the right men to do justice to all classes of Her Majesty's subjects.

Mr. Geo. Neilson was next called for, and commenced his speech by proclaiming three cheers for the Union, which was enthusiastically responded to. Mr. Neilson then congratulated the people of Hastings, and of Canada generally, upon the complete success of the Union Candidates, which he ascribed to the unbiased exercise of common sense on the part of the electors. He besought his brother electors to leave no stone unturned in any way to aid the return of Messrs. Bowell and Boulter in the North Riding.

Mr. N. McArthur, in obedience to the call of the audience, next addressed the meeting, and shortly expressed his satisfaction at the noble way in which the electors have exercised their franchise, and returned so great a majority of good and true men, like his friends Messrs. Read and Corby, who he was sure would do duty like honest men, as we all know them to be.

Mr. A. R. Dougall was next summoned to the front, but was anticipated by Mr. C. P. Lyman, of Tyndinaga, who elicited great amusement by the persistent manner in which he disclaimed coming there in the character of Demosthenes or Cicero, and consigned his heroes to "the land of buckwheat pancakes."

Mr. A. R. Dougall wound up the proceedings in an eloquent speech, in which he caustically dissected the doings of some of the opposition candidates, shewing up the reckless manner in which they said one thing at one place, and another thing in another place, supporting the lumbering interests at Mill Point and Shannonville, and promising to take away their privileges in the back country. He congratulated the electors on the victories won, and exhorted them to go in and finish by returning Bowell and Boulter for the North Riding by sweeping majorities.

The Chairman then proposed three cheers for the Union candidates and three cheers for the Queen, and the several parties went to their homes, highly gratified with the evening's proceedings.

Editorial Summary.

—Western New York complains of a drought. No rain has fallen for a month.

—The harvest in England this year is declared to be almost an average one.

—More favorable accounts are received from Orissa in India, the scene of a great famine.

—Eighteen new bridges have been built across the Seine during the reign of Napoleon III., at a cost of about five million dollars.

—Wool has now reached the lowest price, on the gold basis, that has ever been reached in the United States.

—Two Rhode Island editors are having a controversy as to the number and intensity of the smelts of their respective localities.

—The schoolmaster is going abroad in France. Thirty-five hundred French pedagogues are to visit the exhibition during the fall vacation.

—The Boston Transcript tells as a fact story of a maid servant who cut off a large part of the mane of her master's valuable horse to make her a chignon.

—Cholera has been successfully treated in Mississippi, if we may believe a correspondent of the Cincinnati Commercial, by injecting sulphuric acid into the veins.

—Orders have been sent to District Attorney Dorsheimer at Buffalo for the release of the arms belonging to the Fenians which were seized in June, 1866.

—A Kansas farmer has raised this year on one hundred and ten acres of land 6,400 bushels of corn, 600 of wheat and 3,500 of potatoes, all of the value of $5,345.

—Another great fortune has been found, according to the western papers, to belong to heirs in this country. It is said to belong to the descendants of Lady Mary Towney Lawrence.

—An ingenious Frenchman has invented a curiously shaped hearse, which contains not only room for the coffin, but seats for the priest and the mourners, constituting a whole procession with only two horses.

—It is said that a company of Germans is organizing in San Francisco to induce emigration from the old world to Sitka; they intend to establish agencies for that purpose in the large German cities.

—All the New York papers are congratulating the people on the fact that the unfinished tenement house on 26th street has fallen. It appears that the builder forgot all about the foundations.

—The lake serpent, or whale, has been seen again by two young ladies, who were very much frightened thereby. The creature was, when seen, around on a bar, and as much terrified apparently by his adventure as the ladies.

—The emigration to Minnesota this year has been immense. It is estimated that 10,000 persons have settled in the St. Paul valley alone. The average number from 2nd to 2nd of August was 700 daily.

—Havesting operations have fairly commenced. Weather warm. A tremendous thunder storm had passed over the southern part of England. Many buildings in London were struck, and much damage done.

—The Rev. Dr. Macaulay, rector of Dunblane, Canada West, and the honor on Friday, the 16th inst., of an interview with the Duke of Buckingham and Chandos, Her Majesty's Secretary of State for the Colonies, at the Colonial Office, Downing street.

—The old palace of Kensington is to be rebuilt on a scale of magnificence never yet seen in or out of England. It is to be devoted principally to the entertainment of State guests, the want of such a palace having been felt during the recent visit of the Sultan of Turkey to England.

—The cotton crop of last year amounted to 4,676,000 bales; the estimated yield this year is 3,500,000 bales. The wheat crop last year was 173,101,924 bushels; this year it is estimated there will be 272,500,000 bushels. Of course, authorities differ about the value of this year's crop.

—It is consoling, in these days of cholera and yellow fever, to learn that not human beings alone are taken off in large numbers by epidemic. There is a malarial prevailing among the fishes in Lake Constance which destroys them, in large numbers, so that the banks are covered with their dead.

—The Reform League had resolved on celebrating the passage of the Reform Bill by a banquet or festival. Letters from Mr. Bright and Mr. John Stuart Mill had been published, in which those gentlemen recommend the League next to turn their attention to the demand for the Ballot.

—In no way is the literature of a people or permanently preserved than by tombstone inscriptions. Here is one which betokens a high order of talent in the poetical line:

"O Lord, how sudden was my death, Unlooked for! I was by my
So reader, take heed, for why—
The same may happen to thee."

—Gen. Sheridan telegraphs to the headquarters of the army that the year's lower counties have been taken off in large numbers by epidemic. Gen. Sheridan reports that there is not a army surgeon in or around Galveston fit for duty, and that the regular medical practitioners of that city have more than they can attend to.

—The New York State Constitutional Convention met on Tuesday morning, when memorials were presented to propose amendments to the constitution in relation to the liquor laws, and to the Board of Regents of the University.

—Dr. Stark, in his last reports for the Scottish Registry Office, asserts that the ratio of deaths among unmarried men between the ages of twenty-five and thirty is double that of married men, and that nearly the same disproportion is maintained between the ages of thirty and thirty-five. He adds that, in general, husbands may count on twenty years of life more than beachelors.

—A gentleman who has just returned from a tour through the County of Peel informs us that the farmers, began to sow fall wheat last Friday, and that the crop of spring wheat proved deficient, owing to the dry weather which prevailed nearly all summer. The root crop was affected by the same cause, and will yield a comparatively small return. Fall wheat, on the other hand, gave very large returns, and is the best crop harvested for several years.

An over-seer, named Bradley, on a plantation near Marion, Ark., recently attempted to cause a negro, but being opposed by a party of them, fired into the crowd, killing a woman. He then fled, and had the negroes arrested. In the court room one of the negroes called him a liar several times, when he struck him, and was beset by a small mob of blacks. Bradley again had resort to his pistol, and killed two of them, whereupon he fled, and has not been heard of since.

—The Vermont commissioner to the Paris Exhibition, who has kindly been investigating the matter, reports that he has satisfied there is not the least chance for any member of the Wilson family in this country to get a dollar or an acre from the property of the Robert Wilson, Earl of Warwick, whose descendants they assume to be. Nor does he think the Jennings or the Browns likely to prove a whit more lucky than the Wilsons. Indeed, he gives it as his belief that "every one who has paid a dollar for 'scrip,' or for the investigation of those 'claims,' had better charge it to 'profit and loss' and make no more investments in these worthless schemes."

National Credit.

The New York World says, "the daily quotations of United States and British bonds show the respective values of their credit in the markets of the world, and just as the barometer notes the changes of the weather, so does the Stock Exchange show the fluctuation of public opinion."

Bearing in mind that the rate of interest is the price paid for loans, the certificates for which are government bonds, it will be well to notice the latest cable quotations, and we there find British consols quoted at 94½, and the United States five per cent. at 74½; the former paying five per cent. on each £100, sold at £100, and the latter six per cent. on each £100, sold for £100. The investor of £100 in British consols receives yearly interest of 5 per cent. of 2 27 per cent. to 100 of the former. That is, the credit of the British Government is more than two and one-half times as great as the credit of the United States.

Telegraphic News.

BY ATLANTIC CABLE.

LONDON, Sept. 6.—Recent despatches received from Alexandria were so discrepant as to discredit the reports of the release of the English captives in Abyssinia. In the meantime, preparations for an expedition to Abyssinia are progressing.

PARIS, Sept. 6.—M. Moniteur, the Minister of Foreign Affairs, has issued a circular in regard to the Conference recently held at Salzburg. He states that the meeting of the sovereigns was merely one of condolence over the fate of the Archduke Maximilian. To be sure, there was a general interchange of views on the situation of European politics, but no alliance or combination was planned by the Emperors, as has been stated.

PARIS, Sept. 6, evening.—It is stated that M. Drouin d'Yth will soon re-enter the French Cabinet. It is thought he will take M. Moniteur's place in the Foreign Office.

CARLSRUHE, Sept. 6.—The Grand Duke Frederick William made a speech at the opening of the Baden Diet in this city yesterday. He took strong grounds in favor of the union of Baden with the States of North Germany.

MADRID, Sept. 6.—Strict orders have been issued to the proper authorities at all the ports in Spain, requiring vessels hailing from the United States to be subjected to a rigid quarantine.

BERLIN, Sept. 7, eve.—A note has been issued from the Prussian Foreign Office, acknowledging as highly satisfactory the recent note of the French Minister to the Prussian Government.

LONDON, September 7, noon.—Consols 94½; Bonds at 73½; Erie 45½; C.T. 75.

LIVERPOOL, Sept. 7, noon.—Cotton dull. LONDON, September 7, 2 P.M.—Closing prices Consols 94½; American securities dull, with exceptional bonds, which are firmer at 73½; Erie 45½; C.T. 75.

LIVERPOOL, September 7, 2 P.M.—Cotton easier, but rather more doing; prices unchanged. Breadstuffs firmer. Sugar firm. Spirits Petroleum 10d; refined 15d.

American Despatches.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Sept. 5.—The Fenian Congress is proceeding quietly with its business. The attendance to-day was largely increased by the further arrival of delegates, and the Congress now numbers about 350 delegates. The attention of the Congress was chiefly devoted to-day to hearing the reading of President Roberts' address, the discussion of its recommendations, and the appointment of Committees in connection with the suggestions it contains.

The address is of considerable length, and is calm and patriotic in sentiment, and found an enthusiastic reception and unanimous endorsement. It reviews in detail the past history of the Brotherhood, sharply denouncing those whose knavery and incapacity betrayed the cause, and rendered powerless every effort. The present is regarded as a day of encouragement, and the future bright with hope. Never before was the Brotherhood so thoroughly organized, more unanimous, or more earnest. The address is purposely silent as to any details of what is intended for the future, but appeals strongly to the Brotherhood to continue unflinchingly the work of preserving their organization, and indicates that the work in view is not remote. The Congress will probably not conclude its labors before Friday.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 6.—Democrats have carried the State Legislature and the municipal tickets in San Francisco by overwhelming majorities. The entire Union State ticket is defeated, and it is doubtful if one Union member of Congress is elected.

NEW YORK, Sept. 6.—The Herald of Cleveland special says that the Fenian Congress was called to order this morning. A committee was appointed to draft appropriate resolutions on the death of Thomas Francis Meagher. Various resolutions affecting the welfare of the Fenian Brotherhood were received and referred to appropriate committees, among them was one expressing the feelings of the Congress in regard to the incarceration of American citizens in English dungeons. A letter was read from the Acting Attorney General of the United States to the effect that the Fenian arms in the hands of the Government had been ordered to be restored to the organization.

The Herald's City of Mexico letter, dated July 29th, says:—Juarez has completed the formation of his new cabinet. The whole country has been laid off into military districts, to which Regules, Diaz, Escobedo, Coronado and Alvarez have been assigned to command. On the 15th of July the President was accorded an informal reception, which was rather an indifferent affair, the people being conspicuously wanting in the usual Mexican enthusiasm. Diaz had almost a rupture with Juarez on the subject of the expected execution of fourteen more prisoners of war, and it was through his efforts that they were respited.

The Times special says that the result of the California election has produced much good feeling with the President and his immediate friends. Mr. Johnson looks upon it purely as an endorsement of his position, and as marking the obituary of the radical ticket. The effect will be to cause him to persevere in his present course.

The Tribune's special says that the forthcoming report of Secretary McCulloch will show that over one hundred and twenty millions of dollars in the usual Mexican enthusiasm. A committee was appointed to draft appropriate resolutions on the death of Thomas Francis Meagher. Various resolutions affecting the welfare of the Fenian Brotherhood were received and referred to appropriate committees, among them was one expressing the feelings of the Congress in regard to the incarceration of American citizens in English dungeons. A letter was read from the Acting Attorney General of the United States to the effect that the Fenian arms in the hands of the Government had been ordered to be restored to the organization.

FAIRBANKS, Sept. 7.—A fire broke out last night in Jackson & Wilson's coal oil refinery, and extended to the American Co's refinery. Loss, $20,000.

If you have Chills, use Davis' Pain Killer, it will cure them. See Advt.

The Queen's Visit to the Scotch Borders.

Her Majesty has recently paid a visit to the Scotch Borders on her way to her Highland residence at Balmoral. On the 20th ult., the little town of Kelso, which is certainly one of the prettiest in Scotland, was the scene of unprecedented excitement, in anticipation of the Queen's first visit to that part of her dominions. It has often been regretted that Lord as Her Majesty has shown herself to be of Scotland, the land of Scott, the scenes which are rendered interesting and historic as having been the home of the "Warrior of the North," (as Sir Walter has sometimes been called) had never been visited by her. The correspondent of the London Times writing from Kelso, speaking of the Borderland, says: "The hill country of the Border, often called by the way of distinction, the Southern Highlands, is not less attractive in its character than even the scenes which reign beyond the passes of the Grampians, while it is infinitely richer in historical remains, and in tradition, poetry and romance. Nor, perhaps, has the Queen anywhere a more loyal population than on the Scottish side of the Border, where the most fervid points of Lowland Scottish character are perhaps most strongly developed. In the Border district the past meets the present in a more distinct manner than perhaps anywhere else. The Abbots and Monasteries are in ruins, which gives them an air of even higher antiquity than they possess; and the Peel Towers and Fortresses are even more crumbling and dilapidated; but at every point we come across the remains of the older life, when war, not industry, was the occupation of stalwart men, and the Church, and not the arm of civil law, was the defence of the weak and peaceable. In Kelso we are in the very midst of a relic of antiquity. As we approach it there is to be seen dimly on the left the gray ruins of Roxburgh Castle, situated on the March mound, and almost surrounded by a copse of firs. In this castle we have nearly the whole history of the contest between the Anglo-Normans and the Scots, and with it are connected the oldest traditions of the district. Entering the town, we encounter on the right the venerable abbey, a monument of kindly piety, founded by that "saint lair for the croon" King David I., the founder likewise of Melrose, Jedburgh, and other border fane. A relic of the older religion, and associated with traditions and observances now no longer regarded, it is still the pride of the Eastern Border, and in particular of the Eastern community to which its stately walls seem to offer benediction and protection. The thriving folks of Kelso, brought face to face with the superstitious relic, find a point of contact with forms of faith and life which they profoundly reverence, though they have ceased to follow them. In this point of natural attraction there are, in this vicinity, pictures of hill and flood almost unequalled in beauty. The junction of the Tweed and Teviot, just above Kelso-bridge, is one of the finest "meetings of the waters" which the scenery of these islands affords. Floors Castle, the seat of the Duke of Roxburgh, and the boom of the bagpipes at the moment the seat of Royalty, occupies one of the finest positions which any mansion in the kingdom, ducal, or baronial, possesses. The view from the windows of the south front is truly magnificent. Immediately before the spectator the river is seen winding past and broadening with its confluence with the Teviot; the ruins of Roxburgh Castle are just opposite, and to the left the eye catches the solemn abbey and the town of Kelso, while the distant Cheviots with their rugged outline complete the picture.

It is hardly necessary to say that Her Majesty received a hearty welcome in Kelso. Triumphant arches, richly decorated, were erected at several points in the line of route, and every house in the good old borough, and every rustic cottage on the side of the road had some sort of doral decoration indicative of the hearty feeling of loyalty and affection for the Sovereign which animated the minds of the inmates. Never in the history of the town had such efforts been made on any occasion to testify the public joy, and to crown all, the weather, contrary to custom in England of late on occasions of public or State rejoicings, was everything that could be desired.

The Queen reached the Station at 11.20 p.m., and was conducted to Floors Castle, escorted by a squadron of the 14th Hussars, the volunteers of Kelso, Hawick, Jedburgh, Melrose, Selkirk and Galashiels, (emphatically the "Queen's Own Borderers") lined the road on each side. About fifty young ladies and girls preceded the royal carriage, scattering flowers on all sides. The same scene occurred in the public square, where after the presentation of an address by the Mayor, a beautiful little child was lifted up to present a bouquet to the Queen, who graciously received it and kissed the donor among enthusiastic cheers.

In the evening there was a general illumination of the town, and a grand lighting of beacons from every fell and mountain top in the neighborhood.

PEAT ON LOCOMOTIVES.—An interesting trial of the adaptability of peat to serve as fuel for locomotives has just been concluded on the Hamilton and Toronto branch of the Great Western Railway. The relative qualities of wood and coal were tested sometime since on the road, and the engine Pancoast was afterwards altered and supplied with a patent grate to consume peat. On Saturday, that engine ran four trips between Hamilton and Toronto—two each way—with a supply of 6,500 pounds of peat fuel, and performed the journey with 500 pounds of peat left. The distance is 49½ miles, and the result has proved highly satisfactory to the adaptability of peat as fuel. There are extensive peat bogs in the Welland, adjacent to the Great Western, which offer ample room for development.

A Balloon at Sea.

A novel kind of stepladder took place on Friday, August 21st, at Marseilles. Madame Patern's balloon was advertised to ascend from the racetrack. These ascents are attended with only the ordinary risks which happen to be a lee shore; but on this occasion, when a stiff breeze was blowing towards the beach, the case of the blue Adriatic did not offer safe anchorage for the balloon's grappling irons. However, the people who were raised by Roger de L'Isle are not the sort of folks who could safely be trifled with; they had proved how scant was their store of patience the other day when Theresa, the Diva of the beer shops, set up her bills in Marseilles, inviting the people to pay 20 francs to hear her screech her horse noise. They then tore up the benches of the concert room, and would have shown little respect for Theresa could they have caught her. Madame Patern foresaw that her balloon would be torn into shreds and converted into silk kerchiefs for the Marseillais, so the gas was let into the balloon, the cords were let go, and "up goes the donkey" of the other day, bound for Africa. But the proprietor of the grounds saw the danger, and sent a swift steamer in pursuit of the intrepid aeronaut. She succeeded in getting under the balloon, whence the grapnels were let down upon the deck, made fast to the captain's valves were opened, and by dint of good pilotage and better luck, the car gently descended to what the French papers call the "terra firma" of the steamer's deck. The balloon collapsed, was folded up, and brought back, with its suspended animation, to Marseilles.

Innocent Amusement in Texas.

The scene is a town of interior Texas. The actors are two planters of the old regime. They sit under a verandah smoking and spitting. Jones—"Come, Smith, let us ride home." Smith—"I'm not ready yet. I haven't shot a nigger to-day. I won't go home without shooting a nigger." Jones—"Well, it's late now, too late to shoot niggers to-day." Smith—"No it's not, I'm not going home without shooting a nigger." Jones—"Shoot that boy walking over there!" Smith—"Looking at him critically. 'No, I won't shoot him; he's rather a good fellow; I'll shoot another.'" Jones—"Well come home, we'll see one on the road." They mount and ride away. Presently they ride by a hut, in the doorway of which sits a negro man. Smith reins up. "There, I guess I'll shoot him; he is a good mark there." Pulls out his pistol, fires, and kills the negro. Smith—"Now we'll go home; I made up my mind to shoot a nigger before I went home this night." Jones and Smith were arrested; being "gentlemen" they were to be handed over to the civil authorities. They were at once let out on easy bail. There upon the military authorities rearrested them; and we hear they are to be tried by military authority, and will probably be hanged—unhappily!—for the same offence. This is an actual and recent occurrence, related to us by a Texan.—N. Y. Evening Post.

An American Testimony to England.

"Which is the strongest throne on the globe to-day?" inquired the Rev. Henry Ward Beecher lately in New York. "Why," the English, unquestionably; partly because a noble, virtuous and illustrious woman sits on it. She dignifies womanhood and motherhood, and she fits to sit in empire. That is one reason why the English throne is the strongest. But that is not the only reason. It is the strongest, also, because it is so many legged. It stands on 30,000,000 of people. It represents the interests of the masses of subjects. Another reason why England is the strongest nation is because it is the most Christian nation; because it has the most moral power. It has more than we have. We like to talk about ourselves on the 4th of July: we love to fan ourselves with eulogies; but we are not to be compared to-day with Old England."

WAGES IN ENGLAND AND AMERICA.—It has been generally supposed that wages of labor were lower and the cost of living higher in England than in this country. But it would appear from comparative statements recently made that the supposition is incorrect, at least for the present day. Men engaged in the collieries, and in the iron, cotton and woolen manufactures receive higher wages, in proportion to the cost of living, than in this country. At the same time they work, on an average, but five days in the week, instead of six. In the iron trade, wages range from 75 cents to $4.50 per day, and in the wool trades from $3.40 to $12.14 in coin. But the cost of living in England is much less than the working man than here. A very small amount of bread costs ten cents here, while the four pound loaf full weight is sold in England at twelve to fourteen cents. Potatoes in England are sold at half a bushel, and here for more than twice that sum. All other provisions and groceries are cheaper there than here.

A bellmaker, endeavoring to sell a large going to a Quaker gentleman, remarked that it would be very useful in the country, for it would not only serve as a dinner bell, but would also, in case of an attempt to break into the house, make the inmate to give an alarm to the surrounding neighborhood. "Friend," replied the Quaker gentleman, after listening attentively to these recommendations, "I will not purchase this going; for if you put it to both these uses, how should my friends distinguish between a late dinner and an early burglary?"

DR. BEARD, one of the captives in Abyssinia, writing from Magdala on the 30th of April, tells a story of a little excitement which had enlivened the monotony of life in captivity. On the 6th, two prisoners in that place, Abyssinians, one who had killed his mother by accident and had not been punished by his king, the son of a great Shum of Tigra, managed to open their chains, dressed themselves in women's clothing, and took advantage of a market-day, when all the servants of the market-day, the young hunter having contrived to get out of both jails walked faster than his companion, and passed the gates without suspicion. Laj Bara was less fortunate. He could only open one ring, and was therefore obliged to fix the chain on the outer leg by means of a piece of cloth. A young warrior seeing what appeared to be a good looking young girl approached to look on his powers of fascination. While looking to see if she looked corresponded in elegance to the brightness of the eyes, he was somewhat surprised at seeing a leg completely bandaged. A few yards further off wind throwing up the skirt exposed of his horror-struck gaze the unmistakable legs peeping here and there through the folds of the bandage, and there called some soldiers at a distance, and with their help captured the prisoner. It is needless to say how brutally he was treated, kicked and beaten until his life was almost to be despaired of. The woman who gave him her shirt was literally cut to pieces, having received more than 200 lashes on her bare back.

An interesting challenge on the merits of English and American safes has just been decided at Paris. The question involved was whether the safe of Mr. Silas Herring or that of Mr. Chatwood offered the greatest resistance to burglars. Each party staked $500 on the result. The burglars were represented by three skilled workmen on each side. The jury have not pronounced their verdict, but practically it was shown that both safes were burglar-proof, since it took clever workmen three hours and fifty-five minutes, with the best appliances to open the Chatwood, which was the first penetrated, and twenty minutes longer to open the American, and no burglars could by any chance have the same advantages as were enjoyed by the workmen. By means of confidence Mr. Chatwood placed the object to be effected on an exposed shelf; had placed it in a drawer, as he was entitled to do, he thinks it would have made his defeat less decided.

FIRE IN BELLEVEILLE.—About 1½ o'clock a.m. on Sunday, flames were discovered breaking out from the rear part of a frame house situated on the north-east corner of Hotel and George streets, owned by Mr. L. Cronk, and occupied by a family named Bouslog. Owing to the combustible nature of the premises, and the headway the fire had attained before it was discovered, no exertions could avail to save the building. The occupants were sorry to say, lost all their furniture, &c., barely escaping with their lives. No engines were sent to the ground. The fire being calm the fire was confined to the building where it originated.

15TH BATTALION.—We are requested to give notice that a meeting of the officers of this Battalion will be held on Wednesday next, at the office of Lieut. Col. Campbell, at 6 o'clock p.m.

REMOVED RETIREMENT OF THE HON. GEO. BROWN.—It is currently reported in Toronto, that the Hon. George Brown intends to retire from public life and from Canada, and go home to Scotland to spend the remainder of his days. We wish Scotland joy of him, though he will have no such power for mischief there as here.

ACCIDENT AT THE G. T. R. DEPOT.—John McNeil, night switchman at the Station, met with an accident at four o'clock this morning, by which his foot was severely hurt. He had his foot jammed in between a guard rail at a switch and the main line. Fortunately he had presence of mind enough, finding his foot fast, to throw his body between the rails, thus saving the wheels of the train he was engaged on from passing over him. Dr. Berdett was sent for and was promptly in attendance. The joint at the ankle is severely sprained, and one small bone broken. McNeil is doing well.

Not the least beneficial effect which the result of the elections in the Province of Ontario and Quebec will have, will be the effect which the all but unanimous approval of the principle of Union, which has been proclaimed from Samia to Gaspe, will have upon the parties in the lower Provinces, damping the hopes of the disunionist and un-unionist party, and inspiring confidence into the friends of Union and British Connection. Messrs. Howe and Amand, and their deluded followers and friends will grin with rage and vexation to learn the complete and crushing discomfiture which George Brown, and the party from whom they expected to receive such efficient aid in the accomplishment of their disloyal schemes, have received from the loyal and sensible electors of the upper Provinces. And those sterling and true men, on whom rests the honor of framing, and the responsibility of carrying out the great scheme of political regeneration, which comprehends in one grand whole the hitherto scattered and disjointed colonies of the British Empire upon this continent, will rouse themselves to the combat with redoubled energy when they see the outstretched hands of the millions of Canada eagerly extended to give them the fraternal grasp of governmental, social and commercial unity. Of the complete triumph of British sense, British loyalty and British policy in the lower Provinces, we entertain no more doubt than we do of the success of the same attributes in the upper ones; and as the latter are now declaring their adherence to those great principles in tones of thunder; so we expect to hear the Maritime Colonies speak out in equally unmistakable language, when the proper time shall arrive for them to do so.

The Elections.

The Leader says that out of fifty-seven elections from the Province of Ontario for the House of Commons, which had taken place up to Saturday night, fifty had resulted in favor of the Government, two are independent members, who will not give the Ministry any factions opposition, and only five are out and out Brownites.

For the Ontario Legislature, forty-two supporters of the government have been elected out of a total of forty-four, and Mr. Brown thus stands with a glorious minority of two.

New Brunswick Elections.

Five elections have come off in New Brunswick, and five Union candidates have been returned. The whole number of members from New Brunswick is fifteen, and it is certain that the Opposition cannot return more than four—probably three will be their whole amount—leaving four to one against them.

The most noble George Percy, fifth Duke of Northumberland, died at the ancient baronial seat of his family, Alnwick Castle, on the 21st of August last. The deceased nobleman was the head of the junior branch of the Percy family, and was born on the 22nd June, 1778, and was consequently in the 92nd year of his age. He was the son of Lord Algernon Percy, second son of Hugh, Earl Percy, who was raised to the Dukedom in 1766. His father succeeded to the title of Lord Lovaine, and was afterwards created Earl of Beverley. He died in 1830, and was succeeded in the title by his eldest son, the subject of this notice. By the successive deaths of his sons, Hugh, the third Duke, in 1847, and Algernon, the fourth possessor of the title, in 1860, both of whom died childless, he succeeded to the honors of the elder branch of the family, and the princely estates appended thereto, though not till he had attained the great age of 87 years. He is succeeded by his eldest son, Earl Percy, who, as Lord Lovaine, represented the northern division of the County of Northumberland in the British Parliament from 1852 to 1865, when he retired from public life to aid his aged father in the management of his estates. The present Duke was born in 1810, and is consequently now 67 years of age.

Election Intelligence.

SOUTH HURON.—Close of 2nd day's poll.—Cameron above Ritchie 170; and for the Assembly Mr. Gibbons beat Carling by 21. SOUTH WELLINGTON.—Second day.—Commons.—Stirling 651; Stone 659—majority for Stirling 311. Assembly: (Gov 593; Leslie 699—majority for Leslie 270.

EAST PATERBOROUGH.—Second day.—Commons: Grover, 829; Anderson, 595.—Majority for Grover, 234. Assembly: Read, 557; Ingram, 519. Majority for Read, 338. The back townships were not heard from, but their vote is so small that it could make no material difference in the returns.

NORTH BRUCE.—Second day.—Douglas, 852; Sproat, 882. Sproat elected by a majority of 10.

SOUTH NORFOLK.—Mr. Walker's majority over Mr. Lawson, for the Commons, was 80; and Mr. McCall's over Mr. Chrysler, for the Assembly, 18.

SOUTH SIMCOE.—Mr. Little is elected by a majority of 256 over Mr. Saunders for the Commons.

NORTH NORFOLK.—Correct returns give: Dancombe 855; Walsh 889—Walsh's majority for the Commons 26. For the Assembly: Foley 840; Wilson 843—majority for Wilson 3.

SOUTH VICTORIA.—The corrected returns give Mr. Kompt a majority of 200 over Mr. Hector Cameron, instead of 100, as stated on Saturday.

RUSSELL.—The total vote in this County was: Bell 279; Grant 998—majority for Grant 319 for the House of Commons.

CARLETON.—The final returns give: Bletcher 1006; Holmes 1087—majority for Holmes for the Commons 81.

Editorial Summary.

—If you have Chills, use David's Pain Killer, it will cure them. See Advt.

—The London Standard (Conservative) has now the largest circulation of any English newspaper except the Telegraph.

—The British national debt has been reduced nearly $4,000,000 during the past year, and is now about $700,000,000.

—Some English capitalists are erecting iron-works in Germany to save themselves from the ruinous competition of her cheap labor.

—President Juarez is taking steps to lessen the power of the church in Mexico. He has countenanced the convent system and favored the introduction of public schools.

—The labors of the Ritual Commission will be suspended during the vacation. The exceptional legislation in regard to vestments, recommended for parochial churches, has been disallowed, and the attempt to extend, parochial and proprietary chapels from the obligation of conformity has been also defeated, although by a smaller majority.

—The French and English representatives at Athens—according to an influential Austrian paper—have been instructed to warn the Greek Government against any steps calculated to provoke a conflict with Turkey. They were also instructed to intimate that full guarantees had been furnished by the Porte for the fulfillment of the demands of the Christian population of Crete.

—A clergyman in Yonkers, New York, while praying for the President a few days since, prayed that Heaven would have mercy upon him, and cause him to repent, and then take him from earth at once, before he had the chance to backslide.

—A man is now lying in the St. Jean hospital, Turin, in a complete state of idiocy. He is quite insensible to trifles from feeding, and the soles of his feet are also without feeling. Some shocks of electricity have alone produced as effect upon him. He is twenty-four years of age, and for the last few weeks has lived on milk passed through his nose.

A certain lord mayor hearing of a gentleman who had had the small pox twice and died of it, asked if he had died the first time or the second. It was the same civic functionary who was in the habit of stopping all wearisome or disagreeable talkers with the exclamation, "Come, come, gentlemen, N. S. N. S." Being asked one day, what he meant by "N. S.," he replied, "Nought said, to be sure."

Arrivals from Europe.

NEW YORK, September 8.—The steamship City of Baltimore and Albatross, from Europe, have arrived.

The Danish Minister of War made a speech at a banquet given by the Danish Military Club, at which the King, the Crown Prince and the Carlsberg were present. In which he declared that all his efforts had been directed towards the formation of an organized, well equipped and enthusiastic army, to be in readiness when the moment should arrive for reconquering the territory which Denmark had lost. The king looked very serious on the delivery of this speech, and on during the evening he had half an hour's conversation with the Minister of War.

It is reported that a marriage has been arranged between the Crown Prince of Denmark and the Princess Royal of Sweden. Spanish official dispatches in Catalonia that one thousand insurgents of the recent amnesty have taken advantage of the recent amnesty and surrendered. The rest of Spain remains quiet.

The Greek loan has reached 10,000,000 drachmas. The greater portion has already been spent in the purchase of vessels and munitions. Three steamers had been bought in England and two other iron-clads ordered. The expedition to Abyssinia is to consist of two regiments of the line, eight regiments of native infantry, six regiments Indian cavalry and two battalions of Royal Artillery. The Viceroy of Egypt has been requested to furnish 1,000 camels for transportation purposes. Napoleon's speeches had a tranquillizing effect in London. In Paris, however, his assurances were not equally appreciated. The great iron works at Haguen, South Wales, had stopped, and 9,000 persons were thereby thrown out of employment.

SYNOPSIS

GOLD MINING ACT OF 1864.

27 and 28 Vic. Chap. 9. and the

Gold Mining Amendment Act 1865,

29 Vic. Chap. 9.

THE Gold Mining Act of 1864 provides that Governor in Council may erect Gold Mining Divisions.

Governor may appoint officers for Divisions.

Two Divisions erected in Lower Canada: "Chaudiere Gold Mining Division," Richard Pope, Esq., Gold Mining Inspector, St. Francis de la Bourne, and "St. Francis Gold Mining Division," J. K. Gilmour, Esq., Gold Mining Inspector, Montreal, 18th July, 1864, amended, 20th July, 1864 and 23rd Sept. 1865.

One Division erected in Upper Canada by Proclamation, 21st March, 1867, "Quinte Gold Mining Division," constituting the Townships of Barrie, Clarendon, Palmerton, Miller and North and South Canada, in the County of Frontenac, the Township in the County of Renfrew, situated north of the Townships of Miller and Canada, the Townships in the County of Addington, situated north of the Townships of Sheffield and Barrie, the Townships in the County of Hastings, situated north of the Township of Sidney, and the Township of Eversley, the Township of Belmont, and the Township in the County of Frontenac situated north of the Township of Belmont, Alfred Argyle Campbell, Esq., of Belleville Inspector.

No person to mine without a license.

Two kinds of licenses, one "Crown Lands Gold License," and the other "Private Lands Gold License," $1 per month, for private lands, the minor first obtaining consent of the proprietor.

Crown Lands Gold License may make out work claim on unoccupied Crown Lands as follows:

ALLUVIAL MINES.

On a river or large creek, 20 feet front by 60 from the water's edge. On small creeks, 40 by 60 from centre of stream. In gully, 60 feet along bank, and from hill to hill. On surface or hill side, 60 feet square. In case of hill top, officer may grant larger claim. In bed of river officer to determine size and position of claim.

QUARTZ MINES.

To each miner, 100 feet along lead by 100 on each side from the centre of the lead. For companies, 25 feet additional along lead for every additional miner, but not to exceed 500 feet altogether.

Claims to be classed by the officer, and to be laid out in quadrilateral and rectangular shapes, horizontal, and bounded under the surface by lines vertical to the horizon.

Crown Lands licensees to work continuously and renew license.

No person to occupy more than one claim on Crown Lands at one time.

Discoveries entitled to free license for one year in maneuver provided by Act.

Party waits to be left between claims on Crown Lands, party removing party wait to construct a new mode of access to water reserved opposite claim on Crown Lands.

Registration of claim on Crown Lands temporarily suspended, allowed for 31. Previous claim to be marked.

Penalty provided for removal of stakes on claims.

All licensees to make returns.

Quartz crushing machines to be licensed. Fee $5 per month. Books to be kept and returns furnished.

Act extends to parties mining near Gold Mining Divisions.

Sale of liquor prohibited except under license, monthly fee, $5.

Provisions made for appointment of constables and peace officers, and for preservation of peace.

Persons working under Gold Mining Patents to furnish returns and pay royalty, &c. (only one such patent allowed, viz. for the Seguin and Rapids-Victoria).
The Chaudiere—one of the Divisions erected, and royalty taxes committed to fees and the price of the Governor in Council may make regulations.

Officers may convict on view.

Ross vs. Fox.—A case heard at Cobourg.—
Mr. Strong, Q. C., and Mr. Fitzgerald for plaintiff, Mr. Blake, Q.C., and Mr Moss for defendant.

Judgment of V. C. SPRAGGE—The plaintiff's case is, that he is entitled to a one-third interest in a right to dig for and take away minerals on the west half of Lot 18, in the 5th Concession of the Township of Madoc. The plaintiff bases his claim upon a written instrument in which he claims to have entered into between George Fox, the owner of the land, who is made a defendant, and two other defendants, Snider and Ruper. This agreement has no date, but appears to have been entered into in the beginning of August 1864 and in the following terms:

"That the said George Fox of the first part doth give unto the aforesaid Snider and Report of the second part full power and privilege to dig up, tear up, or in any way to dig up and take away any mine mineral that the may find upon the West half of Lot No. 1 in the 5th Concession of the Township Madoc. And this agreement further show that the aforesaid parties of the second pa doth agree to give unto the said George F of the first the one-twentieth part of all the may find or take away from the aforesaid of land." In the attesting clause the instrument is expressed to be signed, sealed and delivered in presence of the subscribing witness O. B. Johnson, by was drawn. It was signed by the three parties, but no seals were affixed. Johnson said that he was instructed to seal the paper, and said that he would do so; that he intended to seal it, but it was neglected.

The interest that this instrument purports to convey was an incorporeal freehold or tenement, and I think it clear upon the authorities that such an interest in land cannot be effectually created by an instrument not der seal. It will be sufficient on this point refer to Newlins v. Shipham and Wood Leadbitter. In the latter case, Mr. Bar Alderson, by whom the judgment of the Court was delivered, expressed himself thus:

"That no incorporeal inheritance affecting land can either be created or transferred otherwise than by deed is a proposition so well established that it would be mere pedantry to cite authorities in its support—all such heritance are said emphatically to be in gross and not in livery, and to pass by mere conveyance of the deed. In all the authorities and text books on the subject, a deed is always stated or assumed to be indispensable requisite. And although the older authorities requisite. And although the older authorities speak of incorporeal inheritances, there is no doubt but that the principle does not depend on the quality of interest granted or transferred, but in the nature of the subject matter: a right of common, for instance, which is a profit, a prendre, or right of way, which is an easement, or right in nature of easement, and can no more be granted or conveyed for life or for years, than a fee simple.

It is argued that the instrument may good as a license, though not good as a grant. That argument, however, involves this dilemma: If it is a mere license it is revocable and the Court will not make a decree to establish a right or interest which may be voked the next day. To make it irrevocable it must be more than a mere license, it must be such an instrument as will be effectual to convey an incorporeal interest in land, whether it be called a license, as it sometimes or a grant. The point is thus put in Wood Leadbitter:—Where there is a license parol, coupled with a parol grant or pretended grant of something which is incapable being granted otherwise than by deed, the license is a mere license; it is not an

the license is a mere license, it is not assented to a valid grant, and it is therefore revocable." * * * Suppose the case of a public license to come on my lands, and there make a water course to flow on the lands the licenses. In such a case there is no valid grant of the water course, and the license remains a mere license, and therefore capable of being revoked. If this were not so, it would be giving a different effect to the instrument, according to the name it might

It is then contended for the plaintiff, that supposing this instrument not effectual to confer the right which it purports to convey the Court should exercise its jurisdiction to a

the defective execution of the instrument, as to effectuate the intension of the juries. I will promise, that the application of the jurisdiction is in my judgment a matter of judicial discretion, to be exercised or not, as the facts and circumstances of the case may require.

justice in such case, in which the jurisdiction is invoked. It is a familiar rule that it is not to be exercised in favor of a volunteer. The jurisdiction in that case standing upon the same footing as the jurisdiction in cases specific performance. The two heads of jurisdiction appear to be founded substantially upon the same principles, with the difference, that in the one the parties apprehend that they have done validly and effectually.

usually what they intended to do, and that they have perfected their agreement—in the other they are aware that the matter rests in contract, but this does not seem to me to be a difference in principle. In each, the interpo-

the relation of trustee and cestui qui trust does in the view of a Court of Equity subsist between them; and that it is the office of a Court of Equity to give effect to that relation in all proper cases.

In conclusion, Mr. Roberts says there are two courses for them to follow. "One is to enter upon a course of intellectual and moral training, educating the Irish people up to the standard you consider it indispensable they should reach, before an attempt is made to take the land. The other course is to take them as we find them, and send them into civil and military organizations, and put muskets in their hands, and bullets in their cartridge boxes; teach them as we go along, taking care at the same time that they are not taught to shoot at their own stomachs can carry, and then, when they are ready, take the first opportunity, or make one of our own, to solve the problem of the battle-field, whether Irishmen can or cannot free their native soil." In either case, he says, the Government is necessary, and perfect obedience to the laws, and to those who administer them.

"Dead Heads."

In answer to a lady correspondent who desires to know the meaning of the term 'dead-head,' an exchange says:—

"The free tickets given to the press for the uses named are always paid for, and very liberally. As a rule, those who issue the tickets are not 'dead-heads,' but are 'dead-heads,' usually giving fifty cents for that which a five dollar bill would adequately pay for. So long as the newspaper editor is expected to give liberal circulation to the press, he is not a 'dead-head,' and then follows with a general rule after the show is over, he certainly has no place in the 'dead-head' classification. In dead, in nine cases out of ten, the editor would be glad to take a hundred dollars for a pair of tickets, for the sake of their use. They certainly would make money by the operation. We may add a few words on the general subject of advertising. The publication of advertisements is highly profitable to the newspaper, and the publication of the news, and an editorial practice which is designed to supply the place of or add value to a regular advertisement has even less claim to a gratuitous notice than the advertisement itself. Yet there are those who ask such gratuitous notices, and this almost as a matter of right. If these same persons should be asked to make a present of a dozen yards of muslin to the publisher of a morning paper, or a dozen dollars worth of sugar to whoever chooses three pounds of tea, or half a dozen free tickets to whoever engaged twenty seats at a concert, they would resent the demand. It is not so with the newspaper. The same ways be given away as freely as should and are the products of the editor's and publisher's labor and capital! The merchant makes his profit and living by selling his goods, and the newspaper publisher by selling his advertising columns, not by giving them away; and when he does thus give them in aid of a public library or other benevolent cause, he is only thankful to be the benefactor, and not in debt to a 'dead-head.'"

Christian Egotists.

One of the most blessed things in this world is to be unconscious of self, and conscious only of God, the eternal sphere, and the great truths of the divine government and human life. Happy is he before whom these things are so eminent that his own consciousness is gone. And yet how many well-meaning persons there are who are forever treating you to the varied dish of their sensibilities, their struggles, their temptations and their wants; with whom it is continually I, I, I, me, me, me, my, my, my, whose life is one everlasting habit of egotism only, dressed and served up in religion.—Beecher, Practical Truths.

ELLEVILLE, WEDNESDAY, SEPT. 1

Reception of the Candidates!

At the close of the poll in Maocoo, a large number of the electors had assembled at the Town Hall, and upon the Returning Officer declaring the result, Mr. Powell was carried on the shoulders of his delighted supporters to the Committee Rooms at the North American Hotel, in front of which a crowd of several hundred people had assembled. Mr. Powell addressed the assemblage from an upper window, in a brief speech, thanking his supporters and expressing his gratification at the result of the election. The most intense excitement prevailed: A. F. Wood, Esq., also thanked the Committee and electors for their hearty co-operation.

A telegram having been received from Stirling that his friends were expecting him there, Mr. Bowell, accompanied by a number of carriages filled with his supporters, left that place about half-past seven. On arriving at Stirling he was met at the entrance of the village by Dr. Boulter, member-elect for the Ontario Legislature, and several hundred people, when the Dr. was placed in a chair, and Mr. Bowell, hoisted upon the shoulders of some of the electors, and escorted into the village by the firemen, who had provided themselves with torches, and formed a procession, headed by the Band. Arriving in front of the residence of Dr. Boulter, speeches were made by Mr. Bowell and the Doctor, and a general invitation was given to their supporters to accept of the bountiful repast provided at the Doctor's residence. Shortly after, having heard that his friends were awaiting his arrival, he left for Belle ville.

At Bellville, when it was known that the member elect and some of his leading friends from Madoc would come in last evening, it was determined to give them a suitable reception. The citizens turned out prepared with torches, and headed by the Moira Cornet Band proceeded to the College hill, where a large crowd had gathered, having lighted several bonfires, awaited the arrival of Mr. Mr. Bowell and his friends. A telegram had stated that they would arrive about eleven, but it was nearly one o'clock before they came, and a large number had gone to their homes. When the carriage containing Mr. Bowell and Mr. Brown, the member for the Commons for the West Riding, came near the hill, the crowd seized it, took therefrom the horses, and amidst the cheers of those who followed, drove it through the principal streets. Mr. Abraham, the member of the Ontario Legislature for West Hastings was in the same carriage, and following were A. F. Wood, Esq., Reay, of Madoc, and the indefatigable chairman of Mr. Bowell's Committee, and Henry Cook, Esq., Wm. Reay, Esq., W. H. Carpenter, Esq., John N. Moore, Esq., S. Rosa, Esq., and other active members of the Madoc Committee in carriages. Torches were lighted, and headed by the band, a procession numbering several hundred, was formed, and escorted the party in carriages to Mr. Bowell's residence. Here from a window the crowd was briefly addressed by Mr. Bowell, the two members for the West Riding, Lieut.-Col. Strange for the member for the Ontario Legislature for Kingston, and A. F. Wood, Esq., of Madoc, after which cheers were given for the newly elected member and the Queen, and the crowd quietly dispersed.

Nearly a Row.

A person named Duncan McCallum, who is following in the wake of the celebrated Mason, of Toronto, as a professional informer, had several of our tavern keepers before the Police Magistrate yesterday for selling liquor on the Sabbath. The community generally have little sympathy with professional informers, and the examination before the magistrate naturally caused considerable excitement amongst those particularly interested. During the trial

A good deal of feeling was manifested, which at one time threatened to culminate in a serious row. After the examinations were over a large crowd had gathered around the Police Office, waiting for the appearance of the intourist, who wisely remained concealed. The crowd continued to increase, and some of the ringleaders became infuriated with whiskey, which were informed was freely distributed, the prospects of a row became every moment more imminent. The authorities saw it was absolutely necessary, for the proper vindication of the majesty of the law, and to discourage any efforts at lawlessness, to take prompt measures to put down any attempt at disturbance. So it was determined that McCallum should be conveyed to the Court House (as no hotel keeper would keep him) until he wished to go away by train, and him was also ascertained that should be done in as public a manner as possible, so that riotous or disorderly persons might see that the authorities were bound to maintain law and order. Henry Corby, Esq., Mayor on the one side, and Lt.-Col. Sutherland on the other, escorted McCallum from the Police Office to the Court House. The policemen, with the Chief at their head followed. Several attempts were made to rescue the informer, but through the vigilance of Captain James and his aids and the coolness and courage of the Mayor and Col. Sutherland, he was safely escorted to goal. Had he got into the hands of the crowd, it is altogether likely there would have been bloody work, as he was armed with revolvers and expressed his determination to use them. We regret, for the credit and reputation of the town, that such a spirit of lawlessness was manifested, and while it is admitted that the profession of a common informer is not very respectable, it must be remembered that the law protects him, and those disposed to be lawless must know, as in this instance, that the laws of the country will be upheld at any cost and at all hazards.

Sir John A. Macdonald paid a visit to Niagara shortly before the election in the constituency, and made a speech containing some very valuable references to the present position. After having explained in the manner in which Mr. Brown had inaugurated and conducted his section warfare against Lower Canada, and the effects of that warfare in causing first a dead-lock in the Government and ultimately Confederation, he went on to show the unpatriotic character of his conduct in refusing to join with his old friends in forwarding the completion of the Union, and then referred to the present situation of the country in the following terms:

Mr. Bro has boasted that he would be kindle the old party fires in Upper Canada, but the effect of his endeavors has been the demoralization of the Reform party. Some of the ablest men of the province, who, in positions, that if I had placed party before the interests of my country, I could have formed a highly conservative administration to govern a party, have been heartily disgusted with the heart of the conservative party, was for their country more than mere party supremacy, or rather we extend party in a sense to take in our whole country. I have said that the Reform party is small since has been described, as the "maize of the many for the gain of the few." We were willing to unite with all who would be true to the principles of the happiness and welfare of the Dominion. I was willing to inaugurate a party struggle at the outset of our career. Had I done so farewell to our hopes of a successful issue to our great cause. I have said that we have not decided; but a party struggle would have ruined the country. We have still much to do. So far we have only the Imperial act of Protection, which is not more a free trade federation, than a license to trade for marriage. We have to put it into execution, at a great task it is. We are a Union of Colonies, laws, currencies, tariffs and other things will divide us, and we must be reconciled, our laws assimilated and our Union made a reality. Then again, the confederation itself is far from complete. Newfoundland, the great colony commanding the Gulf of St. Lawrence, must be part and parcel of our Dominion. In the hands of a foreign power, Newfoundland could send the route to our great inland lakes. I have said, and it must belong to us. I have every hope that in a very few months, by

But what and parcel of our Newfoundlanders would be part and parcel of the effect upon the minds of the people of Newfoundland, if the new government of the Canadians instead of being patriotically setting about to establish a new system of their government, had fallen back into the old and their narrow sectional quarrels? A profound thinker would say it was fortunate that the quarrels had kept from the minds of the people of Newfoundland, but it would be, if the people of Canada could be so mad, as to rekindle their old party quarrels, and thus bring about the establishing a great British nation on this continent. British Canada too has already evinced a desire to enter into the confederation with the United States, and has taken resolutions to that end, but let such a report reach them, as would arise from the suggestion that the United States would not let them, they would at once move in Canada, and say to the people of Canada, "let us get out of this to chaos!" Much is said about the merits and demerits of coalitions. But in the case of the people of Newfoundland, it is good and in our case, it is a junction of parties to carry out a good national scheme of new government, and is called in some quarters that although a coalition is not a necessary, by the government of the Dominion, at the present time; it is not a necessity for the local government. Those who make that assertion, do not properly estimate the importance of the question. The mere requirement of settlement in Canada, questions arising out of the late partnership between Upper and Lower Canada, or they would see that it is essential that there should be harmonious action between the general government and both confederate and Local Legislatures at this time. The late union has for instance, left an immense property to be fairly divided between the people of the Dominion, the rights of public lands, public institutions, public buildings and important interests and claims of various kinds, arising out of the late union; that much of the property of the Dominion is necessary for the right arrangement of these interests, that the relations between Upper and Lower Canada, and both with the general government, should be friendly and amicable, and that a harmonious coalition in the local as well as in the government of the Dominion, —The New York papers are still countenancing the Fenian Senate. Mysterions announcements, probably paid for as advertisements, daily appearing, which attach immense importance to the Vehmgericht sitting at Cleveland. This is but the prelude to another raid on the want-calls.

—A financial crisis has occurred at Richmond, Va. Insolvency is almost general among merchants, and northern creditors, chiefly New York and Baltimore, are entering suits for the recovery of their debts. A rash into bankruptcy is the consequence, and forty applications were received on the 6th by the Register.

—Adverting to the electoral contest in California, the Tribune declares the democratic majority for the Government to be 8,000; "Legislature it says is gone, hook and line, of course, a United States Senator with it; and to fill the cup, we are told that it is doubtful if a single Republican Congressman is chosen."

—It is stated that the Russians are forming very considerable fortifications at Kertch, and commands the entrance to the sea of Azov. The earthworks alone are to cost a sum equivalent to £70,000 sterling. This, coupled with the recent visit of the Czar to the Crimea, indicates that the treaty of 1856 is already looking upon as a dead letter by the Russian Government, and that another Russian attack on the integrity of Turkey will sooner or later come.

A GREAT OCEAN SHIP RACE.—The Great Ocean race of the tea ships from China to America is the fastest of the world, and is exciting more than thirteen first-class British clipper ships being engaged in it. Unlike the yacht race from New York, there is so much to be seen in the race of the tea ships while the length of the "course" and the speed which will probably be displayed renders it equally interesting as a test of manly skill and enterprise, although the prizes are not so large. The crews are so numerous that to which the crews of the yachts are exposed. The vessels have all started, and the latest news of the racing by telegraph announces that the "Taeping," the winner of last year, and "Masthead," the winner of last year, will start on the 29th June. The ships entered for the race (all clipper) are the "Taeping," "Maitland," "Serica," "Flory Cross," "Yankee," "Masthead," "Masthead," "Masthead," "Black Prince," "Ariel," (second last year), "Flying Ship," "Chinaman," and "Gold Spruce." Most of the above vessels were built ST. PETERSBURG, September 10.—The Shah of Persia has accepted an invitation from the Emperor Alexander to visit Russia. It is uncertain whether the Shah will extend his visit beyond the Crimea. Preparation for the journey are being made at Tiflis.

BERLIN, September 10.—The statement that Gen. Goltz had visited and dined with the Prussian ambassador, while here, is contradicted.

BERLIN, September 10, evening.—The second Parliament of the Confederation of the North German States met here to-day, and was formally opened by King William of Prussia in person. In his speech, he commenced by addressing a warm welcome to the representatives as members of the first German Parliament, which had met under the new constitution. Alluding to the position of the South German States he said their national relations with the rest of Germany had been fixed by the treaties of Zollverein which they had signed. He assured the members that the financial condition of the Confederation was excellent. Its revenues so far had been quite sufficient to meet all expenditures. He promised that bills would be introduced providing for complete and equal settlement of the terms and conditions of military service, making all necessary regulations in regard to passports, prescribing a system of weights and measures for the country, regulating postal matters with foreign nations, and looking to the establishment of Consulates in all foreign ports, and to the protection of the commercial marine of the Confederation everywhere on the high seas. The King concluded his speech with the following powerful aspirations: "Optimism—Progress is to be the great principle underlying all our decisions; the work will be work of peace; and, by God's blessing, the fatherland will in peace enjoy the fruits of your labors."

LONDON, Sept. 10, evening.—The races at Doncaster were inaugurated with much spirit to-day, attracting a very large attendance, including most of the prominent turfites of the United Kingdom. Among the events upon card for to-day were Filly stakes, Glasgow stakes, great Yorkshire handicap, Glasgow stakes, and Fitz William stakes. Filly stakes for 3 year old fillies, amounting in value to £380 were won by "Athens." The Glasgow stakes were carried off by "Donald Bain." The great Yorkshire handicap, for which there were originally 80 subscribers, and which was run over the St. Leger course, was won by "Seville," a lightly weighted 3 year old, carrying 5 stone 10 pounds. Value of stakes £255. In the race for the Champagne stakes, cash value of which was £1,550, "Bluestone" was first and "Virtue" second, but the former was ruled out for overweight, and the stakes awarded to "Virtue." The Fitz William stakes, valued at £145, were won by "Heron."

The betting upon the famous St. Leger, which is the greatest event of the Doncaster meeting, is very heavy, even at Doncaster and at Tattersall's, and from the character of the horses known as starters, a slashing race is anticipated.

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—The Herald's special says another batch of the correspondence concerning the Alabama claims, has been published. Lord Stanley in his despatch, May 24, which was handed to Mr. Seward by Sir Frederick Bruce, consents to arbitration, provided two distinct tribunals are established, one to decide the responsibility incurred by the British government on the depredations committed by the Rebel ministers and the other to adjudicate the general claim on both sides. To this Mr. Seward objects as unnecessary, claiming if there should be two tribunals they should be clothed with the same powers.

Lieut.-Gen. Sir Charles Windham, K. C. B.

This distinguished officer has been appointed successor to Sir John Michel in the command of the forces in British North America.

The following sketch of his brilliant career will, doubtless, interest the reader:

Sir Charles Windham joined the Guards in 1826, was appointed Lieutenant and Captain in 1833, and a few years afterwards he participated in the operations connected with the rebellion, residing here from 1838 to 1842. In November 1846 he was breveted Major, and in December of the same year Captain and Lieutenant-Colonel, attaining a full Colonelcy in 1854. In the following September he landed in the Crimea as Assistant Quarter-master General of the 4th Division, and continued, without a day's absence, until the battle of Inkermann. He was present at the battles of the Alma and Balaklava; the repulse of the powerful sortie on the 26th October, 1854, and in company with the lamented Cathcart when he was killed at the battle of Inkermann. He was also present at both assaults on the Redan, and commanded the storming party of the 2nd Division at the last one on the 8th September, 1855, where his gallantry and judgment were so conspicuous that he was shortly afterwards promoted Major General for "distinguished and intrepid conduct." He had previously served as Brigadier General in the trenches from the 6th August until July 1856. He was appointed Governor of the British portion of Sebastopol in September, 1855; Commander of the 4th Division in October; Chief of the Staff to the Army in November, and Lieutenant-General (local rank) in January, 1856. For these distinguished services he received the Crimean medal and four clasps, and was appointed a Companion of the Bath. He was also appointed Commander of the Legion of Honour; Commander, 1st class, of the Military Order of St. Louis; and a class of the Medjidie, and also received the Turkish medal.

In August 1857, General Windham was ordered to India and appointed to the command at Cawnpore. Shortly afterwards (26th Nov.) he beat the Gwalior contingent on the Pandur Nudde, and again engaged it on the 26th, 27th and 28th of the same month. He subsequently commanded a division in the field under Lord Clyde, during the advance to the Kallee Nudde, where a severe battle was fought. Sir Charles was also at the battle of Puthargur. He was next in command of the Lahore division of the Army, and for these services received another medal.

Sir Charles Windham's commission as Lieut. General dates from the 5th of February, 1863. He was appointed Colonel of the 49th, South Devonshire Foot in June 1861.

A Great Blow for Ultramontan-ism.

The London Spectator notices another and a terrible blow which has this week fallen upon the Papacy, a blow which will affect its authority more directly than the great defeat at Sadowa. Since that battle Venice has been liberated, and the last hope of regaining Italy in Italy itself swept away. The Polish Church has been virtually released from Papal authority; the clerical party has been utterly overthrown in Mexico; Church property has been sequestered throughout Italy, and Ultramontaniam has been expelled from the kingdom of Hungary. The Concordat which had been octroyed there while the Hapsburgs were absolute, required the sanction of the Diet, and with the revival of constitutional life it silently disappeared. In less than twelve months the Papacy has lost the control of three great kingdoms, a province nearly as large as Italy, Mexico, and Poland, and worth £100,000,000 sterling, and might twenty years hence have been valued at three times that sum. It is a frightful list of misfortunes, yet it is doubtful whether the whole together will be so bitterly felt in Rome as the decision of the 26th of July, when the Austrian Reichsrath, by a vote of 130 to 24, solemnly decreed that the Concordat should cease to exist. A great and stately kingdom, with in which there is no spiritual dissent, and can therefore be no spiritual harshness; in which the Church, being invested with all rights, can show herself careless of all privileges; in which bishops, receiving abundantly both of respect and cash, need exact nothing—this is the true Roman ideal, and it is fast passing beyond hope. With Spanish America falling or falling away, whole Catholic races asserting the right of private judgment upon sacraments, a Muslim sovereign received by all Europe, an indifferent republic growing steadily into a terror to the world, Italian troops steadily drawing in towards St. Peter's itself, where half the bishops of Christendom in convulsive declaring the Papacy Divine, the Vatican must perceive that it is gazing into a somewhat hopeless world.

The French Minister of War officially states that the recent Salzburg Conference was nothing more than a meeting of condolence over the fate of Maximilian. There was some conversation on political affairs, but no alliances or combinations were planned.

The crew from St. John, N. B., which is to compete with the celebrated Ward Brothers of New York, for a purse of $2,000, at Springfield, Mass., on the 14th of September, went into training last week. The crew will consist of John Morris (who won the match for the St. John boatmen), the McCaffrey brothers, and a man named McAulay. It is intimated that the crew which was so successful at the international regatta at Paris will give them a chance to try their mettle.

ST. ROCHESTER.—The St. Rochester leaves this wharf to-morrow afternoon, at 2 o'clock for Oswego, touching at Mill Point and Pictou.

Daily Intelligencer.

BELLEVILLE, THURSDAY, SEPT. 12.

GOLD MINING COMPANY.—The meeting of the Belleville Richardson Gold Mining Company, announced for last evening has been adjourned until this evening at 7.30, to be held at Patterson's office, Bridge st.

COMMANDER OF THE FORCES.—The Montreal Gazette says: "We have reason to believe that Lieut. General Sir Charles Ash Windham, K. C. B., will succeed Lieut. Gen. Sir John Michel, as Commander of the Forces in British North America."

NEW BRUNSWICK ELECTIONS.—Telegrams from St. John say that the Hon. Mr. Gray has been returned for St. John County without opposition, and that Mr. Renaud has been returned for the county of Kent, and Mr. Burpee, both Unionists, for Sanbury.

FASHION.—Rev. JOSEPH WILD, M. A., is announced to deliver a lecture in Nelson's Hall on Friday evening, the 13th instant. The subject—"Fashion"—is an interesting one, and will, no doubt, be treated in an original and clever manner by the talented speaker. We hope to see a full house.

RIOT IN QUEBEC.—A serious riot occurred at Levis, opposite Quebec, on Monday night, between the military stationed at the camp and some civilians. It arose out of an attack having been made on the soldiers by some frequenters of houses of ill-fame. Two soldiers were killed and several wounded, and several civilians were badly injured.

ECLIPSE OF THE MOON.—There will be a partial eclipse of the moon on Friday next, the 13th inst. The moon will rise at 6 hours 13 minutes p.m., will rise eclipsed; the middle of the eclipse will occur at seven hours 51.6 minutes Montreal mean time. The magnitude of the eclipse (the moon's diameter being 1,000), will be 0.083. The last contact with the shadow will be at 9 hours 1 minute, and the last contact with the Penumbra will be at 10 hours 14.5 minutes. The last contact with the moon's circle will be at 69 degrees towards the west for direct image.

SOUTH WENTWORTH.—Mr. Thomas White, of the Hamilton Spectator, who was a candidate for the Ontario Legislature for South Wentworth, was defeated by the small majority of three. We observe that Mr. White intends to contest the election on the ground of bad votes, and is confident of taking his seat. We hope he may be successful. There are few public men in Western Canada so clever, so thoroughly conversant with politics, and so well fitted in every respect to fill the position of a legislator for the Province of Ontario as Mr. White, and we hope the Ontario Assembly may have the benefit of his knowledge and ability.

FROM PRINCE EDWARD.

(By Special Telegraph to the Daily Intelligencer.)

PICTOU, Sept. 12, 4 P.M.
Returns from all the polling places up to 12 o'clock to-day, give Ross a majority of 865, and a majority of 255 for Greeley.

Midland Circuit, 1867.

The Courts of Oyer and Terminer and General Gaol Delivery, and of Assize and Nisi Prius, for the Midland Circuit, for the Fall term, will be held as follows:

THE HON. THE CHIEF JUSTICE OF THE COMMON PLEAS.
Peterborough, Monday, 16th September.
Lindsay, Tuesday, 19th do.
Windsor, Wednesday, 25th do.
Napanee, Monday, 30th do.
Picton, Tuesday, 3rd October.
Belleville, Tuesday, 8th do.
Cobourg, Tuesday, 15th do.

The Court for Kingston, in the Eastern Circuit, will commence on the 23rd October, the Hon. Mr. Justice Hagarty presiding.

Election Intelligence.

SOUTH BRUCE.—Mr. Blake (Brown) has been elected for the Assembly by 11 majority, and Mr. Hudson (Unionist) for the Commons.

SOUTH GUY.—Mr. Jackson (Unionist) has been returned for the House of Commons by a majority, and Mr. Laidler for the Assembly by 102 majority.

SOUTH HURON.—Mr. Isaac Carling (Unionist) has been defeated by a majority of 4, the successful candidate being Mr. Gibson. Mr. Cameron is elected for the Assembly by 170 majority.

The Military.

From the following paragraph from the Toronto Leader, it would seem to be settled that Belleville is to have a detachment of troops stationed here. The Leader says: "We understand that the right wing, some 300 strong, of the 17th regiment, will leave this city for Belleville in a few days, as soon as the necessary barrack accommodation is reported to be in readiness for their reception in that town. Our citizens will regret to learn that the cause of the departure of this excellent regiment is the want of necessary accommodation for the men in Toronto. Their absence will be much regretted here, and the inhabitants of Belleville will, we feel confident, hail with delight the advent in their midst of so well conducted a body of Her Majesty's defenders. They will carry with them the best wishes of the people of Toronto."

The West Riding.

The new Election Law does away with Declaration Days, and the Returning officer is only required at a certain time after making up his returns to give the members elect certificates of their election. The Returning officer for West Hastings, Wm. H. PONTON, Esq., on the occasion of giving certificates to Messrs. Brown and Graham, yesterday, invited a number of personal friends of these gentlemen to partake of his hospitality at his residence. Between twenty and thirty gentlemen were present. After the form of presenting the certificates had been gone through with, Mr. Ponton in a neat and complimentary speech respectively proposed the health of James Brown, Esq., member of the House of Commons, and G. Graham, Esq., member of the Ontario Assembly, to which Mr. Brown and Mr. Graham replied in a very happy manner, and which was responded to by those present by drinking full bumpers of champagne and loud cheers for the members elect. The health of Mr. Ponton was next proposed by Mr. Brown, and appropriately responded to. John Bell, Esq., congratulating the county and country on the clean sweep which the Union candidates had made during the present contest, proposed the health of the Union candidates. This toast was drunk with enthusiasm, and acknowledged in fitting terms by Robert Read, Esq., member of the House of Commons for East Hastings, and Henry Corby, Esq., member of the Assembly for East Hastings, and M. Bowell, Esq., member of the Commons for North Hastings. At this stage of the proceedings the bell rang the fire alarm, and the company reluctantly broke up. The idea of the Returning officer in bringing together the leading supporters and personal friends of the members elect on the occasion of giving them their certificates was a happy one, and the occasion will long be remembered by those present.

Town Council.

SEPTEMBER 11, 1867.

Present.—His Worship the Mayor, Messrs. Brown, Holden, Jones, Henderson, Tannahill, Foster, McIntosh, Robertson, Waters, Sutherland and Kennedy.

Moved by John Sutherland, Esq., seconded by James Brown, Esq., that this Council desire to record their deep sense of the loss sustained by them and the whole community in the lamented death of their esteemed friend and honored fellow councillor, CHARLES G. LEVERCOSTE, Esq., whose services for so long a period of years were devoted to the prosperity of the Town, while his private and unostentatious charities endeared him to the poor and suffering of all classes and creeds.

This Council would, on this mournful occasion desire further to convey to the bereaved relatives the expression of their profound sympathy in their deep affliction, and that the Clerk of the Council be directed to transmit a copy of the foregoing resolution to the relatives.

Moved by Mr. Brown, seconded by Mr. Robertson, that the Clerk be, and is hereby instructed to call a meeting of the Finance Committee at the Town Hall, at 4 o'clock, p. m., on Thursday, and that the Clerk, Treasurer and Solicitor be requested to attend with all papers in their hands connected with the Finance of the Town.

The Council then adjourned till the 15th inst.

Editorial Summary.

—The latest Paris journals express the opinion that the Spanish insurrection is making way.

—The gross earnings of the Atlantic Cable the past year are placed at £232,000 sterling.

—Bishop Colenso has come into serious conflict with Bishop Trelis at the Cape.

—The London mail coined the immense number of 35,164,751 pieces in 1866, the value of which altogether was £5,620,710.

—The rumor is revived that Lord Naas is to succeed Lord Monck as Governor General of the Dominion in July, 1868.

—The King of Denmark has given Iceland a Constitution, which is about to be submitted to the representative body of that island for its approval.

—If Dyspepsia, instead of going about more dead than alive, would get a bottle of Perry Davis' Pain Killer, they will show themselves wiser people.

—Dickens says that when on one or two occasions an American publisher of his works sent him sums of money, he put it to the account of conscience money.

—It is rumored that John B. Gough has been engaged to deliver a series of lectures in Chicago this winter, for which he is to receive the handsome sum of $12,000.

American Despatches.

New York, Sept. 12.—The Herald's Key West special says: The steamer Matchless has just arrived from Fort Jefferson, Dry Tortugas, with most distressing accounts of the ravages of the fever there. All the officers of the command and many men and prisoners are down with the yellow fever. The Matchless came for the purpose of obtaining medicine, doctors and nurses, and will return at once.

The Herald's Leavenworth special says: The Indians fired into a train six miles west of Fort Harker to-day. Although a volley was fired by thirty-five Indians, no one was injured.

New York, Sept. 12.—Further correspondence relative to the Alabama claims upon Great Britain, is made public. Under date of August 27, 1866, Secretary Seward sends to Minister Adams a summary of claims of citizens of the United States for damage from the privateers fitted out from British ports, and informed him that a settlement of these claims has become urgently necessary to a re-establishment of entirely friendly relations between the Government of the United States and Great Britain. The hostile course of the latter country during the rebellion is contrasted with the action of the United States Government towards the Fenian invasion of Canada in the following words: "Thus we have seen ruthless British warlike expeditions against the United States practically allowed to pass unrebuked by Her Majesty's Government, notwithstanding remonstrances, and we have seen similar unlawful attacks in this country against Great Britain disallowed and defeated by the direct and unprompted action of the Government of the United States."

An ingenious ruse was played by a wag who, before the working of the saline springs of New York, made it a business to smuggle salt from Canada into the United States. One day, having got wind that he was suspected, he loaded his bag with sawdust, and drove past the tavern where the suspicious excisemen were waiting for him. He was ordered to stop, but he only increased his speed. At length he was overtaken, and his load inspected, with many imprecations from the officials, after which he was permitted to pass on. A day or two later he drove up again, with a full load of salt, and, obeying banteringly, if they didn't want his grain again. "Go on, go on," said the officials; "we've had enough of you."

Telegraphic News.

BY ATLANTIC CABLE.

MAISELLES, Sept. 11.—Despatches received here, mention that the cholera is raging fearfully in the island of Malta.

LONDON, Sept. 11.—It is reported that the Austrian Prime Minister, Baron Von Beust, has gone to Biarritz.

PARIS, Sept. 11.—Despatches have been received here announcing that Garibaldi will depart forthwith for the Roman frontier.

VIENNA, Sept. 11.—A large body of school teachers, representing nearly all sections in the Empire, is in session in this city. A resolution in favor of petitioning the authorities for the separation of the public schools from the Church, was passed yesterday with great unanimity.

LONDON, Sept. 11, evening.—Intelligence has reached here from Siam that the son and heir to the King of Siam is dead.

A telegram from Bombay, in anticipation of the outbreak of cholera, reports that the embargo laid upon the commerce of the island of Eornosa has been removed.

LONDON, Sept. 11, evening.—This was the great day of the Dorchester races. The principal event was the famous St. Leger, considered next to the Derby in the English racing calendar. The attendance was immense, and the interest evinced in the races was almost unprecedented. The municipal stakes, valued at £500, were won by "Clayton." The Corporation stakes, valued £305, by "H. J.," and the Bradleyford stakes by "Leoner." The St. Leger was the occasion of intense excitement. The great value of the stakes, £2535, and the fact that the best horses of the year were entered for the race, no less than the traditions of the day itself, contributed to make the St. Leger of 1867 at least the equal of any of its predecessors. The race was a splendid one, and was won by "Achievement," the winner of the great Yorkshire stakes, at the York August meeting. "Hermit," that won the Blue Ribbion of the Derby this year, was 2nd, and "Julius" 3rd. Among the other starters were "Vanamburgh," "D'Estourval," and the "Palmer," none of which were placed. "Hermit" has not run since the Derby, having been held in reserve for the St. Leger. "Marksmen" was second in the Derby, and "Vanamburgh" third. "Vanamburgh" was latterly the winner of the Goodwood cup.

FALMOUTH, Sept. 12.—The steamer Fulcrum from New York, has arrived.

LONDON, Sept. 12, noon.—Consols 94½; Bonds 73½; Erie 44.

LIVERPOOL, Sept. 12, noon.—Cotton dull and unchanged. Breadstuffs steady.

INSURANCE COMPANY

CAPITAL, . . . $10,000,000.

FIRE AND LIFE.

LIFE DEPARTMENT.

THE principles on which this Company is founded contain all the elements required to develop the benefits of Life Insurance, and afford every facility to intending assureds.—
One of the advantages secured by those who insure their lives with this Company is that the outside expenditure for Management is absolutely restricted by the Deed of Settlement to Ten per Cent. of the Net Life Income. This most important restriction shows that the interests of participating policyholders are closely watched and carefully attended to by the Company. Attention is especially called to this point, as the proportion of premiums expended for Management
Must Largely Influence Profits
and Bonuses.

The next division of profits takes place in 1898, and all those who wish to participate in the profits should insure at once.

September.

These are the days I love, when opulent Summer Smiles on the young blithe Autumn, as he bows—
Wooling with gentle sighs and crimson kisses
And looks of tenderness and whispered vows:
Before the humble-bee has

While yet the marigold bedecks the yard;
And field and lawn, smooth shaven by the mower.
By lingering violets are faintly starred.

While yet the skies are gentle, and the landscape
Vells its verdure in an azure haze;
And morn's cool breath grows sweet and ardent Beneath the golden glow of noontide rays.

When in the grove, the garden and the meado
The locust's silvery trumpet charms the ear
And an unceasing undertone of music

There is a deep and tender joy in wand'ring
Amid the quiet of the changeless hills;
Or dreaming in the deep and fragrant forest,
Forgetting all life's fretting, galling ills.

And sweet to doff, with such a calm abandon
The toil, the garnering, the petty care;
And with the spirit hand in hand to revel
Through all the splendors of the dreamy air.

A Divine in a "Hell."
Rev. Theodore L. Cuyler, writing from Saratoga to the New York Independent says:—"I looked in for a few moments on evening (as did several other clergymen) upon the scenes in Morrissey's celebrated club house. The door stood open to smokers, and a sumptuous supper table was provided for the patrons of the games.

was a most suggestive place to furnish materials for a sermon. The rooms were elegantly furnished—the gentlemen present were fashionably dressed, and the bur prize-fighter, who fitly represents the 'D presided quite courteously over the hostilities of his gambling hell. In one brilliantly lighted room stood a roulette table. In another were piles of ivory cards and dominoes and a huge iron safe in which dominoes, and a huge iron safe, in which have been swallowed up the thousands which moustached fools and reckless husbands have flung down on the adjoining tables. As at Baden-Baden, the gambling was conducted with perfect silence. E gamester gave his whole soul to the absorbing games. Large piles of greenbacks changed hands rapidly. Men who at home occupy respectable positions were to be seen at some of the tables. But behind the groups seemed to peer the satanic argugamester, who was luring them on to stain conscience for gold, and knew that he was sure to cheat them out of their immortal souls. Oh! it was an accursed place, and I was glad to escape soon and unobserved. Let those who are advocating the use of cards as an 'innocent amusement,' look for a few moments on such a moral slaughter-house as is opened here by a member of our national Congress, and they will in view of the subtle seductions and fascinations of games of chance, I firmly believe that total abstinence is the only safe principle."

A NOVA SCOTIA VIEW OF MR. BROWN DEFEAT.—Two or three months ago his paper was literally running over with the accounts of triumphant meetings of his party, who were represented as sweeping before them. Government men were to be swept clean out of Upper Canada. Par rule was the universal cry, and the par that was to rule was, beyond all doubt that of the Hon. George Brown. The R

formers of Upper Canada, the Rouges Quebec, and the anti-unionists of New Brunswick and Nova Scotia, were to form a triple alliance, and annihilate the Mc Donalds, Gaits, Cartiers, &c. Mr. Brown organ, the Globe, advised his friends to deal tenderly with the anti-unionists of Nova Scotia; but alas, what a fall is there, my countrymen! Mr. Brown unhorsed, and on his back on his own battle-ground. The beginning is ominous of disaster to the champions of faction. So far, then, every thing promises well for the best interests and the permanent security of our common country. The men of Ontario have refused to sacrifice themselves at the bidding of mere, factious hate, and we believe that the result will be, instead of a majority of Brownites, as many expected, that, at the very least, fifty good men, and true, will be sent from Upper Canada to give a generous

ABRUPT TERMINATION TO A HONEYMOON —Going from home to get local news, the Glasgow Herald supplies us with the fol

following:—On the morning of Thursday last a somewhat sensational occurrence is said to have taken place in one of the leading thoroughfares at the north end of Liverpool. It appears that about three weeks ago a young man in a fair business position in the drapery line, was married to a handsome young lady, who had been for some time employed in the management of a highly respectable house in the business. The match was understood to be one of love, and the parties and their friends appear to be highly satisfied. The honey-

LONDON, Sept. 12.—A despatch from Athens states that Great Britain and France have sent a joint note to Greece, urging the Government at Athens to refrain from hostilities with the Sublime Porte, and maintain a strict neutrality in the Cretan question.

GENEVA, Sept. 12, evening.—The Radical Congress, which met here on the 9th inst., is still in session. The proceedings attract much attention. During the sitting this morning, a sharp attack was made upon the socialists of the United States, which gave rise to an animated discussion. Some ill-feeling was created, and before the close of the session many members withdrew from the Congress.

MADRID, Sept. 12, evening.—The Governor of Minerva has issued orders establishing a rigorous quarantine at Port Mahon, Balearic Islands, for all vessels arriving in that harbour from ports in the United States or West Indies.

LONDON, Sept. 12, evening.—The returns of the Bank of England show that the accumulation of specie steadily continues. The authorized weekly report published last afternoon, shows that the amount of bullion in the vaults has increased £200,000 since the last statement, made on the 5th.

LONDON, September 13, noon.—Consols 94½; Erie 44½; Bonds 72½; C 77; Great Western 31½.

LIVERPOOL, Sept. 13, noon.—Cotton quiet active, but prices unchanged; sales 12,000 bales. Upstairs at 9½d; Orleans 9½d. Sales of the week 64,000 bales. Stock in port 815,000 bales, of which 383,000 are American. Breadstuffs and provisions quiet.

QUEENSTOWN, Sept. 13, noon.—The steamers Scotia and Erie, from New York, have arrived.

LONDON, September 13, 3 P.M.—Consols firmer. American securities unchanged.

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—The Herald's Omaha special says: Information is received from Spotted Tail's band. They have ransomed three white women and three children, who were captured at old Fort Kearney last winter, from the Cheyennes. The commissioners will meet the hostile Indians at Laramie on the 15th. No negotiations have been reported on the plains since the news of the commissioners coming.

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—Yesterday Malcolm Melville, aged 25, committed suicide by shooting himself with a revolver.

The base ball match yesterday between the Excelsiors of Rochester and the Union of Morrisania, resulted in favor of the Union by 29 to 21.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12.—The personal friends of General McClellan here assert that though he may have been requested by telegraph to return, he has no idea of doing so, and that he will remain abroad another year.

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—The Tribune's Washington special says: It is rumored that the President designs an immediate change in the War Department. It is stated that Frank P. Blair, Jr., will be put in that office until McClellan is heard from.

The first annual regatta of the Hudson Amateur Rowing Association came off yesterday on the river, opposite the Elysian Fields, and was a great success. There was a large crowd in attendance on the shore and in barges and steamboats on the river. The champion flag was won by the Atlantic Club of New York, after a close and exciting race with the Mutuals of Albany.

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—The steamer Argo, with Hixson and suite on board, has arrived.

aim to serve our friends in Canada, to the advantage of our power in the attaining the best possibilities for Consignments, the extension of the manufacturing interest, the Lower

Provinces, the importing thence on Commission their Fish, Oils, &c., and the dissemination of correct and unbiased information respecting the market.

On Consignments to Halifax, as well as to Montreal, we will as heretofore make liberal advances against shipments, and drafts may in all cases be made at the option of Consig-neers either on Montreal or on Halifax.

The season being now at hand when the Cheese and Butter in the country must be marketed, we take this opportunity of tendering our services for its sale here, or at either of the Principal points in the Lower Provinces or Great Britain, where we have first-class reliable correspondents who will do the very best that can possibly be done with consignments, cash advances on which will be made by us here when required.

The Young Widow.

She is cunning—sometimes witty;
Free and easy, but not bold;
Like an apple, ripe and mellow,
Not too young and not too old;
Half-living, half-departed,
Now advancing and now slaying;
There is mischief in her laughter
There is danger in her eye.

She has studied human nature,
She is schooled in every art;
She has taken her diploma,
As the mistress of the heart;
She can tell the very moment
When to sigh and when to smile;
Oh, a maid is sometimes charming,
But a widow all the while!

Are you sad? Oh, then how serious
Will her pretty face become!
You are angry, she is wretched,
Saddened, friendless, fearless dumb;
Are you mirthful? how her laughter,
Silver-sounding, will ring out;
She can lure and catch and play you
As an angel does his trout!

Ah! old "Fossils," nearly shy,
Who are plotting, deep, and wise;
Ye "Adonises" of twenty,
With the love-light in your eyes!
You may practice all the lessons Taught by Cupid since the Fall,
But I know a little wider way,
Who can win and fool you all!

Farm and Garden.

Constantly improve the garden soil; endeavor to reach the point where its productive qualities cannot be improved. You will be astonished at the result, and think the land about you little better than a desert.
Sods from old grass land, piled with leaf mould or stable manure and leached ashes, make a compost that will improve any soil.
—But if the soil be not so rich and sharp also. This is the season to make the compost heap.

A correspondent of the Scientific American says that fruit trees should be allowed to shoot out their branches near the ground, protecting the trunk and the soil from changes of temperature and frost. He says that it was never intended that fruit should grow out of reach. It is stated that fruit trees, especially apple trees, bear better when the top branches are cut away and the limbs allowed to grow lower down on the trunk.

Plants set against walls and piazzas frequently suffer from want of water in this season, when open ground near them is quite wet. Draw away the soil from around each plant so as to form a basin; fill it with a bucketful of water; and when the surface has dried a little, draw in loosely the soil over it, and it will do without water for some weeks. This applies to all plants wanting water during the season.

If water is merely poured on the surface, it is made more compact by the weight of the water, and the harder the soil becomes the easier it dries, and the result is, the more water you give, the more is wanted.

Many horses are doubtless injured in consequence of an improper construction of stable floors. In warm weather the horse is naturally restless and stamps about a good deal, and the consequence is, that with a hard unyielding floor, the animal is likely to become injured. As a preventive of injury from this cause, W. L. Darbee, V.S., of West Falls, N. Y., says:—When you are ready for laying down a stable floor, set plank four feet long, two and a half inches thick, and lay them down so as to leave a space of two feet in front of the horse's fore feet to stand on. Fill up the vacant space with blue clay or mortar made of dirt, and set it often, and your horse will never suffer from contraction or fever in the feet.
—Make the stalls four and a half feet wide so as to leave plenty of room alongside of the horse. A stone floor is the worst kind of one. Better let the animal stand without the ground.

A TRUE LADY.—I was walking a short distance behind a handsomely dressed young girl, and thinking as I looked at her beautiful clothes I wondered if she takes half the pains with her hair as she does with her body?

A poor man was coming up the walk with a loaded wheelbarrow, and just before reaching us, he made two attempts to get into the eye of a small house; but the ride being heavy, would swing back before he could get through.

"Wait," said the young girl springing lightly forward, "I'll hold the gate open."
And she held the gate until he passed in,
and received his thanks with a pleasant smile as she went on.

"She deserves to have beautiful clothes," I thought, "for a beautiful spirit dwells in her breast."

A gallant was lately sitting beside his beloved, and being unable to think of anything to say, asked her to think of anything for him. "I don't know," she said, with a pouting lip, "unless it is because I'm sitting beside a goose."

One exceedingly warm day in June a neighbour met an old man and remarked that it was very hot. "Yes," said Joe, "if it wasn't for one thing I should say we were going to have a thaw." "What?"
said "I inquired his friend, "What?"
thing froze," says Joe. "The man went his way."

ST. ROCHÉSTER.—The steamer Rochester leaves Flint's Wharf on Monday at two o'clock, for Oswego, touching at Mill Point and Pictou.

Daily Intelligencer.

BELLEVILLE, SATURDAY, SEPT. 14.

NEW YORK STATE FAIR.—The Annual Fair of New York State will be held at Buffalo, commencing on the 1st October.

LEISURE HOURS.—The September number of this English monthly has been received by Overell who has all the English Periodicals. This number is replete with choice readings and contains a number of superb engravings.

MONTREAL WEST.—The official return of votes in Montreal West show a majority of only 177 for McGee, being 100 less than both candidates gave McGee at the close of the election. The Gazette thinks there is something wrong about the matter, and an investigation is to be made.

ALAS! POOR BROWN.—The Halifax Citizen says that it does "not attach a great deal of importance to Mr. Brown's presence, in or absence from Parliament. If he were a member of John A. McDonald's Cabinet as he was two years ago, he would be a man of more importance, but as it is, his being in or out of the House of Commons, makes only one "Quebec" schemer more or less, to plot against the rights of Nova Scotia." This from an oppositionist journal is rather severe, and the unkind cut of all! How must Mr. Brown feel on being converted into that unclean beast, in his eyes, a Quebecer!

THE PRESIDENT'S AMNESTY.—The President's new amnesty proclamation has been issued. In the preamble, the non-existence of organized rebellion in the South, or reasonable grounds for apprehending any reason for the issuance of the suspension of the writ of habeas corpus, martial law, the suspension of the writ of habeas corpus, the right of trial by jury, to public liberty in time of peace, and the tendency of unnecessary pains, penalties, confiscations and the usual elements of a vindictive policy to hinder reconstruction, are given among the reasons for the issuance of a more general amnesty. The excepted classes number three.—Certain officials and agents of the rebel government, all who treated prisoners of war barbarously, and all connected with the assassination plot.

MIXING ACCIDENT.—The Madoc Mercury says: On Wednesday morning, about half-past ten o'clock, just as some shavings were being kindled, to fire off a blast in the shaft now being worked in the rear of Jones's grist mill, the scaffolding upon which the two men employed were standing ready to mount the ladder, gave way, and they were both thrown to the bottom of the shaft, falling about six feet. One of them, Mr. Adam Wilson, got his right foot firmly caught between a stone and a piece of scantling, and being a heavily built man, as he fell over, both the bones of his right leg were broken, just above the ankle. Assistance was immediately procured, and he was lifted out with ropes. The fracture was treated by Dr. Jones, and Mr. Wilson was conveyed to his lodgings, where he is now doing well. The proprietors of the shaft will pay his expenses until he is able to get to his work again.

Prince Edward Election.

Messrs. Ross and Greely have been elected by large majorities, as will be seen by the following figures. These majorities would, no doubt, have been considerably lessened had not Mr. McCaig and Mr. Holmes resigned at the close of the polls on the first day. Their friends did nothing the second day, but the friends of the victorious candidates put forth every effort to swell their majorities.

BUSINESS NOTICE.—Parties going west would do well to secure tickets from Toronto west from Mr. R. P. DAVY, agent for Great Western Railway, opposite the market, Belleville, 115-116.

Troops for Belleville.

We observe that owing to the difficulty of leasing proper buildings for barracks, the Cobourg Council have given up the idea of quartering troops in that town. It is stated that one gentleman wanted $1200 rent for his buildings, which was more than the Council thought themselves justified in giving. Notwithstanding this, we understand that Cobourg, Port Hope and other places are making every possible effort to secure the troops for their respective localities. So far as Belleville is concerned, we believe everything has been done by our Corporation and leading men that could be to obtain the troops, and we believe their efforts will be successful. Suitable buildings have been offered at a reasonable rate, for both men and officers, and the Corporation has expressed its desire to meet the military authorities in the most liberal spirit. Belleville possesses many advantages as a military station. There is no healthier location in the Province; it affords less facilities for desertion than any military station in the Province; it presents as cheap a market as any in Canada, and much cheaper than most places; in the event of invasion or trouble, in a strategic point of view, it presents superior advantages as a military station; and besides, Belleville being next to the Cities the first Town in Canada in military importance, is entitled to some consideration at the hands of the authorities.

The Fenian Congress.

Some further details respecting the Fenian Congress at Cleveland have leaked out, notwithstanding the sworn secrecy of the members. Roberts was re-elected President, but refused to act unless the Congress would raise $500,000 for the cause. After some considerable trouble, about half that amount was raised, and Roberts accepted the position. In Roberts' speech, he says he effected a union with the I. R. B. on that day of all days in the great Republic, the 4th of July. With regard to the time and place to "make a strike," that question was fully discussed by himself and the leaders of the movement in the old country. "Some," says Roberts, "suggested six months from the 4th of July, but he told them he did not think the two organizations would be in perfect working order to strike together before twelve months, and the matter was so decided."

General Spear, acting Secretary of War, reported that the whole force of the Fenian Brigade numbered 9,000 enlisted men, with about 15,000 rifles, 18,500 accoutrements, 120,000 rounds of ammunition; in addition, there were 100 rifles along the border from St. Albans to Oswego, in the hands of private parties. At Sackett's Harbor about 2,000 stand of arms and at Platt's Point about 1,200, at Oswego 110 rifles—in all about 20,000. In addition to this force the Stephens wing claimed to have 15,000 stand of arms, 15,000 sabres, a large lot of ammunition and a vessel in New York harbor. It was decided that four military organizations should be appointed to raise troops; that an inspector-general should be appointed. Two batteries of field artillery, three cavalry regiments of ten companies each, and two light batteries, mounted, to go with cavalry, are to be adopted.

It further leaked out that the Bonds of the Irish Republic were worth "20 cents on the dollar," and that a resolution of respect for the memory of Thomas Francis Meagher was put to the meeting—a "heated discussion" ensued, applause and hisses greeting every repetition of his name. The resolution was at last declared carried "amid vociferous dissent." We are not, therefore, surprised to learn that "throughout the proceedings were stormy," and several times there was danger of "breaking up in a general row." The question whether women should be admitted to circles was ungraciously answered in the negative "because of their inability to keep a secret"—a weakness the "congressmen" are more than suspected of themselves. How, for instance, did the whole of the "proceedings" leak out?

COLONIAL SECURITIES.—Another decided advance has taken place on the London Stock Market in Canadian Government securities, all descriptions of "sices" being quoted at rates varying from 1 to 4 per cent, surpassing in this respect the securities of the sister Provinces of Nova Scotia and New Brunswick. For the last four or five years these generally commanded a better price than the Canada "six per cent" and "fives," and there is, therefore, cause for congratulation at the improved state of the "Canadian" bonds in London. The Economist, the highest authority in England, recently stated that colonial securities were firm, and that the demand exceeded the supply of stock on the market.

If Diptycles, instead of going about more dead than alive, would get a bottle of Perry Davis' Pain Killer, they would save themselves wiser people.

Lecture on Fashion.

Last night Nelson's Hall was full, almost to overflowing, with the elite of Belleville society, all anxious to hear the deservedly popular lecturer, Rev. J. Wild, on the subject of "Fashion." His Worship, Henry Corbett Esq., Mayor of Belleville, was in the chair, supported by the recently elected members for the West Riding, James Brown and Ketchum Graham, Esq. He introduced the lecturer by a few amusing remarks relative to the extra expenditure required by the prevalent fashions, changeable and varied as they were, and implored the "better half of creation" to consider the fluctuation of their parents' and guardians' purses, and to govern themselves accordingly.

The Rev. lecturer commenced by referring to the first fashion originating in Eden, when our primal ancestors clad portions of their bodies in fig leaves. That afterwards when the race extended itself northwards, the skins of beasts were necessary to preserve warmth. That the cultivation of the soil rendered another change necessary, and thus fashion changed according to the circumstances and the period of its progress. That the owners of the land adopted a peculiar dress to distinguish themselves from the tillers thereof. That as the world advanced in years, the change of dress advanced also, and hence the various modes of apparel commencing with the simple leaves of the forest and culminating in the waterfalls and crinolines of the present era. The lecturer gave a brief but stirring history of the Elizabethan period, and read some amusing extracts from the sumptuary laws of that reign. He referred to the peculiar tastes of different nations; to the Japanese adorning and beaming their heads; to the Chinese their feet; to the Laplanders their ears; and to the inhabitants of Timbuctoo their labial monstrosities. A passing allusion was also made to the mourning colors fashionable in several lands; some white to denote happiness, others yellow, others brown, some blue as a token of the celestial world that the happy spirits entered into. But England and France adopted black as the most unhappy of all colors, as if there was no hope beyond the grave. He alluded to the Empress of Fashion, the beautiful Eugenie, whose 365 dresses were never worn a second time, and contrasted her gorgeous attire with the plain simplicity of our own beloved Victoria. He took occasion to warn his hearers that it is not the outward attire that constitutes the Christian, but the inner and better life, and concluded a brilliant and fascinating lecture by a few practical remarks. The lecturer was frequently applauded during his remarks, and at the close a vote of thanks was proposed by K. Graham, Esq. M. P., seconded by James Brown, Esq. M. P., and carried amidst loud applause.

From Boston.

BOSTON, Sept. 2, 1867.

Bidding good-bye to Cushing's Island, the many favorite views that it commands, and the many friends made during my six weeks' stay, I proceeded on my tour. The traveller leaving Portland by the Boston and Maine Railroad cannot but admire the ever-varying scenery that meets his eye on that route, as he glides swiftly onward through the most beautiful States of New England. A constant succession of handsome towns and villages, towering heights and lovely vales, and small, beautiful winding streams, their banks covered to the very edge with magnificent foliage, greet him at every step.

The B. & M. is first class in all its appointments. The cars are clean, neat, well ventilated, and at the same time very handsome. The conductors are polite and obliging; in fact, everything conducive to make railway travelling a pleasure, in place of an irksome duty. One of the improvements which I noticed on that line was the carrying of food water through the cars at intervals during the trip, which, I am sure, must be a boon to ladies and children, thus enabling them to quench their thirst without leaving their seats. Another very good idea that I observed was, that on the backs of the tickets the names of the stations are marked and the distance between each, thus serving the purpose of a guide.

Having some business to attend to at Lawrence, I remained over at that city for a few hours.

It is situated on the beautiful Merrimack river, and lies some twenty-six miles north of Boston. It is noted as a manufacturing place, and might appropriately be called the Manchester of New England. Among its largest factories are the Atlantic, Pacific, Washington, Everett and Penobscot Mills, employing from five to eight thousand hands in the manufacture of all descriptions of woollen and cotton goods. You will remember that it was at the last mentioned place that a terrible disaster took place some five or six years ago (the falling of the mill) by which a large number of persons lost their lives. Since that time it has been entirely rebuilt in a strong and substantial manner. Mr. Clark, the manager, very kindly took the trouble to show me all through, and some of the operatives were very kind to point out the manner in which the different articles are manufactured. The city is very pleasantly situated, and contains a population of about twenty-five thousand, the majority of whom are engaged in the manufacturing line. Some ten or twelve trains run daily from the city to Boston, leaving about 5:00 p.m., and after a very pleasant ride of an hour and a quarter, I arrived at BOSTON.

This is one of the great commercial cities of the United States, the capital of Massachusetts, and the seat of justice of Suffolk County. It contains a population of over two hundred thousand, and is divided into three parts—Boston Proper, East and South Boston. There are a great many things in this city to interest the traveller. The Common and Public Garden, situated in the very centre of the city, are beautiful spots, in which the Bostonians delight to walk. The former consists of lovely walks and magnificent fountains of cool water, and on hot days is a very shady elm grove. There is also a large stand in the centre, which on Wednesday and Saturday evenings is the chief attraction, being occupied by a very fine band, which discourses sweet music to the thousands that on these occasions assemble to hear it. The latter contains many beautiful flowers, a conservatory and a very pretty laid out little pond, in which may be seen a number of swans sporting themselves. It (the pond) is also adorned by a very fine bridge.

The Street Car form a perfect net work through the city, and do an immense business, being crowded continually. The principal Hotels are the Parker, American, Seelye and Adams. The former is kept on the European plan.

The State House, New City Hall, and other public buildings are magnificent structures. A large number of Railways branching in every direction, have their terminus in the city, and daily bring in the crowds of the "hub" as it is usually called, I would suggest changing it to the "hubbub," which I think would be more appropriate.

Commonwealth (the fifth) Avenue of Boston contains a number of very fine private residences, and promises to become the handsomest boulevard in America. It is about 175 feet wide, with a decorated or enclosed walk on each side, 30 feet in width, running through its entire length, which is to be about five miles. It commences at the Public Gardens and runs west through Brighton.

Among the curiosities of this city may be mentioned the Museum of Natural History, South Church, Franklin Hall, and other relics of bygone days. The big organ is one of the institutions of Boston, and makes itself heard in a delighted audience on Wednesday's and Saturday's.

One of the many fine buildings which have lately been erected in this city is the Masonic Temple which is not only a Temple of Masonry but a magnificent building, and should be seen to be appreciated. For the benefit of the Masonic friends I shall attempt to give a short description of it, which may give them a faint idea of its beauties. This beautiful edifice is situated on the corner of Tremont and Boylston streets, the principal elevation facing the Common. The general style of the building is Gothic, freely treated, for as the first ground plan is required for the purposes, it was deemed essential that it should conform to the present style. It covers a space of over ten thousand square feet.—The exterior cost of building, furniture &c., will foot up to half a million of dollars.

The facade is divided vertically into five parts, the centre and the two extreme parts while the other two parts recede—The entrance from the Common the attention is attracted to the central feature of the front, the entrance to the upper stories of the front, which are to be used exclusively for Masonic purposes. This consists of an elegantly designed doorway with columns, and enriched mouldings flanked on each side by two heavy buttresses which, contain marble columns and balustrades of the same material. The central projection is bounded on the right hand with a square turret, having canopied niches, an enriched cornice, corner buttresses, and an open stone roof, terminating in a carved finial and a round hand around tower with canopied niches, cornices, and an embattled parapet, suggestive of the features of feudal castles. At the extremity of the Tremont street elevation, are other buttresses which extend through the various stories until they end in an enriched octagonal turret, having corner buttresses, pinnacles, treacled spires, and foliated finial. On the right hand corner of the front at the junction of the two streets, is a beautiful octagon tower, which extends from the ground to the height of two stories above the battlement, thus becoming the loftiest feature of the building. The facade on Boylston street, though less ornate, has the same general divisions as that on Tremont street, varied, however, to present quite a different aspect. The exterior of the building comprises four stories, all of which are constructed of white concord granite, and a steep and high pitched roof, slated and finished with Lutheran windows on the Tremont and Boylston street fronts. Heavily moulded stone corbels enclose the areas in front of the store windows, and on each side the entrance. There is also a fountain on each side, representing a boy upholding a bird, from whose beak the water escapes. The base is a rock covered with the carvings of the sea, and comprehend the interior arrangements of this building, it must be borne in mind that there are three large halls—one above the other—located on the left of the grand staircase, and sufficiently distant from the front to admit of a series of rooms parallel with Tremont street. The space to the right of the staircase is occupied by the different lodges, or chapters, &c. These were slated for the rooms which were locked and therefore remained a mystery to me (not being one of the craft)—After an ample vestibule with a marble floor and arched ceilings, tastefully finished with carved mouldings, resting upon black walnut columns and pilasters, and a large hall, the vestibule large double door open to the grand staircase, ten feet wide, that conducts to the upper stories. The three large halls before mentioned, respectively called the Corinthian, Egyptian, and Gothic halls, and each one is appropriately and magnificently finished in keeping with its name. The main hall, as an hour or so can be very pleasantly spent in inspecting the many objects of interest contained in this building.

Rents, &c., are very high in the city. To give you an idea, a store on Washington street, the size of Conger's, would rent for $15,000 per annum, and small places used as liquor stores (not as saloons) rent for about $1,000. (Conger's saloon, &c., rent for about $1,000). Boston is also "rich" in the music, land-organ, hurdy gurdy, &c., are seen and heard on every street.

QUEBEN INSURANCE COMPANY

CAPITAL, $10,000,000.

FIRE AND LIFE.

LIFE DEPARTMENT.

THE principles on which this Company is founded contain all the elements required to develop the benefits of Life Insurance, and afford every facility to intending assureds. One of the advantages secured by those who insure their lives with this Company is that the outside expenditure for Management is absolutely restricted by the Deed of Settlement to Ten per Cent. of the Net Life Income. This most important restriction shows that the interests of participating policy holders are closely watched and carefully attended to by the Company. Attention is especially called to this point, as the proportion of premiums expended for Management must largely influence Profits and Bonuses.

The next division of profits takes place in 1888, and all those who wish to participate in the profits should insure at once.

GOLD MINING ACT OF 1864.

27 and 28 Vic. Chap. 9, and the

Gold Mining Amendment Act 1865.

29 Vic. Chap. 9.

THE Gold Mining Act of 1864 provides that Governor in Council may erect Gold Mining Divisions.

Two Divisions erected in Lower Canada: "Chaudiere" and "St. Lawrence." Richard Pope, Esq., Gold Mining Inspector, St. Francis de la Riviere and "St. Francis" Gold Mining Division. J. K. Gilmour, Esq., Gold Mining Inspector, Stantard, 16th July, 1864, amended 30th July, 1864 and 22nd Sept. 1864.

One Division erected in Upper Canada by Proclamation, 21st March, 1867: "Quinte Gold Mining Division," containing the Townships of Barrie, Carleton Place, Milton, and North and South Canons, in the County of Frontenac, the Township in the County of Renfrew, situated north of the Townships of Miller and Canons, the Townships in the County of Adolphus, situated north of the Township of St. Lawrence, the Townships in the County of Hastings, situated north of the Township of Sarnia, Thurlow and Tyndering, the Township of Belmont, and the Township in the County of Peterborough situated north of the Township of Belmont, Athol, Argyle, Campbell, Esq., of Belleville, Inspector.

No person to make without a licence.

Two kinds of licences on Crown Lands Gold Licence, "82 per cent. for unworked Crown Lands, and the other "Private Lands Gold Licence," "81 per cent. for private lands, the latter first obtaining consent of the proprietor.

Crown Lands Gold Licence may make out and work claims on unworked Crown Lands.

ALLEGIANCES.

On a river or large creek, 50 feet front by 50 from the water's edge. On small creeks, 40 by 50 feet front by 50 feet deep. In gully, 60 feet along same, and from hill to hill. On surface or hill side, 60 feet square. In case of hill tunnel, other may grant larger claim. In each case, officer to determine size and position of claim.

QUARTZ MINES.

To each mine, 100 feet along lead by 100 on each side from the centre of the lead. For companies, 25 feet additional along lead for every additional mine, but not to exceed 500 feet altogether.

Claims to be claimed by the officer, and to be laid out in regular shapes, and rectangular, however, and bounded under the surface by lines vertical to the horizon.

Crown lands licensee to work continuously and renew licence.

No person to occupy more than one claim on Crown Lands at one time.

Discoveries entitled to free licence for one year in manner provided by Act.

Party valid to be left between claims on Crown Lands, partly removing party valid first obtaining a new mode of access to water.

Crown Lands licensee not to cause damage to others. Licence use of water reserved opposite claim on Crown Lands.

Registration of claim on Crown Lands temporarily inoperative, allowed for "81. Provision: claim to be marked.

Penalty provided for removal of stakes on claims.

All licences to make returns.

Quartz crushing machines to be licensed. Fee $5 per month. Books to be kept and returns furnished.

Access to parties mining near Gold Mining Divisions.

Provision made for preservation of peace.

Persons working under Gold Mining Patents to furnish returns and pay royalties to the Crown, such as, viz., for the Signatory of Riquard, Vaudreuil, in the Chaudiere—one of the Divisions erected, and royalty use consumed to be used of Gold Mining Divisions.

Governor in Council may make regulations.

THE GOLD MINING AMENDMENT ACT OF 1865.

Repeals clause in Gold Mining Act of 1864, providing that no licence fees shall be exacted for exploring for gold and the proceeds net is discovered.

Enacts that Tavern Licence provision in previous Act may be applied to territory covered by Mining Patents.

And that disputes between miners and laborers in the Gold Mining Division may be determined by officers of division.

INFERIOR METALS AND SALE OF MINERAL LANDS.

THE following are the Regulations:—

DEPARTMENT OF CROWN LANDS.

Quebec, 13th July, 1886.

REGULATIONS for the sale of Mineral Lands, approved by His Excellency the Governor General in Council.

INFERIOR METALS.

1. That each regular mining tract in unworked territory consist of blocks of two hundred or four hundred acres.

2. That the dimensions of each regular mining tract of four hundred acres be forty chains in front by one hundred chains in depth, and smaller tracts, except on lakes and rivers, in the same proportion. The bearings of the outlines to be North and South and East and West, respectively, in the unworked territories of Upper Canada and generally, the outlines of the Townships elsewhere.

3. That mining tracts bordering upon lakes and rivers shall have their frontage upon such waters, and shall be subject in all cases to the public rights in navigable or fishable waters; and that mining tracts, so situated, shall have a margin depth of one hundred chains back from such river or lake, (exclusive of road allowance of the territory) and shall be reserved along the margin of such river or lake in conformity with the above mentioned bearing.

4. That mining tracts in unworked territory shall be surveyed by a Provincial Land Surveyor, and completed with same, before being put in pretence to the fact that the tract may be laid down on the office maps of the territory at the cost of the applicant, who shall be required to furnish with their application the surveyor's plan, field notes and description thereof in accordance with the foregoing regulations, and to the satisfaction of the Department, and pay the price of one dollar per acre, into the Department of Crown Lands, at the time of making application.

5. That in surveyed townships, lots presenting indications of minerals be sold on the above conditions, but at not less than one dollar per acre in any township and at the same price as the other lands in the township where it is more than one dollar per acre.

6. That mining lands in surveyed townships be sold by the local agents for cash, but all lands in unworked territory shall be sold by the Department.

7. The above regulations do not apply to mines of gold and silver.

8. That in selling the lands in the gold mining division the Department is to direct the sale to be made by public auction for actual settlement, bona fide, and bona fide for mining or metalliferous purposes, and the price for the present price and terms (subject to an increase to $5 an acre, and the order of the Hon. Accident at the Long Sault Rapids.

THREE GRAIN BARBERS SWIFT OFF—LOSS $70,000.

On Monday a serious accident occurred at Dickinson's Landing, which is likely to fall heavily upon the Insurance Companies. At this point the current sweeps out from the shore, and past the Canal abutment with such force as to compel steamers to allow their bows to swing around and so drop into the canal. On Monday as the tug Advance of Chaffey Bros., was attempting this with a tow of barges from Kingston, the tow-line broke, allowing three barges to be carried away. These struck upon the shoals and now lie wrecked with their heavy cargoes of wheat either at the head or within the canal. The loss is estimated at $70,000. It has been impossible to ascertain their exact position, or the amount of damage sustained, but the difficulty of reaching them and the swift current, makes it certain that the loss will be heavy. The following are the particulars so far as the Owners, Consignees, Insurances, and quantity of grain involved:—The Utility, Chaffey & Co., about 15,000 bushels, owner unknown; the Argo, Glasgow & Jones, and the Leo, same owners, freighted together with about 21,000 bushels, consigned to Grant & Co., and James McDougall, Montreal. The total insurance of cargoes amounts to about $70,000, American currency, and is held by Western Companies, either at Milwaukee or Chicago.

The Montreal Gazette of yesterday says: Considerable loss and inconvenience has been occasioned in some of our City Mills, by the wreck of the three barges laden with No. 2 Chicago spring, amounting to about 32,000 bushels, while in transit from Kingston to this city; of that quantity only 5,000 bushels will be saved in good condition. These cargoes cannot at present be replaced, except at a very considerable advance upon their cost.

Ritualism.

REPORT OF THE COMMISSION.

The commission upon the ritual of the Church of England have agreed upon the following:—

"To the Queen's Most Excellent Majesty."

Your Majesty having been most graciously pleased to issue a Commission, reciting the differences of practice have arisen from varying interpretations put upon the Rubrics, Orders and Directions for regulating the course and conduct of public worship, the administration of the sacraments, and other services contained in the Book of Common Prayer according to the use of the United Church of England and Ireland, and more especially with reference to the ornaments used in the churches and chapels of the said United Church, and the vestments worn by the ministers thereof, at the time of their ministrations, and that it was expedient that a full and impartial inquiry should be made into the matters aforesaid, with the view of explaining or amending the said Rubrics, Orders, and Directions, and securing the uniformity of practice in such matters as may be deemed essential, and enjoining your commissioners to make diligent inquiry into all and every thing aforesaid, and to report thereupon from time to time as to them, or any ten or more of them who may appear to be most expedient, having regard not only to the said Rubrics, Orders, and Directions contained in the said Book of Common Prayer, but also to any other laws or customs relating to the matters aforesaid, with power to suggest any alterations, improvements, or amendments with respect to such matters, or any of them as they, or any ten or more of them, may think fit to recommend.

"We, your Majesty's Commissioners have, in accordance with the terms of your Majesty's Commission, directed our first attention to the question of the vestments worn by the ministers of the said United Church at the time of their ministrations, and especially to those the use of which has been lately introduced into certain churches.

"We find that while these vestments are regarded by some witnesses as symbolical of doctrine, and by others as a distinctive vesture whereby they desire to do honor to the Holy Communion as the highest act of Christian worship, they are by some regarded as essential, and they give grave offence to many.

"We are of opinion that it is expedient to restrain in the public services of the United Church of England and Ireland all variations in respect of vestment from that which has long been the established usage of the said United Church, and we think that this may be best secured by providing aggrieved parishes with an easy and effectual process of complaint and redress.

"We are not yet prepared to recommend to your Majesty the best mode of giving effect to these conclusions, with a view at once to secure the objects proposed and to preserve the peace of the Church; but we have thought it our duty in a matter to which great interest is attached not to delay the communication to your Majesty of the results at which we have already arrived.

"We have placed in the appendix the evidence of the witnesses examined before us, the documents referred to in the evidence, and produced before the commissioners, the cases laid before us which were submitted to eminent counsel on either side of the question, together with the opinions thereupon, also the report on the subject made by the committee of the lower house of the convocation of the province of Canterbury, and the resolutions passed by the upper, as well as the lower house of that convocation, and the resolutions passed by the convocation of the province of York.

"All which we humbly beg leave to submit to your Majesty.

19th August, 1867."

BELLEVILLE, MONDAY, SEPT. 16.

EXCURSION TO OSWEGO.—The Excursions to Oswego, per the steamer Becker this season, have been well patronized. The last one of the season is advertised for Wednesday, the 18th inst., and as the fare is very low, and the accommodations of the boat superior, we have no doubt there will be a large crowd.

"LONDON SOCIETY" for September has been received by W. C. Hewitt & Co., wholesale agents, Toronto. This number has a poem on the death of Maximilian, with medallion likeness of the Emperor and "poor Carlotta." There is a useful quantum of those stories and sketches of society in which magazine takes the lead.

THE MOUNTED POLICE.—Orders had been received by Col. A. A. Campbell, to disband the Mounted Police at Madoc, to take effect from to-day. But from the representations made to the Executive of Ontario, by some of our leading public men, the order has been withdrawn for the present. Within the next two months there will be several Gold Crushers of the most approved style in operation in the Quinte Gold District, when we will be able to form some what of a correct opinion as to the value of our gold fields, and until these experiments have been thoroughly made, it has been urged that it would be unwise to disband the force. Should these experiments be successful, and we have little doubt but they will, it is altogether likely a portion of the present force will be kept on service, if not the whole.

A NOVEL EDITORIAL EXCURSION.—A number of Western newspaper men propose to make an excursion in October, from Illinois to the Rocky Mountains. This is no common feat, but there will be one hundred and fifty persons in the party; each man will be armed with an English rifle, and a mountain hawker will be mounted upon a platform car, to be ready in case the rifles fail to repel the Indian attacks upon the route; a printing press will be taken along, and a twenty column daily newspaper will be published; the party will subside upon the game killed upon the route. The company will leave Chicago on the 7th of October, and go through to the present terminus of the Union Pacific Railroad—the Platte route—and those who do not stop their neighbors, as Mr. Winkler, in his column, and in gaining excursion, or who do not get shot by roaming savages, will return in two weeks.

THREE MONTHS FOR NOTHING.—LOOK AT THIS OFFER.—The Publishers of the American Agriculturist show their enterprise by offering that valuable journal free for the remaining three months of this year to all new subscribers for 1868. (Vol. 27.) who send in their subscription during this month of September. The cost of the Agriculturist is only $1.50 for a year, or four copies for $5, so that $1.50 (or $1.25 each for four papers) if sent to the publishers this month, will secure the paper for fifteen months. We advise all to make haste to accept this offer. The money could not be better invested, for that paper, at its present subscription price, is one of the cheapest in the world. It is designed for the farm, garden, and household. It has readers almost everywhere, among the old and the young, and not its least recommendation is the fact that the children are delighted with it. Boys and Girls' Department. Each number contains 32 to 44 large, quarto pages, full of interesting and valuable matter for readers both in country and city. Its Engravings are costly and beautiful, and calculated not only to please the eye, but to improve the taste. We have also seen from month to month exposure of the various humbugs and swindling operations of the day, which must have saved tens of thousands of dollars to the treasury. If you send your subscription at once to the Publishers, ORANGE JONES & Co., 41 Park Row, New York City.

Election Intelligence.

WEST DURHAM.—Mr. Blake has been elected by 411 majority, and Mr. McLeod by 806.

NORTH ONTARIO.—Mr. Thompson has been elected by 266 majority over Cameron, and Mr. Paxton by 526 majority.

ADDINGTON.—Mr. Hooper is elected for the Local by a majority of 40, and Mr. Lapin for the Commons by 82 majority.

SOUTH WATERLOO.—Mr. Young has been elected for the Commons by 400 majority, and Mr. Clemens for the Local by about the same majority.

BUSINESS NOTICE.—Parties going west would do well to secure tickets from Toronto west from Mr. R. P. DAVY, agent for Great Western Railway, opposite the market, Belleville, 116-118.

We have been shown to-day the certificate of an assay made by G. D. Wyckoff on the 11th September, the result of which is highly encouraging. The quantity used was 5 pounds of ore, and the yield was: Gold 44 grains, equal to $52; Silver 13 grains, equal to $10.17; altogether producing $62.17 per ton. This ore is from lot number 11, in the 10th concession, Township of Madoc, and the mine is about 19 feet deep. A piece of rock, said to be from the same mine, was also exhibited, in which gold and silver could be seen.

The Provincial Exhibition.

The Provincial Exhibition for Canada commences on Monday next at Kingston, and from all that we learn, it will be materially in advance of that held at Kingston in 1863. The entries thus far in the most important agricultural classes, although somewhat behind the number last year, are large, and the prospect is that the Exhibition on the whole will be one of the most successful ever held. We understand that several of our manufacturers will have specimens of their handiwork at the Exhibition, and in butter, grain, cheese, and other productions, the farmers of this section will be well represented. We do not know whether any steps have been taken to have a collection of minerals from the Hastings district sent to Kingston, but we trust this will not be neglected. If specimens of gold ore, silver ore, lead, iron, copper, marble, and other minerals with which this region abounds, were sent to the Exhibition in charge of a competent person, it could not but be of great advantage, and would, no doubt, attract the attention of capitalists, who will be at Kingston from all parts of the Dominion.

The programme for the Exhibition week is as follows:

1. MONDAY, Sept. 23rd, will be devoted to the awarding of prizes in Fine Arts, and to the final receiving of other articles for exhibition, and their proper arrangement. None but officers and members of the Association, judges, exhibitors, and necessary attendants will be admitted.

2. TUESDAY, 24th.—The Judges in all the classes, except the Fine Arts, will meet in their respective Committee Rooms at 10 a.m., and will make arrangements to commence their duties. On receiving their class books, they will be also furnished with the blank prize tickets, which they shall fill up and affix in each section as soon as they shall have finally determined their awards. The First Prize Tickets will be Red; the second, Blue; the third, Yellow; the fourth, White; the fifth, Green; the "highly commended" and "commended" tickets, White. On completing the class, the judges will report to the Secretary of the proper department. The main exhibition building will be closed all this day, for the purpose of affording the judges an opportunity for discharging their duties properly. No members admitted to the grounds on payment of 25 cents each time.

3. WEDNESDAY, 25th.—The judges of the various classes will complete their awards as early in the day as possible. All the buildings and grounds will be open to visitors. Admission the same as on Tuesday.

4. THURSDAY, 26th.—Admission tickets 25 cents. The President will deliver his address from the Grand Stand at 3 o'clock.

5. FRIDAY, 27th.—The Annual meeting of the Directors of the Association, for the purpose of electing officers, deciding upon the place of holding the next Exhibition, and other business, will take place at 10 a.m., in the Committee Room. At 2 p.m., the Exhibition will be considered officially closed, after which no one will be admitted into the Crystal Palace, and exhibitors may commence to take away their property. Admission the same as on previous days.

6. SATURDAY, 28th.—The Treasurer will commence paying the premiums at 9 a.m.—Exhibitors will remove all their property from the grounds and buildings. The gates will be kept closed as long as necessary, and none will be admitted except those who can show that they have business to attend to.

The Grand Trunk Railway Company with its accustomed liberality will issue return tickets at single fare from all stations, on and after Wednesday, the 18th Sept., and good to return up to Wednesday, the 2nd October. Live stock, and all articles intended for exhibition, will be carried at single rates—freight, and returned free, provided they have not changed owners.

A DIREFUL THREAT! WHAT DOES IT MEAN?—The Halifax Chronicle, a rabid Howie, in its impression of the 28th vents the following:—The rickety union is barely on its legs, and we believe if left to itself will fall of its inherent weakness. But if Canadian journalists or politicians have the slightest desire to preserve the short-lived existence, even if it be for two or three years, it would be well for them to reserve their insults to the people of any section of the Dominion, especially to those of Nova Scotia, for a time at least. We don't say that any amount of soft words will ever take away from the Union the wrath of the people of this Province, but we feel assured that it needs but too little injustice of any kind to drive them to measure for its destruction, of which our brothers of Canada are little aware! There must be something very terrible at the bottom of this.

—The population of San Francisco is now 130,000, an increase of 74,000 in seven years.

—A colony of colored people in Michigan are seeking good farms in Virginia.

—The oyster fishery opened at Prince Edward Island on the 1st inst.

—General Griffin has assumed command at New Orleans, and in his initial order directs that all existing orders will remain in force.

—It has transpired that out of an income of £134,000 a year an English "Friendly" Society has spent £45,864 for working and management.

—It takes two hours to wind up the English Parliament clock. The dial is twenty-two feet in diameter and the hour bell weighs fifteen tons.

—The telegraphic despatches at the Central Station in Paris have increased to such an extent that it is impossible to send them to their destinations by porters. Tubes of iron now connect the office with all the principal hotels, and the despatches are sent on the pneumatic principle.

—The Erie Dispatch says that on Friday afternoon a man got off the train at that place with his two children, ostensibly for the purpose of getting a drink for them. He lingered until the starting of the train, and then jumped on, leaving them to chance on the mercies of strangers.

—It is said that Mr. Oakes Ames has the contract to build the mountain section of the Pacific Railway, some six hundred miles, receiving therefor over $47,000,000. This is the largest single railway contract ever made in this country.

—Recently a huge shark, 16 feet long, was seen in Southampton water. A solitary shark is occasionally met with at the entrance of Southampton water in the summer season, but no one remembers such a large one having been seen before.

The Impending War.

Stocks drop; money cannot be loaned—that is, to such men and on such securities as render morally certain its repayment at short notice—except at very low rates of interest: specie accumulates in the great depositories of the Old World; while business stagnates and labor is threatened with a dull winter—all because able and well informed bankers and capitalists very generally apprehend that next spring, as the furthest, will witness the outbreak of a great European War.

This war is quite likely to open in the East. Greece is eager to get the fray, but can not safely begin it till Russia is ready, and Russia will hardly be ready to strike till another winter shall have passed. That she is resolutely, steadfastly preparing for it is plain enough. Her sale of Walrusia to the Greeks, and of the great railway road connecting her two capitals to foreign banks, are among the means whereby she seeks to recruit her finances. Her railway communications southward have been greatly extended and improved since the Crimean War. Her influence over the Slavonic populations of Bohemia, Galicia and Hungary, as well as over the Greek and Bulgarian peoples of European Turkey, has been systematically increased. Whenever the war shall break out, she knows very well that Greece will be open with her, and that two-thirds of the inhabitants of European Turkey (including Wallachia, Moldavia, Servia, and Montenegro), will heartily desire her success.

It there be no intermeddling Russia will drive the Turkish flag out of Europe in the course of two campaigns. But Austria and France are known to look with jealousy on any extension of Russian power southward, and it is wisely supposed that the recent meeting of their two Emperors at Salzburg had reference to this matter. Suppose, then, that Napoleon and Francis Joseph should unite in saying to Alexander, "You must not cross the Danube; we cannot allow you to seize Constantinople" what then?

Prussia—today the most formidable military power of Europe—is understood to be in secret alliance with Russia, and ready to say, whenever the occasion shall be presented, "If Russia is assailed from the West, the quarrel is mine." And, should France actually throw her sword into the scale, it is even hoped that Italy will make common cause with Prussia and Russia.

In that case the war will be practically one between the Mohammedan, allied with the Catholic, and the non-Catholic powers for Italy, owing to the stubborn resistance of the Papacy to her unity and nationality, is substantially Protestant in her political sympathies. Spain will be in sympathy with France and Austria, though unable to render them any real assistance. England leans to the Turkish side, but will not engage in the war. Denmark may be drawn into the French alliance, in the hope of recovering her lost German Provinces. Sweden will remain neutral. Of the South American States, only Mexico may side with Austria; Baden with Prussia. On the whole, the parties will be pretty equally matched, but the finances of Russia, though hardly in a flourishing condition, are in a far better state than those of Turkey; while Prussia is in this, as in every other respect, more than a match for Austria. France, if she should enter the lists, will have to open her purse to her needy and thrifless allies. How she proposes to make the contest pay is not apparent to the disinterested; but Prussia's recent aggrandizement and her misadventure in Mexico have made Napoleon exceedingly sore, and he is evidently bent on restoring his damaged prestige, at whatever risk or cost. The greater Napoleon fought himself back from the Elbe to the Seine, and so to Elba and St. Helena, because he "could not sit on a wretched throne." His successor may follow his example rather than profit by his lesson.

New York Tribune.

LONDON, Sept. 14.—A telegram from Bombay announces that the first steamer of the Abyssinian expedition has sailed for Abyssinia to explore the coast and find a suitable place for a landing. The steamer chartered by Government have already sailed from England for India, where they will be made to transport troops and munitions of war to Abyssinia.

LIVERPOOL, Sept. 14, noon.—Papers and other articles recognized as belonging to the Barque Ench Bonner, were recently picked up off Cape Clear. She sailed from here on August 23rd for Boston. It is feared she has been lost with all on board.

BERLIN, Sept. 14.—The King of Prussia has addressed an autograph letter to the Emperor and Empress of the French, wishing them to meet him and the other sovereigns of the North man States at some city in Germany hereafter to be determined.

FLORENCE, Sept. 14.—Many arrests of dangerous suspected persons have been made by the Papal authorities at Viterbo, near the frontier of the Roman territory.

MARSEILLE, Sept. 14.—A despatch from Alexandria reports that Ismail Pasha, Viceroy of Egypt, has arrived there, and was received with great rejoicings by his subjects.

MOSCOW, Sept. 13.—The Gazette in a leading article this morning pays a high tribute to the United States for its course on the Oregon question, as exemplified by the recent resolutions of Congress, and regards the example of America as the beginning of a more healthy condition of affairs in Europe.

VIENNA, Sept. 14.—Count Frankenstein has been appointed Minister to Washington.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Sept. 14.—A frigate from the Sublime Porte, granting a general amnesty to the Greek insurgents in Candia, has just been officially promulgated. The Turkish Government has concluded not to send to Candia, as was proposed, a mixed commission consisting of Ottoman and Greek members, to inquire into and report upon the grievances of the Cretans.

BERLIN, Sept. 14, evening.—The selection of a President for the North German Parliament has not yet been made, but it is generally believed that Professor Simpson, who presided over the last Parliament, will be chosen.

PARIS, Sept. 15.—The fortifications of Strasbourg are to be extended and strengthened.

FLORENCE, Sept. 15.—The Italian Government threatens to commence proceedings against Garibaldi if he persists in preparations for a hostile attack upon Rome.

LISBON, Sept. 15.—The mail steamer from Rio Janeiro has arrived. She brings intelligence that the allied South American forces have gained some recent advantages over the Paraguayans. Just before the steamer left the army reached Rio Janeiro that the allies had captured Colombia and seriously threatened the strongly fortified position of the Paraguayans at Humaita.

SOUTHAMPTON, Sept. 16, noon.—The steamer Union has arrived from New York.

QUEENSTOWN, Sept. 16, noon.—The steamer Tripp, from New York, has arrived.

LONDON, Sept. 16, noon.—The steamer Nova Scotia, from Quebec, has arrived.

LONDON, September 16, noon.—Consols 94½; Erie 44½; S. & O. 73½; 107½.

LIVERPOOL, Sept. 16, noon.—Cotton quiet and steady, middling Upland 94½ do. Orleans 94½. Corn 37s 3d. Other markets unchanged.

LONDON, September 16, 2 P.M.—American securities generally quiet; Great Western 2½.

LIVERPOOL, September 16, 3 P.M.—Cotton more active; sales 12,000 bales. Breadstuffs quiet. Beef declined 2s 6d. Cheese advanced 6d. Common Hops advanced 3d. Other articles unchanged.

American Despatches.

NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—When the Brenna steamer Deutschland was firing her usual gun on her arrival at day, it burst, killing one seaman and one teenage passenger.

The Herald's letters recording events in the theatre of war in the Argentine, are dated Rio Janeiro August 8, and Buenos Ayres, July 27. The Brazilian detachment which entered Malto, had returned to their base of operations after enduring frightful hardships, being beaten by small bands of the enemy at all points, and threatened with starvation, having lost their cattle. They were attacked by cholera, losing all their guides and the principal officers in command, and after contending against these obstacles for twenty days, they reached their base only to find their huts in flames. San Salvo had been fully fortified by the Paraguayans and the objective point of the allies at present.

Oswego's advance on the Chagrasa flank had been brilliantly executed. Another large fire had broken out among the Government buildings at Buenos Ayres.

CINCINNATI, Sept. 15.—A fire last night on Sixth street destroyed property to the amount of four hundred thousand dollars. Three firemen were seriously injured.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 14.—The steamship Colorado, from Hong Kong, arrived this morning with 370 passengers and 1,000 tons freight. Her dates from Yokohama are to the 22nd of August. The Japanese authorities had arrested sixty-three native Christians. One American and two Englishmen had been murdered by the Japanese at Nagasaki. The French men-of-war have gone there to investigate.

NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—The steamship City of London, from Liverpool, has arrived.

—Mr. Bonner of New York writes to the Tribune that he once gave Charles Dickens $5,000 for a story of three numbers, and that the American people paid $100,000 for the work.

GENTLEMEN—We beg to advise having admitted Mr. John C. Moore, of Halifax, as partner in our firm and have opened a Branch of our Business in the City where it will be our aim to serve our friends in Canada to the utmost of our power in the attaining the best possible rates for Consignments, the extension of the manufacturing interests to the Lower Provinces, the importing thence on Commission their Fish, Oils, &c., and the dissemination of correct and unbiased information respecting the market.

On Consignments to Halifax, as well as to Montreal, we will as heretofore make liberal advances against shipments, and drafts may in all cases be made in full credit of Consigners either on Montreal or Halifax.

The season being now at hand when the Cheese and Butter in the country must be marketed, we have the opportunity of tendering our services for its sale here, or at either of the Principal points in the Lower Provinces or Great Britain, where we have first-class retailing establishments, and will do the very best that can possibly be done with consignments, cash advances on which will be made by us here when required.

Hypocrisy and Candor

Tom says he always tells the truth,
Though an unpleasant duty,
While Jack, a less punctilious youth,
Would praise a Satyr's beauty.

But somehow, when you hear them both
Their different manners trying,
You take Jack's praises, nothing loth,
And hope that Tom is lying.

You know that Jack is not sincere,
While Tom is full of virtue;
But one can sometimes please your ear
The other's sure to hurt you.

Jack's ready lie has such success,
'Twill please you though you doubt.
Tom never tells the truth, unless You'd rather be without it.

Falsehood a paltry vice may be,
Plain-speaking may be grander,
But, though I hate hypocrisy,
I loathe too fulsome candor.

BROWN'S FOUNDRY

MACHINE SHOP,

FRONT STREET, BELLEVILLE.

G. & J. BROWN.

Founders and Machinists,

RESPECTFULLY inform the public that they are still manufacturing

All kinds of Machinery,

In connection with

FLOUR, GRIST, SAW AND OTHER

MILL FURNISHINGS, &c. &c.

Portable and Stationary Steam Engines of any capacity, Engines and Wood Lathes,

Iron and Wood Patterns, Shingle Machines

of various patterns; also, Agricultural Implements of the most improved style and make. Their Horse Powers and Thrashing Machines, with or without cleaners, are unsurpassed.

Brown's Ploughs are admitted to be of the most improved style and manufacture.

They consist of some fifty different patterns, and their celebrated STEEL PLOUGH is the best in the country.

Amongst their other manufactures may be enumerated: Harvesting, Cultivating,

Harrows, Clod Crushers, Corn and Drill

Ploughs, Seed Sowers, Rollers, Straw Cutters and Stump Machines, and improved

Grain Grinders and Mills.

In the Stove Department

They are unequalled. They continue to manufacture Box, Parlor and Cooking Stoves

of various descriptions, and their improved

"Northern Farmer" Cooking Stove is with-remains of Sir Frederick Bruce. The exercises were brief and impressive. The church was quite full, including members of the British Legion, the Free British Mutual Benefit Society, from Canada, Foreign Consulate, Mayor and City Council of Boston, and many distinguished representatives. The bells of the city were tolled during the exercises. The remains were deposited under the church to await the arrival of the British war steamer "Garret," which has been ordered to convey the body to England.

Changeable weather produces Colds, which, though they do not necessarily result in complaint, do the system great harm. If you have a Cold, cure it, do not let it run till its past cure. Perry Davis' Pain Killer is the surest remedy.

To the Millers, Manufacturers, Produce Dealers, and Tanners of Canada.
GENTLEMEN—We beg to advise having admitted Mr. John C. Moore, of Halifax, as partner in our firm and have opened a Branch of our Business in that City, where it will be our aim to serve our friends in Canada to the utmost of our power in the attaining the best possible rates for Consignments, the extension of the manufacturing interests to the Lower Provinces, the importation of licenses on Commission their Fish, Oils, &c., and the classification of correct and unbiased information respecting the market.
On Consignment to Halifax, as well as to Montreal, we will as heretofore make liberal advances against shipments, and drafts may in all cases be made at the option of Consigners either on Montreal or Halifax.
The season being now at hand when the Cheese and Butter in the country must be marketed, we take this opportunity of tendering our services for its sale, to be at either of the Principal points in the Lower Provinces or Great Britain, where we have first-class reliable correspondents who will do the very best that can possibly be done with consignments, cash advances on which will be made by us here when required.
KIRKWOOD, LIVINGSTONE & Co., Commission Merchants, 112-124 Collin's Wharf, Halifax.

The Yellow Fever.

FRUITFUL HARVEST OF THE DISEASE IN GALVESTON—THE CITY BROODING DREAD—OVER NINE HUNDRED DEATHS—DEBARTHED HYGIENE—CLOSED STORES AND GENERAL GRIEF.

GALVESTON, Sept. 9, 1897.

The yellow fever which has been raging here since July 1, 1897 (see page 1), is decimating speedily and epidemically, is decimating our city. Its victims are mostly the unfortunates, the interlopers, the hangers-on, the number of deaths to date since commencement (24th July), reaches nine hundred, mostly Northern and Western people, seamen, and officers and employees, civil and military, of the United States, bookkeepers and clerks, brought here to die by the hundred from the larger Northern, Western and Eastern cities; members of Northern, Western and foreign firms and business houses, one third of whom, some with large stocks of goods, are now closed on account of employees and employees having been summoned by "Yellow Jack" to their long and narrow houses in the graveyard. The Jews have suffered most in proportion to their number. This month, on account of its sudden weather changes and equinoctial storms, will prove the most fatal, from the end of which it will begin to abate until the first black frost in November or December kills the miasma and rid us of our fearful visitor.

The type of disease is malignant. Several of our best physicians, among them Drs. Rowe, Taylor, &c., of the United States Army, Drs. Hanna and Gantt, of the Galveston Medical College, and the late Dr. Williams, and are in their graves. Others of the profession are now down with it. The streets are nearly deserted; business is at a standstill. The Jews have suffered most in proportion to their number. This month, on account of its sudden weather changes and equinoctial storms, will prove the most fatal, from the end of which it will begin to abate until the first black frost in November or December kills the miasma and rid us of our fearful visitor.

REMAINING ELECTIONS.—In the Lower Province, or Province of Quebec, there are yet two elections to be held, that for Gaspé, and that for the county of St. John. The Kamouriscoti election will take place in the latter part of the month, in consequence of riots there on the day of nomination.

NOVEL MARRIAGE.—An amorous pair, whose names we could not report, were joined together in holy matrimony on Monday morning, on the train going East. They got on the cars at Gaspé, and, whether it was by pre-arrangement or otherwise, a clergyman—the Rev. Mr. Sullivan—was found prepared to nuptiate them, which he accordingly did, about half an hour West of Belleville. What next?

CATTLE THIEVES.—A gang of this class of gentry are playing their unlawful vocation with great success in the Gore of London, cattle and sheep are disappearing with alarming rapidity. A strict watch on the part of the farmers may have the effect of capturing the guilty parties, and handing them over to the officers of justice. A few years in the penitentiary would go a long way towards curing them of their dishonest practices.

THE CROPS IN GREAT BRITAIN.—We are glad to learn that the report of a poor harvest in Great Britain was incorrect, the fact being that the grain crop will be considerably greater than that of last year. There will, however, be a deficiency in the wheat crop, both in quantity and quality, but the yield of barley and oats has been exceedingly good. In Ireland the crops have been moderately good, the yield of potatoes being unusually large, and if the weather has been fine in that country during the past week the largest crop of potatoes which has been seen in Ireland for some years has been gathered in.

NORTH HASTINGS.—The Morning Star, in speaking of the election in North Hastings, says: "We are very much pleased to find our esteemed friend, Mr. B. W. Bell, Editor of the Belleville Intelligencer, elected as the representative of this constituency in the House of Commons. He has been returned by the handsome majority of 293 over Mr. T. C. Wallbridge, the late member. At the close of the election there were great rejoicings. Bonfires were lighted, the member elected through the streets of Belleville and Stirling by hand, and carried on the shoulders of the people; bands of music accompanied the procession, and rejoicings were kept up until after midnight. The candidates in favor of the Government carried all before them in the three ridings of Hastings.

THE NEW DOMESTIC MONTHLY.—The number of the New Domestic Monthly, which is the first of the volume, presents a rich bill of fare as the August or September number, which was so well received by the press of Canada. We particularly call attention to an article on the Tides of the Forests in Autumn, by the late admiral of nature, Mr. Thomas. Also, an excellent list of forerunners, entitled, "Dance of the Home." The "Old Man's Story" is a remarkably lively sketch entitled, "Three Bunches of Beads," by Mrs. Campbell, of Quebec, which conveys an admirable lesson to parents to treat children justly. Mrs. Harriet H. Stone's article on Household Fairies is worth the whole of the magazine. The Music and Poetry in this number are very fine; and indeed, all the contents, which are very varied, are deeply interesting, and may be welcomed to the family circle with confidence. Canada should surely support this interesting Magazine, which only costs one dollar per annum. The publishers are John Douglas & Son, Montreal.

The Result of the Elections.

The result of the elections can scarcely be overestimated until Parliament meets, and the Ministry develops its policy. In the meantime one thing is certain, and that is, that the George Brown party has been beaten by a large majority, and that instead of that gentleman having Ontario at his feet, the electors have taught him the important lesson that he is their servant, and not he their master. To the lover of his country this is truly gratifying, showing that faction for faction sake, will no longer be tolerated by the people. Let us hope that the great agitator will profit by it, though it is hoped against hope, for the Globe continues its diatribes against men as venacious as, ever, and never ceases its attacks upon its opponents. The only drop of comfort it seems to have is the anti-union successes of Joe Howe, and it would be cruel to deprive it of that.

While the Globe occupies columns in accounting for the result of the recent election, other journalists up the whole thing in a few lines, as follows:

Majority for the Government, 71
In the House of Assembly for the Province of Ontario, the strength of the parties, as nearly as can be ascertained, is as follows:

Opposition, 72
Majority for the Government, 32

There are many who are termed oppositionists, which implies in the above analysis anti-Union, who are as thorough Union men as any in the Province, but object to a Coalition Government under any circumstances.

There is a better classification, which would be Ministerial and Oppositionist. We have no fear for the Union, even from the Opposition. The Union is an accomplished fact, and it now becomes the duty of all to work it out in the most economical way.

Opposition Revenge.

The Grits or Factionists of London, do not appear to have taken the defeat of their party in the Province of Ontario and elsewhere very good naturedly, for in their rejoicings at the success of Mr. McKellar and his colleagues in Ottawa, they became infuriated and insulted and abused every prominent man who opposed them, from the Minister of the Crown, down to their supporters. Strange to say, the Globe and papers of that ilk, in noticing these demonstrations of ill-feeling and badgering, rather approved of it than otherwise.

A good deal of latitude is allowed at times of election, for an exhibition of feeling, but it is seldom that we find a defeated opponent, as was Mr. Glass, in London, when the jubilant party were waiting for their victorious candidates on the 20th inst. A contemporary says:

"The Opposition party in London behaved in a most outrageous manner, and conducted themselves in such a way that a serious riot might have ensued. Upon the arrival of the train from the West, about eleven o'clock at night, Hon. Mr. Carling and others were met by about seven hundred people, among whom were some prominent citizens, and men who were aspired to be their representatives in Parliament. Many were carrying torchlights. Upon getting out of the train, the gentlemen were looked at, yelled upon, and buffeted. Bricks were thrown, and one gentleman's face was burned by a torch being thrust into it. They were then followed to Richmond street by the mob, who offered them insults at every step, using language of a violent and provoking nature towards them. Finding that Mr. Glass had made a rash attempt to determine to meet him, the mob returned to the Great Western Railway station to await the next train from London. At 12 o'clock the night mail train came in, bringing Mr. Glass, Mr. Elliott, Mr. James Johnson, Mr. Rufus Stephenson, of Chatham, and others. As soon as Mr. Glass appeared, a rush was made, the torch-bearers made a rush towards the platform, followed by the mob, whose hootings and growlings could be heard several blocks distant. On reaching the platform, Mr. Glass was surrounded by a mob, who offered to take refuge in it from his pursuers, who threatened personal violence. He remained there for hours, not daring to leave. Meantime the crowd returned to London's railway station and there assembled in all sorts of groaning, hooting, and hissing the Union men at each other. Mr. Stephenson was present and soon attracted attention, on his leaving they obstructed his progress and continued yelling, they followed him on the way out and jostled against him. He was accompanied by a friend, and the crowd would not let him go. He was with violence. In the early part of the night, the Free Press office received a shower of eggs, and a general spirit of rowdiness prevailed. The Union party has, throughout the recent election, behaved in a most forbearing and conciliatory manner, and the outbreak of malignant feeling, as unprovoked as it was disgraceful. The feeling this morning amongst the respectable inhabitants is one of just indignation."

South Hastings Fair.

The Fair and Cattle Show for the South Riding of Hastings will be held in Belleville on Thursday, October 3rd. We trust our farmers and manufacturers will not be sparing of their articles, but that they will individually and collectively lend their aid to make it one of the best Fairs ever held in the County. Let every member bring something to exhibit, and the show will be a success. The Floral Hall has never presented that appearance which might have done had the people of the Town and County performed their duty. Let us hope that at the coming Fair we shall present to the spectator a Hall worthy the people. The Hall should be open a day or two before the Fair, so as to enable exhibitors to arrange their articles properly, and at their leisure. So long as everything has to be crowded into the room, and all the work done on the day of exhibition, just so long will it be a failure, and the sooner a change is made the better for the Society. There is another point to which we desire to call the attention of the Directors, and that is, to provide ample protection for fruit and other articles, which have, at previous shows, suffered from the handling and cribbing of those whose appetite has been whetted while gazing upon them. To insure a good show, this protection is absolutely necessary, and we have every reason to believe that ample provision will be made, so that exhibitors may rest assured whatever they bring they will be enabled to preserve.

We understand that Professor Buckland will be present, and deliver a lecture on some agricultural subject. This should be an incentive to our agriculturists to make the show of 1897 the best that has ever been held.

Editorial Summary.

Nearly every railroad in the Province shows an improvement compared with returns for last year. The gross total for August, 1897, is $818,103, compared with $759,818 last year.

Recent experiments prove, so a Havana paper says, that the leaf of the potato is a perfect substitute for tobacco. Then we shall soon have cigars of "Mereef-killer" and "Pinkey-wrappers."

Chicago appears to have plenty of young men out of employment, as was evinced the other day, when a merchant advertised for a book-keeper, and received between sixty and seventy applications within twenty-four hours.

It seems probable that a new system of telegraph construction will soon be adopted generally in England. The wires are to be laid side by side in tubes buried under the bed of a railway, each being separately insulated in a very simple manner.

It is said that all the ferry boats running to and from New York City have a anchor, which is very carefully strapped up. There is not an ounce of cable upon any one of them, and the ferry boats could make an entire trip while the crew were unstrapping the anchor.

The Quebec Chronicle says: The troopship Himalaya, which was to have sailed from Malta on the 4th inst., with the four Rife on board, for this port, is said to have been detained at the island, from the prevalence of Asiatic cholera.

A Western paper on the line of the proposed route, says that the railway between Guelph and Georgian Bay will likely be commenced early next spring. The Intercolonial and other projected roads will place a large amount of money in circulation next year, and a prosperous era may be expected.

The St. Louis Herald says: The company has given notice in the Canada Gazette that it will apply for act of Incorporation at the next session of the Quebec Legislature. This is the company which proposes to dam the Lacine Rapids, and carry out a work which will tend to make Montreal the greatest manufacturing centre on the continent.

All the London papers received by last mail, concur in stating that a great demand had set in for Canadian Government securities. An advance had taken place in all descriptions, and the market was decidedly "firm." The Times of the 5th says that the Intercolonial Railway has a £2,000,000 worth of "very shortly" expected in the market, and the rumor had created a depressing influence on "Change."

We have a bundle of crop reports from Lower Canada before us, and come to the following conclusions: The crop will be a full average. Buckwheat has failed on the North shore especially, owing to frost. Wheat, even late in the spring is this year all but worthless. Oats on the whole will yield largely. Between Montreal and Quebec the wheat and barley crops will be above the average. Canada has reason to rejoice at the prospects.

The Kingston Murder.

FURTHER PARTICULARS.

(Correspondence of the Toronto Telegraph.)

KINGSTON, Sept. 31.

The fourth murder, giving his name as Alex. Gemmell, son of a shoemaker in Toronto. He was arrested yesterday twelve and a half miles from Watertown, by Constable of the American Railway, police, and found asleep behind a hemlock tree in the woods. Messrs. Knoch and Myrick had been in pursuit, but the former saw Gemmell while passing the tree. The prisoner was very much fatigued, and sound asleep. He had $38 in his boots and $3 in his vest, and the balance in a bill in a bag. The money is identified as being from the brewery. When he was awakened, he said, "What do you want with me?" Knoch said, "You're looking for you all night." He came quietly along with the policeman, and was lodged in jail. He says that he saw his companions arrested on Sunday, and admits that he is one of the murderers, saying, "If anybody is murdered I'm innocent." Gemmell offered to provide the money with the police when arrested.

LATER.

This morning Gemmell was taken before Mr. O'Reilly, Q.C., who has been most indefatigable in his exertions to work up the case. Gemmell is a man making a full confession, in which he admits being with the burglars, and says that he saw Saxe Allan kill the man Driscoll by striking him with an iron bar while the constable was in the room, and Gemmell said, "Don't do that."

The confession, when it is reduced to writing, will be most startling, and show what desperate characters they are. Gemmell says the money was hid on Wolfe Island, and accordingly Mr. O'Reilly, the Police Magistrate, your reporter and Officer Nugent, with the prisoner Gemmell, went over to a tug and found fifteen hundred dollars in an old log on Baker's farm; $300 dollars was stolen altogether, and $1,000 has turned up. Gemmell is in a bad state of mind, but think he is all right by turning Queen's evidence.

(From the Daily News.)

Jones and Howard, who were arrested on Sunday, had each a six shooter on their person. One barrel of each had been discharged. The name of the man who fired the shot was Adams, said to be William Allen; he is well known in this city, where he had formerly resided, and resided in the nick-nack "Saxie." He is a dark-complexioned man, the others are one short stout man, the other slightly built, and none of them, including Latch, is under twenty years of age. The information derived from one of the party, who went over to Wolfe Island in pursuit on Sunday, as to one of them being a mere lad was in error, derived from a casual informant on the island.

THE INQUEST.

The prisoners were brought from the goal to the Council Chamber, where they adjourned inquest was held, shortly after nine o'clock and lasted the afternoon. The prisoner Latch was brought in at a later hour.

The inquest was resumed at half-past nine, the excitement still existing in the city being proved by the large crowd of persons who were sent to obtain admittance to the jury room as soon as the doors were opened. A great number had to be denied admittance, owing to the small space allotted to the public.

The Coroner having asked for the names of the prisoners, they were given as Wm. Howard, C. E. Adams, and Edward Jones. Latch's name was given as Alexander Gemmell.

The Coroner then stated to the jury, that he was under the necessity of adjourning the inquest until three o'clock, "something having turned up of which he was not aware when they met in the morning."

The adjournment took place at eleven, at which time it was understood that Gemmell had turned Queen's evidence, which would give a different feature to the examination.

The Irish Constabulary.

On the 8th instant, at the constabulary depot, Phoenix Park, Dublin, those officers and men belonging to the Irish constabulary, who distinguished themselves by their undaunted bravery and unswerving loyalty, on occasion of the late Fenian insurrection in Ireland, were presented with medals, decorations and rewards by the Marquis of Abercorn, Lord Lieutenant of Ireland.

The Marchioness of Abercorn, as each man presented himself, affixed the medal and decoration upon his breast.

His Excellency, having delivered a well merited eulogy upon the corps, said: "I am now authorized to inform you that, as a proof of Her Majesty's satisfaction at the gallant and loyal conduct of the Irish constabulary, the Queen has been graciously pleased to command that in future they shall be styled 'The Royal Irish Constabulary,' and that they shall be entitled to wear the Harp and Crown as badges of the force."

Changeable weather produces Colds, which, though they do not necessarily result in consumption, do, in some great number. If you have a Cold, cure it, do not let it run till its past cure. Perry Davis' Pain Killer is the sure remedy.

CONFEDERATE BONDS.—The purchase of a million of eight per cent. Confederate bonds by a broker in New Orleans, to fill an order from Europe, has given rise to a suspicion that these bonds will turn up in the arms of the secessionists in Alabama and other claims between the United States and the Government of Great Britain and France, if the latter should take the ground, which the United States has refused to do, that the United States have never been at war with the Confederacy, and as a corollary that the present Government is responsible for the change, which they have committed.

Telegraphic News.

BY ATLANTIC CABLE.

ROME, Sept. 31.—Garibaldi was engaged in preparing his plan of an invasion of the Papal States, which commences the idea of an immediate march from Rome, from which, if successful, the Eternal City will be proclaimed the capital of united Italy by the leader of the party of action. His intentions and designs were made known to his adherents, and consequently to the King's Government in this city, by the distribution among the revolutionists of a very inflammatory address, dated and issued the 2nd instant. The press organs revolutionary sheet placed King Victor Emmanuel in a difficult position. By the recent convention with France, under which the French troops evacuated Rome, he is bound to maintain the Papal territory free from filibustering expeditions coming from Italy, even at the expense of offending his progressive friends among the people. The King has executed his treaty obligations with fidelity. He replied to Garibaldi's address by a royal proclamation, circulated on Sunday, in which he denounced the Garibaldian movement, cautioned his subjects against aiding or taking part in it, and declared his resolve to resist and severely punish any of his people who should be guilty, as well as others arrested on the soil of Italy engaged in a crime against the laws of nations. By virtue of this proclamation Garibaldi has been arrested, and from this act may ensue the settlement of the long vexed Italian-Roman and Papal territorial questions.

The arrest of the General will produce very considerable excitement, although his practice has been somewhat tarnished in the eyes of the people by the report of his proceedings at the Geneva Peace Congress. The Italian Cabinet, under the premiership of Bissolati, is determined to prevent the invasion of the Papal territory by the Garibaldians, or part of action, and also to preserve from violation the articles of the Convention of September 18th with France, and the other treaties guaranteeing, or which may be held to guarantee, the integrity of the Papal dominion, as at present constituted.

Gen. Garibaldi in pursuance of his plans against Rome, was on Monday last at Bologna, a fortified report of Central Italy, sixteen miles north west of Ancona. Here the general was summoned by Italian authority and by virtue of the King's name, &c., to refrain his steps. Garibaldi at once refused, and was immediately arrested by officers of the crown, and conveyed to the fortress of Alessandria.

The arms and war munitions intended for the Garibaldian troops were allowed on the frontier. The Italian volunteers who formed the Garibaldian ranks were also made prisoners. Intense excitement prevails in the city.

Rome, Sept. 31.—The Eternal City is greatly excited by the important events which are transpiring in Italy. The Papal troops, including the famous, Antilles legion, which many Romans regard as a French force in reality, and which caused by its presence, the recent military mission of Gen. Dumont from Paris to Rome, are very active and on the alert everywhere.

Paris, Sept. 31, p.m.—The city is excited to a great degree by the publication of the news of Garibaldi's arrest, and the present frustration of the revolutionary advance on Rome.

Toronto, Sept. 31.—A number of French transports and war vessels are already assembled at the naval station under orders of the Minister of Marine, ready for the duty of commanding a force of Imperial troops, and conveying them to Italy to the aid of the King's Government in its action against the revolutionists.

London, Sept. 31.—The ship Ariel, one of the Chinese fleet, arrived today. She beat the Triping, which was the first ship out, having left Shanghai 9 days after the departure of the latter.

London, Sept. 31.—It is considered quite probable that Parliament will reassemble in November.

Manchester, Sept. 31.—Arrests of alleged rioters are still being made here by the police.

London, Sept. 31.—It is rumored that Kelly and Deasy sailed from Liverpool on one of the Atlantic steamers for the United States, on Saturday. A special commission is to be appointed, and will consist of a Member of Parliament, to try the cases of the parties now in jail there, on the charge of taking part in the riot last week.

An unfortunate conflict occurred in the street of Limerick yesterday, between the people and the Royal troops. The latter fired bayonets and charged upon the crowd, 8 persons are reported wounded and 1 man killed. The capture of the troops is condemned.

Dublin, Sept. 31.—A report has reached here from the south of Ireland that a suspicious-looking craft, supposed to be a Fenian vessel, has been cruising off the coast of Kerry.

Florence, Sept. 31.—The Roman Government is taking precautionary steps to guard against an attack from without, or a sudden rising within the city. All the Pontifical troops are being withdrawn from outlying points in the Province, and concentrated in and around the city of Rome.

Florence, Sept. 31.—The Government is sending troops to the frontier of the Roman territory. Despatches from Rome state that many arrests have been made there of parties suspected of being in correspondence with Garibaldi and his followers.

Florence, Sept. 31.—Garibaldi has been arrested by the Italian Government. He was taken prisoner while on his way to the Roman frontier.

Paris, Sept. 31, evening.—Troops have left France for Rome.

Berlin, Sept. 31, evening.—In the North-German Parliament to-day, during the debate on the address of the King of Prussia, Count

Von Bismarck made a patriotic speech. He declared that if the German nation wished to unite, there was no power strong enough to hinder the Union; nor was there any power either enough to make the attempt.

BERLIN, Sept. 23.—The North German Gazette, the reputed organ of Count von Bismarck, says the South German States are now free to join the Confederation of the North, and make Germany one nation.

BERLIN, Sept. 24.—The Prussian Diet was dissolved yesterday. It will meet again in November, when it will include among its members, deputies elected from the States which have been annexed to Prussia.

LONDON, Sept. 24.—It is reported that the Emperor of Russia has refused a proffer of alliance made by the Sublime Porte, and that he is now seeking an alliance between Russia and France.

LONDON, Sept. 24.—Late advices from China state the market for tea quiet. The total amount of tea exported this season up to the 29th of August, was 69,000,000 pounds.

The New Member for Kent.

The recent election in the County of Kent, Ontario, resulted in the choice of Rufus Stephenson to represent that constituency in the House of Commons, the highest elective branch of the Canadian Parliament, by a majority of 97. His opponent was Archibald McKellar, a very popular man and a gentleman who for ten years previously had represented that county. Mr. Stephenson is the editor and proprietor of the Chatham Planet, probably the youngest man ever elected to the Canadian Parliament, and will make one of the best legislators for the Province. He is a good debater, a fluent speaker, and is a man of sound judgment and great discrimination. Taking into consideration his years, and the fact that he defeated a strong man in a county that was always gone overwhelmingly in favor of a "Clear Cut" candidate, the victory is one of the greatest that ever took place in Canada. Mr. Stephenson is a practical printer, and we remember years ago, when we were "devil" in the old Kent Advertiser office that he came there and assumed the foremanship of the office. He gradually rose to prominence, became a partner in the Planet office, then editor and sole proprietor. He always exhibited a progressive spirit, and was always foremost in any enterprising movement that promised to improve his own prospects in life or those of his fellow citizens. Two years ago last January he was elected Mayor of Chatham, and twelve months later was re-elected by acclamation to the same position, after having passed through the various gradations necessary in the town government, to attain that position. He has filled the office with fidelity, honesty and ability ever since, and unless something unforeseen happens, he will be found as long as he fills his constituents in the House of Commons, where he now goes. If Canada could have a few more just men as Mr. Stephenson in her Legislative Halls, it might prove her salvation.—Detroit Tribune.

Another New Breach-Loader.

Twenty rounds a minute—the snider supplied.

The Military intelligence column of the Times, of the 11th inst., contains the following interesting paragraph:

The new Carter and Edwards breech-loading rifle, which was a few days ago tested in the Woolwich Marsh, by Lieut. Lockey, masonry instructor to the Woolwich division of Royal Marines, in competition with the Government Snider rifle, was again tried yesterday by Sergeant R.M., in order to notify, for the information of the authorities, its correct rate of rapidity of fire. This was also exceedingly satisfactory, the result being 100 rounds of rapid firing in five minutes. When each charge was withdrawn, it was remarked that the rifle immediately stood at full cock, in readiness for successive fire, without the necessity of further manipulation. Sergeant R.M. afterwards made it apparent that by simply disconnecting the bolt, which has a needle through the centre, and to which the lock is attached, the weapon, should it be mishap fall into the enemy's hands during an engagement, could be rendered totally useless. There is no complication of machinery, the only parts being the rear and main springs. The rifle is spoken of as being admirably adapted for the service, and is suited for the new Snider ammunition.

A Frenchman, a stranger in New York, stopped a lad in the street and politely asked: "Mon friend, what's the name of this street?"

"Well, who said it wasn't?" replied the boy.

"What's the name of this street?"

"If you call me do!"

"Paradise? I have not so name; what's you call him?"

"Yes, Watts, we call it."

"Zis street?"

"Watts street, old fellow; and don't you try to make game of me."

"Sure mon de Dieu! I ask you one, two, three several times, and you tell me the name of zis street, eh?"

"Watts street, I tell you. Your drunk, isn't you?"

"Mon little fren, ven you live, eh?"

"In Vandam street."

"Eh? You live in that street, and you is von d—d fool!" And they parted, entertaining a high opinion of each other's politeness.

A MAN ATTEMPTS THE MURDER OF HIS WIFE, AND THEN COMITS SUICIDE.—On Tuesday afternoon, a man named Thomas French attempted to murder his wife and child, but failing, he put a revolver to his mouth and blew his brains out. He had been living separate from his wife for several months, and went to the house yesterday for the purpose of seeking a reconciliation. His wife, however, refused to have anything to do with him, and told him to leave the house. He then drew a revolver and fired it at her and her child, without injuring them. They ran from the house, and in a few moments another report was heard, and on entering the house French was found dead, he having blown his brains out.

An Italian author is soon to publish the memoirs of Judas, presumably Iscariot.

An auctioneer in Washington, to sharpen up his bladders, put up greenbacks for sale. A twenty dollar note brought $10.90, and a five dollar bill $4.05. Not much profit on such a sacrifice.

Quick Passage Across the Atlantic.—The steamship Java has made the fastest passage across the Atlantic on record. She left Boston on the 29th ult., at 9:55 A. M., and arrived at Halifax at 3:51 P. M. M. and arrived at Halifax at 3:51 P. M. Having delayed six hours here, to take passengers and mail, she left at 8:30 P. M., and arrived on the Rochemont, Queenstown, at 5 P. M. on the 5th inst. This makes the total occupancy on the voyage between Boston and Queenstown (allowing 10 hours for difference of time and delay at the former place) 6 days 21 hours. Her average was 10.5 miles, 328 miles; the Sept. 31st: 24, 319; 30, 336; 4th, 348; 5th, 306.

A Bishop's Dilemma.—The Bishop of Amiens, on the occasion of the imperial visit, published an ordinance directing that permission should be given to the use of animal food at all meals on that day. Nothing less than the most imperious considerations could have decided the right reverend prelate to such a course, as the Church does not set aside prescriptions as to fasting even on obligatory festivals, with the exception of Christmas, when that day falls on Friday.

The Abyssinian Expedition.—The General Napier who has been named for the Abyssinian campaign by a sort of popular vote is not a member of the well known fighting and writing family of that name. Until the prime of life he was unknown to the world, and unfamiliar with arms, being employed exclusively in the Public Works Department of India, in common with the greater part of his corps, the Bengal Engineers. Called suddenly into service in the Sikh war, Robert Napier at once established a military reputation for energy, initiative, and soldierly instinct, which he has abundantly added to in his larger charges during the mutiny and in the Chinese expedition. In the latter he commanded one of the two divisions of our army under Sir Hope Grant. After the treaty of Tientsin, he was sent from Chinese service, he was appointed Military Member of the Supreme Council of India, but has lately resigned this appointment to accept the less lucrative but more congenial one of Commander-in-Chief at Bombay—Imperial Review.

Wealth of London.—London is the wealthiest city in the world, and has more money than it knows what to do with. The London Spectator says the city is "choking in its own fat." The banks of England and France, which are in intimate relations with each other, have speculated to the amount of three hundred millions of dollars in their vaults; brokers lend money at one and a half per cent., and "joint stock companies look at depositors as if it were a favor to take their cash." The Spectator proposes to divert a portion of this wealth to the purpose of buying in the large Irish estates, which could afterwards be divided into small farms and resold to the present tenants. This, it thinks, would go a long way toward the solution of the perplexing "Irish question." All statesmen are agreed that while the present tenant system lasts, that there can be nothing done for Ireland. The Spectator adds that public opinion is "slowly gravitating" toward the adoption of this or a similar plan.

The latest reports of the safety of Dr. Livingstone are partially confirmed by letter from Bombay, published in the London Athenaeum. The writer says: "We do not, however, credit the accounts given of his murder by the natives and his companions. Not a single one of the eleven Christian Africans who accompanied Dr. Livingstone from Bombay has returned to us; and we conclude that he has most likely gone with them to the unexplored lake country. Two of them, who were educated to a certain extent in the mission institution under myself, were young James, whom he had brought to India; and they were well acquainted with the languages of the country to which he was going. Had their master fallen, as described by Maza, both they and their companions (who are all from the Church Mission at Nasik) would, we are confident, have sought to return to India, where they have many warm friends willing to assist them in a settlement in Africa were it necessary."

A Riomt Move.—Mr. Perrault, the editor of the Lower Canada Agriculturalist, suggests, as part of a proposed programme for the coming year, "An Intercolonial Exhibition in 1895," giving the following reasons: "Several years have now elapsed since an exhibition of Upper and Lower Canada was spoken of, but local jealousies were in the way, and now, by the great project was postponed to the present day. Now that Confederation has made one country of the several American provinces of the British empire, nothing would tend more to show how superior they are to our respective productions and of the progress attained in each province, either in the cultivation of the soil or in the manufacturing of goods. Lower Canada is ready, we know, to open the field in Montreal and provide its share of expenditure. Upper Canada will not refuse the challenge, while the sister provinces will be too happy to accept the occasion thus offered to them to show how superior they are to the secondary position awarded them in the estimation of so many who ignore their wealth and production." We quite agree with Mr. Perrault's remarks. Nothing could tend more to a thorough knowledge of the resources and capabilities of the several sections of the New Dominion.

RAILWAY UNIFORM.—In the United States, where every man is supposed to be free and easy, and wear just what he pleases, the Legislature has passed an Act, which compels all railroad employees to be uniformed. In accordance with this the Central Railroad Company have directed its conductors to at once procure their uniforms. The coats and pants will be of dark blue pilot, beaver, or broadcloth, with two bands of gold lace, the lower band to be an inch and half in width.

FATAL ACCIDENT NEAR FRANKFORD.—On Tuesday morning, the 24th instant, a party of young people from Seymour were on their way to a wedding in Sidney, and when near Frankford they commenced running horses among themselves. One wagon, driven by a young man named George Fry, ran into the ditch and threw out the driver, who fell under the wheels of the wagon, the wheels striking him on the left temple. Dr. Oron hyatt was immediately sent for, but the poor fellow was beyond human aid, having died a few minutes after the doctor's arrival. Dr. Day, of Trenton, was sent for to hold an inquest on the body. The jury returned a verdict of "Accidental death," in accordance with the above facts. The wedding party then returned home; sadder but wiser.

Provincial Exhibition.

The Provincial Exhibition now being held in the City of Kingston, exceeds those formerly held in that city, both in the amount of premiums to be paid, and in the number of entries. It is not as represented by the Toronto journals, a failure, nor is it equal to those held in Toronto and Hamilton. Still Central Canada, on the whole, has no cause to be ashamed of the Exhibition. In many departments it compares favorably with those of former years, and had our manufacturers and agriculturists a little more of that spirit of competition which characterizes their brethren of the western portion of the Dominion, fairs in Kingston would equal, if not exceed, those of western cities. The following table will give the reader an idea of the extent of the show, when compared with former years.

Commercial Bank.

A sensational rumor prejudicial to the Commercial Bank, which had some currency a little while ago, is set at rest by a report to the shareholders, lately made. The business done is large and prosperous, and its connections of much value; but owing to losses, principally in connection with the Detroit and Milwaukee Railway, amounting to $1,100,000, it is proposed to reduce the $100 stock to $50. This reduction would cover the whole amount of the losses of the Bank, and in the event of the full realization of the Detroit and Milwaukee debt, leave a considerable contingent fund. It would insure regular dividends, and enable the bank to carry on its business with security. In order that the reader may properly understand the position of the Bank we give the report:

Kingston, 17th Sept. 1867.

"Sir,—The undersigned having, at the request of the Commercial Bank with a special view to considering its position and the value of its assets, made an investigation of the same. They have carefully examined the various items forming the assets of the Bank, and have been led in their estimation of their value."

"Little difficulty has been experienced in arriving at a conclusion with regard to any item except that of the amount owing by the Detroit and Milwaukee Railway. There is no reason to doubt that this railroad is doing a prosperous and an annually increasing business. It is well and substantially built and equipped; it passes through a fertile country, and connects with large and important terminals. The payment of this debt, which amounts to about $1,800,000, is spread over sixteen years (though it may be paid at an earlier date), and it is payable in American currency. Owing to this the undersigned have felt at a loss to put a value on it, as the bonds are not at present marketable, but, though no payments have yet been made, either in principle or interest, there seems but little reason to doubt that the whole will ultimately be paid. This debt carries seven per cent interest, but does not at present demand an available capital on which the Bank can transact its business."

"The amount of ascertained losses incurred by the bank to this date is about $1,100,000, and the undersigned do not apprehend any material additional loss from the discounted paper now running."

"The bank is doing a prosperous and profitable business. Its connections are of great value, and under proper management there is no reason why it should not attain as good results as any similar institution in this province."

"In view, however, of the losses already made, and the possibility of a loss resulting from the large debt alluded to, the undersigned recommend a reduction of the value of the capital shares from $100 to $50 each."

"This reduction would, in their opinion, cover the whole amount of the losses of the bank, and in the event of a full realization of the Detroit and Milwaukee debt, leave considerable funds, and enable the bank to carry on its business with security."

Yours faithfully,
HUGH ALLAN,
ALLEN MORRIS.

To the President of the Commercial Bank of Canada.

"The Dominion."

This is the name of a new Conservative journal, published by John Richmond, Esq., in the Town of Windsor, County of Essex. The paper is of the same size as THE INTELLIGENCER, and contains a large amount of reading matter. We wish it every success. Among other articles, it contains the following complimentary notice of the officers and men of the Amherstburgh detachment:

"We, in common with many friends along this frontier, feel highly pleased at seeing the return to Parliament of three gentlemen who have nobly served our country, and who, in the frontier when the alarm was sounded in the winter of 1865. We refer to Lieut. Colonel James Crawford, who commanded the Brockville Rifles while stationed at Amherstburgh, who has been returned for the town of Brockville, in room of 'New York Herald' Chambers. Lieut. Col. James Brown, 1st Lieut. of the Belleville Rifles, who is stationed at Amherstburgh, in room of Lewis Wallbridge, the late Speaker of the House, who was accused of being out of the more than twenty members of that of his constituents, like another member we could name. And last, but not least, Major M. Bowell, Esquire, in the Belleville Rifles, who has been returned by the Belleville 'Brother Camp' in North Hastings. Mr. Bowell is Editor of the Belleville INTELLIGENCER. The two gallant Volunteers have completely broken up the family compact that locally existed, and have shown that they are equally ready to defend the 'Union' as they proved they were to repel foreign invasion. While stationed at Amherstburgh the gentlemen we refer to, gained the respect of all fortunate enough to make their acquaintance. The excellent behaviour of the men under their charge made their departure a matter of regret to the people of the town. When leaving a very fitting address was presented to them, and instead of having to march to Windsor, the Messrs. Park placed a steamboat at their disposal. The three gentlemen and their wives, gentlemen of the House of Commons, we venture to hope that instead of being, as formerly, 'unrepresented,' we will now have four gentlemen that know where Essex is, and who will say a good word for her."

Irishmen in Colonial Appointments.

The following list of Irishmen holding the office of colonial governor may not be uninteresting to our readers. It has been compiled from "Thompson's Almanac" for the present year, and contains only the names of those about whose nationality the writer has some doubt, and who may be others whom he has failed to identify:

British America—Lord Monck.
India—Sir J. L. M. Lawrence, G. C. B.
Bombay—W. R. S. Fitzgerald.
Ceylon—Sir H. R. Robinson.
Hong Kong—Sir R. G. McDonald, C. B.
Labuan—Thomas F. Callaghan.
New South Wales—Sir John Young.
Queensland—Sir George F. Bowen.
South Australia—Sir Dominic Daly.
Tasmania—Col. James O. Kennedy, C. C.
Vancouver's Island—Col. Kennedy, C. C.

It is gratifying to our national pride to find the supreme government of British America, India, and the greater part of Australia—in fact, all our important foreign possessions—entrusted to Irishmen.

The late Murder at Kingston.

GEMMELL'S CONFESSION.

HOW THE MURDER WAS COMMITTED.

(From the Toronto Telegraph.)

After the arrival of the prisoners in jail, Sergeant Major Campbell, Detective Lambert, of the Toronto Police Department, saw the prisoners, and Common recognized "Adams" as one of the famous "Brook's gang," a man who has been called himself "villainous" as one of the blackest villains that ever entered the four walls of a jail.

Sadie, alias Allen, alias Adams, was born in the State of New York. He is about 34 years of age; tall, wears a heavy black moustache, and had a very long dog look. For the past twelve years he has been known to the police authorities as one of the noted "Ontario street rowdies." About seven years ago he was convicted in the robbery of Peabody's jewellery store here, but managed to escape conviction. He served his time of five years, for stabbing a man in Sing Sing prison, near the city, to find out one of the shippers there. During his stay in Kingston there was no row or fight that he was not in, and anything of a desperate character commended his attention. On one occasion he was lodged in the cells under the City Hall, but dug himself out by raising a large stone, and going up through a grating.

GEMMELL'S CONFESSION.

Live in Toronto; am a shoemaker by trade. Six weeks ago met Howard and Eddy, Farrell and Joseph McDonald, then in their company every evening; we were three weeks in Toronto; remained a couple of days at Osborne's Hotel; McDonald is in Toronto jail.

All went to Hamilton, and broke into a vinegar factory, owned by the Mayor. We robbed it of $100. We also attempted to rob the spice factory, but were surprised and had to leave. We next broke open a safe of a soap factory, and got three dollars. We then came to Kingston.

We had two iron bars, two punches and a chisel. Howard and I left Hamilton and came to Toronto, where we remained three days, and came to Kingston (stopping at Osborne's Hotel for supper) and put up at the Burnett House, where we remained a day and a half, and then went to Martin's, on Princess street; this was about 11 o'clock on Monday morning; on that afternoon Howard came in and said that he had a big job at a distillery. He wanted me to find out if there was a watchman there; he went out at 10 o'clock, and I stayed in the place; I spoke to a man in the yard; the office was locked, and I went to the door; asked the price of liquors; I then went to the corner saloon, Mollard's, and had a drink; I told Howard a watchman must be there; he telegraphed to come on with the tools; he signed his name Ward; Eddy arrived on Friday; I met him at the station; he had a black carpet bag, in which were the tools; we stayed in the hotel; Howard and Allen came; Howard was introduced to Sary Allen by Howard, who told me he was a good man, and had just put in four years. Howard and he had a private conversation; we four left and I went to Mollard's; Howard and I went in; Howard and Allen came; Eddy went to the distillery; Eddy said, on his return, "There is a big pile," and Allen said, "We will have it, any way"; the four of us then had a drink at Mollard's; Howard and Eddy enquired about the watchman; this was between 12 and 1 o'clock; we then had dinner, and went to the bowling alley still supper; we then went to supper; Allen stopped at the Chicago House; at 7 o'clock we met at the bowling alley, and remained there till 10 o'clock; took some drinks; the bag with the tools was there; Howard and Eddy went into a side room, and came out and fixed the lamp, cut off three feet of fuse, had a flask of powder, which I purchased after returning from the distillery; we then started for the distillery; Howard and Allen went to the door, left us and got a sledge; we then went to the distillery, met no person, turned into a field on the left, went up and saw the watchman in front of the office with a lamp; saw him like the yard. Howard said, "Now is the time, when he is down in the yard"; he told me to go to the corner of the yard and watch; I sat on a stone at the left hand corner; I saw the watchman coming, and gave the alarm; Allen was at the gate; the other two in the office; I told Allen and the others; one of them said, "He must be stopped, there is only one half to come off"; he went to the gate; Allen said, "By God, I will stop him"; he had an iron bar in his hand; I had a small chisel in my hand, which Allen gave me on the way out; Allen stood on the left of the gate; Eddy came out and asked Allen for the other "jimmy," which he got; returned into the office; Allen then said, "He is coming, on the way out"; he had a sledge hammer in his hand; I said, "For God's sake, don't hit the man with that, or you will kill him"; and he then took hold of the iron bar which Eddy had left against the wall; I left to go towards the office.

THE MURDER.

I saw Allen give the watchman the blow with the iron bar at the gate; he gave a great shout, and Allen came in and killed him; when I got down he was kicking him; I caught hold of Allen and said, "Don't do that," he replied, "We can't have him grating here"; he put out the lamp; Eddy came out and said, "I will keep this fellow silent"; he was tired out and we must go into the office and work; Allen and I went in; deceased was alone; Howard sat in a chair; Eddy in a chair; Howard said, "Send Eddy in"; he did; he got the man grating; went to him and put him sitting upon a stool; I wiped his face with my pocket handkerchief; three men came out of the office; one said, "What in hell are you doing?" Howard asked how he was; I said I thought he was only stunned; he then went to a tree and changed some of the money-bags—a portion of the money was dropped; Howard and Eddy threw the tools in the river; we went to a brewery yard, where there were three with a knife; we took one; I cut Allen's hand over; had no rowdies; we all had no rowdies; got to the island, near the church; by a red light, pulled the boat up, and threw the oars in the water; we then went on and hid the money; we then went (three large bags); we left the car by the bridge in the woods, and went in a buggy to Waterford, and divided the money.

ALLEN'S CONFESSION.

The prisoner had previously told me that the money bags with the silver was over on Wolfe Island, on Barker's farm, hidden in a log of wood, near a fence on the roadway. Mr. O'Reilly, your reporter, the prisoner, the P. M., and Mr. Kilpatrick, went over in a tug and found the money in the exact spot, and brought Gemmell back to the city.

The officers then, accompanied by Gemmell visited the lake shore, near the brewery, to find out where Allen stood behind the stone pillar and struck Driscoll as he came out of the gate. He also shows how he had lifted the murdered man against the wall when wiping his face. Gemmell was then brought to his cell, and afterwards to the Jail, where he now lies.

LATEST.

Jones, alias Whelan, one of the murderers, has confessed. His confession is more interesting than Gemmell's, and of more importance to the authorities. It is thought that Jones will be used as Queen's evidence, as his confession does not implicate him. The inquest has been resumed. The evidence corroborates the accounts sent you.

Telegraphic News.

BY ATLANTIC CABLE.

FLORENCE, September 25.—When it became known here that Garibaldi had been arrested, his partisans in this city were greatly exasperated, and appearing in the streets in crowds, made a turbulent demonstration of sympathy for their leader. The manifestation finally developed into a riot, but the disturbance, though threatening, was suppressed by the Government.

All the volunteers of Garibaldi, who had assembled at different points on the Roman frontier, were compelled to disperse and retire by the Italian troops.

King Victor Emmanuel has issued another proclamation, in which he says that the faith of the Government is pledged in its treaties with lawless invasion of Italy in the future, and that he will not engage in further hostilities against the Roman States.

It is said that the Italian Government offers to send Garibaldi to his home at Caprera, and relieve him of all constraint, if he will give this parole not to engage in further hostilities against the Roman States.

PARIS, September 25.—The Monitor and all the journals of an official or semi-official character, this morning praise the decision and firmness of the King's study in preventing the lawless invasion of Italy in the future, and the faith of his treaty obligations, and say the conduct of the Italian Government in the matter affords a strong guarantee for the peace of Europe.

MANCHESTER, Sept. 25.—The special commission for the trial of the prisoners will meet here in December.

The Newmarket races were continued to-day. Knight of the Garter won the Newmarket Cup, and Beauty the Handicap Sweepstakes. Oran City was the Newmarket St. Legu, beating Trocadero and Hippia, who came in second and third.

New York, Sept. 25.—The game of Base Ball between the Mutuals of this city and the Union club of Lansingburg, was interrupted by the storm after four innings. The score stood eighteen to six in favor of the Mutuals.

NASHVILLE, Sept. 25.—The newspaper controversy between Major James D. Walker and Colonel J. A. Smith, ex-federal officers from Indiana, culminated yesterday in a pistol fight. Walker was the victor, and was severely wounded. It is thought he cannot survive. Smith is unhurt. He was arrested and bailed in the sum of $5,000.

Boston, Sept. 25.—The remains of Sir Frederick Bruce were sent home in the steamship China yesterday.

PHILADELPHIA, September 26.—In many of the streets whored by the storm yesterday.

READING, Pa., September 26.—The storm was very violent here. The hall was noted for its size, more than number, many was as large as eggs, and some measured eight inches and weighed three ounces. Extensive damage was done to window lights.

CHICAGO, Sept. 26.—Five buildings on the corner of Chicago Avenue and Clark st., one on Fulton st., were destroyed by fire last night.

A MODEL LEGISLATOR.—A Portland correspondent of the Boston Transcript states that he was personally acquainted with sixty-nine members of the last Legislature of Maine, and of these sixty-one kept spirituous liquors in their homes during the session, and most of them favoured and patronized. This was a bad look for the State that originated the prohibitory scheme.

OUTRAGES IN IRELAND.—Agrarian crimes are on the increase in Ireland. Last month a respectable farmer residing at Ballinacree, within a few miles of Fethard, was visited at the hour of 3 A. M. by three men, having their faces blackened, who entered his house, and beat him with bludgeons so severely that he is not expected to live. No cause has been assigned for the first mentioned outrage. Malin's offence was having purchased some oats off land from which former tenants had been ejected for non-payment of rent.

American Invoices—Discounts.

FINANCE DEPARTMENT, CUSTOMS,

Quebec, 6th March, 1868.

I am directed by the Hon. The Finance Minister, that hereafter Weekly Notices be published and furnished to Collectors of Customs, as to the rate of discount to be allowed on American Invoices, which is to be in accordance with the price of gold as represented by Exchange, at a rate equal thereto.

Such notices to appear every Saturday in the Canada Gazette. R. S. M. BOUTCHETTE.

FINANCE DEPARTMENT, CUSTOMS,

June 8, 1867.

I am hereby given that the authorized discount declared to be this day 31 per cent, which percentage of deduction is to be continued until next Weekly Notice, and to apply to all purchases made in the United States during that week.

INSURANCE COMPANY

CAPITAL, $10,000,000.

FIRE AND LIFE.

LIFE DEPARTMENT.

THE principles on which this Company is

founded contain all the elements required to develop the benefits of Life Assurance; and afford every facility to intending insurers—

One of the advantages secured by those who insure their lives with this Company is that the outside expenditure for Management is absolutely restricted by the Deed of Settlement to Ten per Cent. of the Net Life

Income. This most important restriction

shows that the interests of participating policy

holders are closely watched and carefully attended to by the Company. Attention is especially called to this point, as the proportion of premium expended for Management

Must Largely Influence Profits

and Bonuses.

The next division of profits takes place in 1868, and all those who wish to participate in the profits should insure at once.

Help One Another!

Adam very lame
Was a little to blame
For his own misdeeds
Hot, thirsty, lonely,
And heartily tired,
He sat himself down in the road.

While he thus reclined,
A man who was blind
Came by and entreated his aid.
"Deprived of my sight,"
"Unassisted to-night,
I shall not reach home, I'm afraid."

"Intelligence give
Of the place where you lie!"
Said the cripple-"perhaps I may know it."
In my road, it might be,
And, if you'll carry me,
It will give me much pleasure to show it.

"Great strength you have got,
Which, alas! I have not;
In my legs so fatigued every nerve is,
For the use of your back,
For the eyes which you lack,
My pair shall be at your service."

Said the other, "For man,
What an excellent plan!
I'll get on my knees good brother;
I see all mankind,
If they are but inclined,
May constantly help one another."

The Lapps.
Rev. Robert Bowler, in his "Guide to Norway," gives an interesting account of the Lapps and their customs:

If a Lapp enters a Norwegian dwelling, he speaks great humility, declines to sit upon a chair but sits on the ground, and pretends that he is unworthy of sitting down on an equality with such respectable people. There is a good deal of low cunning in this kind of behaviour for, there is, about as much real sympathy between a Lapp and a Norwegian as there is between a North American Indian and a Yankee.

One disagreeable characteristic of this singular race is, their partiality for ardent spirits, and in this respect the women are as bad as the men. The man gets drunk and lies down in the snow or in the wet; and the woman, out of sympathy, too, does the same, and lies down by his side. When they wake up they stare stupidly at each other, and then go their ways to their habitation. It may be stated, in addition, that the women are also inveterate smokers; but they are good mothers, and are extremely attentive to their children. It would be impossible to picture a prettier sight than a pigmy Lapp infant reposing in its tiny portable cradle, which is lined with warm fur, and is hung up by a string to a book, or branch of a tree, so keep it out of harm's way.

So addicted are the Lapps to wondering and intemperate habits, that it is almost impossible to cure them, but, philanthropists do what they will. The boy who is trained to be a clergyman, who was to be sent as a missionary to the heathen, and who was to be educated with this intention; but he was even ordained and began to preach, but he was such an inveterate drunkard that his attempts were fruitless, and he returned to his tribe as a wretched tame reindeer on the mountains."

Long Sermons.
A lawyer, who consumes three hours in arguing a question of law relating to the ownership of a barrel of apples, is indignant at his minister for expounding the scriptures in unfolding one of the great principles of morality in the observance of which the existence of society depends. The judge who fills two hours of his time with the rights of the counsel to challenge a witness, grumbles at his minister because he has prolonged the discussion of fundamental laws of human progress to thirty minutes.

The belle who has spent a long time in adjusting the bows of her bonnet, is remorseless in her criticisms on the minister who does not finish his meditations on the Fatherhood of God in fifteen minutes. The fop, who has combed and stroked, and perfumed, and waxed his beard and moustache for half an hour, is mortified past endurance if the poor minister is not, through his discussion of the immortal life "inside of twenty minutes."

THE FOUNTAIN OF LIVING WATER.-It is related of a benevolent man that he lived in a village poorly supplied with water. Dry seasons exhausted the wells, and reduced the citizens to great straits. About a mile distant was a never failing spring. The water from this, he conducted by pipes to the heart of the village, and so furnished a supply at all seasons to the inhabitants. This act of generosity touched the people, and when he was dead they erected a monument to his memory by the fountain, and to his abundant kindness.

A young candidate for M. D. at the University of Toronto, advanced the startling doctrine that a physician could not to employ his art to save a life which is no use to the patient or the state.

What's That to You?

Is it not sweet in the soft days of summer,
Down by some bend of a river remote,
Sudden to meet a delicious nectar of Liquor, alone where the lily-cups float?
Ah, only yesterday, in so sequestered a place,
I met Isabel, lovely to view,
But when I told to her, "Where were you when I met Isabel, lovely to view?"
Archly she answered me, "What's that to you?"

Joyously bright was the alien of the river,
Brighter were Isabel's eyes on that day;
Summer delight sent a magical shiver
Through our two hearts as we wandered away,
Ah, the alien world of her! Ah, the sweet taste
Of her
Lips like ripe cherries just from the dew!
If in the twilight I kissed little Isabel,
By the lone river-side—what's that to you?

The Number Seven.

This number is frequently used in the writings of the Bible.
On the 7th day Noah's ark touched the ground.
In 7 days a dove was sent out.
Jacob served 7 years for Rachel, and yet other 7 more.
Jacob mourned 7 days for Joseph.
Jacob was pursued a 7 day's journey, by Laban.
A plenty of 7 years and a famine of 7 years were foretold in Pharaoh's dream, by 7 fat and 7 lean beasts, and 7 ears of full and 7 of blasted corn.
On the 7th day of the 7th month the children of Israel fasted 7 days and remained 7 days in tent.
Every 7th year the land rested.
Every 7th year all bondmen were set free.
Every 7th year the law was read to the people.

In the destruction of Jerico, 7 priests bore 7 trumpets 7 days; on the 7th day they surrounded the walls 7 times; and at the end of the 7th round the walls fell.
Solomon was 7 years building the temple, and feasted 7 days at its dedication.
In the tabernacle were 7 lamps.
The golden candlestick had 7 branches.
Naaman washed 7 times in Jordan.
Job's friends sat with him 7 days and 7 nights, and offered 7 bullocks and 7 rams as an atonement.
Our Saviour spoke 7 times from the cross, on which he hung 7 hours, and after his resurrection appeared 7 times.
In the Lord's Prayer are 7 petitions, containing 7 times 7 words.
In the Revelations we read of 7 churches,
7 candlesticks, 7 stars, 7 trumpets, 7 plagues, 7 thunders, 7 vials, 7 angels, and a 7 headed monster.

FROM OTTAWA.

(By Special Telegram to the Daily Intelligencer.)

OTTAWA, Sept. 28, 1867.

A meeting of the Privy Council was held yesterday, at which Sir John A. Macdonald, Hon. Messrs. Cartier, Tully, Gait, Howland, McDougall, Kennell, Langens, and Chapin, were present. It was decided to call Parliament together for the despatch of business on the sixth of November. The official Gazette of to-day will contain the usual proclamation.

A very successful concert was held this evening in aid of the Protestant Orphans' Home. On the platform after the concert, were the Hon. Wm. McDougall, Hon. M. C.
Cameron, and the Mayor. The former gentlemen in the course of his remarks stated that to-day he received a communication from a leading politician in Newfoundland to the effect that the parliament about to assemble there would pass resolutions asking for admittance into the Confederation of Canada, and also that at the session soon to be held there resolutions would be passed and sanctioned by the Imperial government also admitting the Hudson Bay territory.

THE GENERAL "HERON."—The wharves
"Heron" made her appearance in our harbor at two o'clock to-day.

BELLEVILLE.—The Montreal Gazette says:—
Nelson, in his letter to Mr. Joseph Dion, declining to contest the championship, assigns no reason whatever for the course he has seen fit to take, simply stating that he will not play.
We believe that the match with "the unknown," the next on Mr. Dion's list, will take place in a month or six weeks at furthest.

BUSINESS NOTICE.—Packets going west would do well to leave Belleville from Toronto west from Mr. R. P. DAVY, agent for Great Western Railway, opposite the market, Belleville, 115-116.

Nova Scotia.

The result of the Nova Scotia elections has given rise to numerous conjectures as to the course which the Federal and Local Cabinets will pursue. So far as the Local Government of Nova Scotia is concerned there can be but one course, constitutionally, and that is for the present Ministry to succumb to the will and decision of the majority of the people, which, if the last election is a criterion, and as such it must be accepted, is against them. Resignation must follow, and Mr. Howe or his friends take the management of the affairs of the Province into their own hands. Whether Mr. Howe will consent to devote his time and talent to the working out of a system which he has no violently opposed, or whether he will, like the arch-agitator of Ontario, continue his endeavors to destroy and render inoperative the Federal system, remains in the womb of futurity. If this gentleman is sincere in his professions before the elections, to accept the situation as one beyond his control, then we may expect to find him ready to assist in forming a Government in Nova Scotia which will not only command the support of a majority of the people, but will administer the affairs of the Province in a manner not antagonistic to the General Government. If not, what follows? Nothing but confusion and anarchy. This there is little fear of. The Union is complete, and no action on the part of Nova Scotia can discover or break up that Union. Hence we may look for a more patriotic course than that anticipated by many who would be delighted at seeing the country thrown into a state of political turmoil.

This portion of the difficulty over, what course will the members from Nova Scotia pursue in the Commons? It is quite evident from the tone of the press in that part of the Dominion, that there is not only a willingness but a desire to see Mr. Howe, as the representative of the people of that Province, lead his aid in working out the new order of things. The fear that he will do this, seems to haunt the imagination of the leader of the Opposition in Canada. It matters not that he has during the elections, and ever since Mr. Howe took a decided stand, confessed that the latter gentleman was not only willing, but had expressed his desire to accept the position of affairs, so far as the Union was concerned, as one which he could not prevent, and which he would endeavor to work out to the best advantage for the benefit of the whole people. But so soon as the elections are over, we find the Globe raving at the very idea of Mr. Howe doing what he promised. It is of no consequence that Nova Scotia has elected but one Ministerialist.
That Province should not be represented by men holding views in union with the majority, but by men whom the people do not approve. Such is the position now held by the Globe, though for years past the constant theme upon which that journal has been treating is sectional cries and sectional animosities. The governing of one Province by the representative of another has been the subject upon which Upper Canada has been agitated for years past, and while the Conservative party has been combating this theory and contending that we should look upon the country as a whole, and not section-ally, they have been incessantly selling themselves and the Province to Lower Canada. We are pleased therefore to find that the Globe is now advocating the same principle, though we doubt not for other and less patriotic purposes. It says—

"We concede the awkwardness of having Nova Scotia virtually unrepresented in the Cabinet; but it is better to encounter such difficulty occasionally than to outrage all received notions of political morality by inaugurating a system of barter or sale, by which every politician who could secure a majority in his own Province would be entitled to sell himself for a seat in the Privy Council, without regard to considerations of political consistency or principle. The Times says:—If Nova Scotia prefers Mr. Howe to Mr. Archibald or Dr.
Tupper, let her now let the fact be recognized by the Central Government. Certainly, so far as the fact is concerned, it is of no importance. The party which has a majority must take control of the Local Government, and manage the local affairs of the Province as they deem best. But so far as the Federal Parliament and Government are concerned, Mr. Howe and his friends have constitutionally just as much to say as any other alleged members of the House of Commons. We agree with the organs that it will be well to consult the opinions of the representatives in reference to taxation and one or two other matters. But, inconvenient as it may be, it is to have the Government so weak in a particular Province, it would never do to declare that the Government must lose a majority in every Province.
The double-majority theory broke down in our old Canadian Parliament as soon as it was practically tested. The fact is, we were foolish enough to seek to apply the same theory to a union of four Provinces, we should have endless trouble. The party which has a majority in the House of Commons must have the government of the Dominion."

This is sound constitutional doctrine, but why has it not been advocated heretofore by Mr. Brown and the Globe? The reason is obvious: When Upper and Lower Canada were governed by one Ministry, it was to the advantage of both to raise sectional cries and sectional difficulties. Lower Canada was then the bone upon which they expected to fatten. Now Mr. Howe is wanted to join the ranks of the few Ontario and Quebec opponents, with his seventeen Nova Scotians at his back. In order to give them a respectable position, hence we have the Globe advocating a doctrine which it has been condemning Sir John A. Macdonald and the Conservatives for acting upon and carrying out for years. Such tergiversation and dishonesty sooner or later meets its reward, and the retribution has come upon Mr. Brown and his associates. Take this last prop. Mr. Howe and his followers from him, and he will become powerless, hence his change of base at the present moment. Let Mr. Howe show an independence, and we shall soon see the Globe again changing its tactics, and singing a different tune.

Ketcheson Ward.

As we anticipated, the election in Ketch-eson Ward has resulted in favor of Mr. Diamond by a majority of 21. Mr. Smith could hardly expect to receive the vote of the majority of the electors, as the nominee of James Meagher, of Mike Murphy notwithstanding.

The vote at the close of the poll was:

Diamond, 110

Smith, 89

Majority for Diamond, 21

Provincial Exhibition.

The Agricultural Association met at ten o'clock on Friday morning, Mr. Wheeler, President, in the chair. There was a large attendance of members. The following were elected officers for the ensuing year: President, Thomas Stock, Esq. Flamboro; 1st vice, James Nimmo, Camden; 2nd vice John Walton, Peterboro; Treasurer, R. L. Denison.

Mr. McRae, of Wellington, moved that the next exhibition be held at Hamilton.
Mr. Charlton, Mayor of Hamilton, read a resolution of the Hamilton Council, offering to make any reasonable expenditure that might be deemed necessary by the Association.

The motion was carried.
Mr. Burnham moved a vote of thanks to the Railways and steamboats. Some objections were made that the steamers had not treated the members liberally, and the motion was amended so as to include only railways.
In this it was carried.

Thanks were voted to the officers of the Association for their faithful services, and also local committees and Councils of Frontenac and Kingston.

Col. Denison moved a resolution that it would be advisable for the County Agricultural Societies to appoint each one delegate to attend a meeting of the Board of Agriculture during the month of November in Toronto to advise with them upon an application to Parliament for a new Agricultural Bill—the time to be fixed by the Board. After discussion, the motion, which was made to include the Mechanics' Institutes and Horticultural Societies, was carried.

After some unimportant matters had been disposed of, Mr. Burnham brought up the subject of an Intercolonial Exhibition. No propositions were made, and the feeling seemed to be that such an exhibition could not be held until better means of communication existed with the Maritime Provinces.

In addition to the prizes awarded to competitors from this County, published yesterday, we find the following:

Second best yearling Calf.—D. Hurley, Tye-dine, $2.
Second best Matched Team.—W. Fanning,
Belleville, $15.
Third best white winter Wheat.—L. Lockwood, Sidney, $6.
Third best red winter Wheat.—D. Lockwood, Sidney, $6.
Best black-eyed Marrowfat Peas.—D. Lockwood, Sidney, $6.
Third best field Peas of any kind.—D. Lockwood, Sidney, $4.
Third best Clover Seed.—D. Lockwood, $2.
Third best Factory Cheese.—Sidney Town Hall Factory, $20.
Best best Irish of butter, not less than 25 pounds.—D. Sine, Rawdon, $6.
Extra Prizes were awarded to C. Irwin & Co., Belleville, for Sewing Machines, and John Laurier, Belleville, for an Improved Domestic Spinster.

Notes by the Way.

DUNKIRK, Sept. 26.

What a selfish creature is man! What a contrary, obstinate, unaccommodating animal he is! What supreme self-love he exhibits, and how completely his actions and purposes are directed to his own happiness without any regard to the interests of others.
There are exceptions. There are noble instances where man lives not to himself alone, but whose highest object is to contribute to the enjoyment and pleasure of his fellow-man. Not alone in great matters, but in the private walks of life, in the social circle, in business relations, there are friendships which outlast the severest trial and the greatest calamity, there is a self-sacrificing disposition, a total abnegation of self which redeems humanity, there is a magnanimity which makes our condition in this selfish world at least tolerable. It is the exception, however. Man, generally, seeks his own gratification, and everything he must subvert his own interests. Anything that stands in the way of his own aggrandizement, be it life-long service, the trust-friendship, the noblest acts of a noble nation, are sacrificed to the grasping ambitious disposition of the selfish man. How patriotic and mean a selfish man can be! How supremely contemptible his acts sometimes appear to the observant mind.

I do not know that I ever observed selflessness—general selflessness—exhibited in a more offensive form than the other day in travelling from Belleville to Toronto.

I mean that small petty selfishness in which so many railway travellers are wrapped up.
The car in which I was seated contained about thirty persons, but on entering it one had considerable difficulty in finding a seat.

There were two seats occupied by a great boorish fellow, whose legs and body were so twisted and turned, that there was no room for another. How suspiciously he looked from underneath his slouched hat at every new comer, for fear he should claim a share of what he assumed belonged only to himself. Here was what might be called a woman, but who certainly did not display a womanly instinct curled up on one seat, and hand box and satchels occupying the other. There were a dozen or more of such characters, and it was interesting to observe their antics at the different stations at which the cars stopped. A poor infirm woman, with one or two children, would stop in front of the seat and give an inquiring look, but there was no response to that enquiry except the cold, forbidden look of a superlatively selfish heart. And she passed on with her weary load and crowded herself and children on a small seat in the corner of the car. At one of the stations there was a pale, wan countenance peered into the open door, and sustaining himself by a crutch and holding on the ends of the seats, passed through the whole length of the car, turning his eyes, which were already glassy with Death, imploringly to each side. But even his condition produced no effect upon those hearts crusted over with selfishness. Tremblingly he tottered along until overcome with fatigue, and he would have fallen had not the woman with her children caught him and gave him her seat. The boorish fellow who had frowned a score or more into passing on, and who managed to retain his seat for forty miles or more, came to grief at Whitby station. The cars were pretty well filled by this time, and it had been arranged by one or two, as soon as the cars stopped to have his name called by some one at the door, and in the meantime four persons were to take possession of his seat. The ruse was successful, and so when he came to take his seat it was occupied by those whom neither entreaty nor threat, would induce to give it up. As all the seats were filled, the great boorish fellow paid the penalty of his selfishness by standing the rest of the way.
But the penalty was not sufficient. If I had my way I would have compelled him to ride the rest of the journey on the cow-catcher having the stoker poke him occasionally with his red-hot iron rod.

I could behold many instances of such petty selfishness on the part of Railway travellers—selfishness which makes one blush that such creatures are clad in the habiliments of humanity. I do not know of any corrective unless Conductors do as was one of the Conductors of the Grand Trunk Railway do not long since.
During a trip of over one hundred miles that Conductor, I do not know his name or I would give it, made, as I thought, a speciality to see that every traveller was comfortably seated, constantly passing and re passing through the cars. If a person needed a seat, and he came across such a carriage upon humanity as I have described, without any ceremony, over the seat would be turned, and the new comer comfortably placed. He was no respecter of persons. The old and the young, the rich and the poor were all treated alike.
He saw that the ventilators were properly adjusted, that pure water was in every car, and in fact it seemed as if his whole attention after attending to the tickets, was directed to secure the comfort of his travellers. His conduct was more like that of a landlord attending to his guests. The result was, every one was comfortably seated and every one perfectly at ease. If all Conductors would follow his example, it would materially aid to the comfort of railway travellers as well as advance the interests of the companies.

—While the French people are still in the dark as to the intentions of the Government, the rulers of Germany continue to be very outspoken. The addresses of the King and Crown Prince of Prussia, and of the Grand Duke of Baden, have been followed by a very significant speech from Count Bismarck. He defied any speech from Count Bismarck. He defied any man people wished it. An official organ of Count Bismarck at the same time indicates that the South German States may now at any time enter the North German Confederation.

FLORENCE, Sept. 27.—Serious riots have broken out at Udine, a town of Northern Italy, sixty miles from Venice. Armed bands paraded the streets, clamouring for revolution; these bands were largely composed of Garibaldian volunteers who had been compelled to fly from the Roman frontier by the Italian troops. The partisans of Garibaldi are creating tumults in various parts of Italy for the purpose of obtaining the release of their leaders. It is reported that King Victor Emmanuel is about to issue a proclamation calling an extraordinary session of the Italian parliament.

GENOVA, Sept. 27.—Crowds of men assembled in the streets of the city yesterday, and loudly cried for the release of Garibaldi. Some violence was done, but no one was injured.

DUBLIN, Sept. 27.—Feats are entertained that Fenians here, emboldened by the success of the mob at Manchester, will make a similar effort to rescue Captain Moriarty, who is now under guard in the sentence of imprisonment. The Government is taking all necessary precautions against such an attempt. Forty Fenian convicts who have hitherto been imprisoned in the Irish gaols, have been sent to Portland, England, for safe keeping.

LONDON, Sept. 27.—Owing to the report that a supposed Fenian vessel had been seen off the coast of Kerry, the government has despatched a number of gunboats to guard the southern and northern coasts of Ireland.

American Despatches.

HAVANA, Sept. 26.—Advices from the city of Mexico to the 10th and Vera Cruz to the 20th have been received. Eustaquio Barro, the celebrated banker of the city of Mexico, died on the 9th. The waters had overflowed a portion of the town of Aracabo, causing some deaths and much damage to property. Mr.
Otterbury, the late American Consul, had obtained his passports from home. Property in Sonora to the amount of over $1,000,000 had been confiscated. General Alvarez died on the 5th of August.

NEW-YORK, Sept. 27.—Matters have become quite quieter to-day. Last night General Thomas received a despatch from Gen. Grant, telling him that the military could be made use of to defeat the executive of a state in enforcing the laws of a state, and ordering him not to prevent a loyal state force from executing his orders.

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 28.—A boiler exploded yesterday on the steamer Illinoi, tearing away a portion of the cabin of the boat and severely injuring four deck hands.

NEW-YORK, Sept. 28.—The Herald's Leaven-

Moldiness.

We presume our readers are aware that moldiness is occasioned by the growth of minute vegetables. Ink, paste, leather and seeds, are the substance that most frequently suffer from it. The effect of cloves in preserving ink is well known; any of the may be kept free from mold by the same substances. A few drops of any essential oil are sufficient also to keep books entirely free from it. For harness oil of turpentine is recommended. Bookbinders, in general, employ allum for preserving their paste; but mold frequently forms on it.—Shoemakers rosin is sometimes used for the oil of turpentine. The best preventives, however, are the essential oils, even in small quantity, as those of peppermint, anise, or cassia, by which paste may be kept almost any length of time; indeed, it has, in this way, been preserved for years. The paste recommended by Dr. Maccullock is made in the usual way, with flour, some brown sugar keeping it flexible when dry, and the sublimite preventing it from fermenting and from being attacked by insects. After it is made a few days it is fit for use.

tial oils are added. Paste made in this way dries when exposed to the air, and may be used merely by wetting it. If required to be kept always ready for use, it ought to be put into covered pots. Seed may also be preserved by the essential oils; and this is of great consequence, when they are to be sent to a distance. Of course moisture the oils or ottos prevent only the bad effects of mold.—Scientific American.

Work for the New Parliament.
THE CANADIAN LAW OF PERSONAL EVIDENCE
—A TREMENDOUS CALLED FOR.

The London Free Press says:—Having completed the elections, the first proceeding, it is to be hoped, will be to give us some practical and beneficial legislation. In the intensity of our past conflicts for the predominance of party, we have, it is to be feared, too often neglected the national interest. Our present purpose is to call attention to an instance of this kind.

Some eighteen or twenty years ago the British Parliament by a statute abolished the restrictions by which the parties to a civil suit had been previously precluded from giving their evidence in a court of justice. This change was not suddenly effected. Many years previously Mr. Bentham and others had called public attention to the absurdity of the restriction. Mr. Dickens and other popular writers likewise assisted in bringing about the change. At last it came, and notwithstanding the dismal croakings and prognostications of many lawyers and a few judges, it worked admirably. So well it worked that no voice is ever heard now nor pen used in Great Britain in condemnation of it. So, likewise, in the state of New York, Massachusetts, and we believe, in all the United States, the same policy has been adopted. In France even greater strides have been made, as in that country the accused in criminal cases is permitted to make his statement as well as the parties to civil suits. But in Canada we linger behind; we still hold on to the exploded notions of past generations. For instance: A crossing a railway with a vehicle alone, is struck by a train, which unlawfully gave no notice of its approach. He is maimed, but no one was with him or near him when he sustained the injury, and the train has swiftly passed away on its journey. He has a right of action for damages, but how shall he prove the facts. In Britain or in the United States, or in France, he would be allowed to make his statement under oath, and it would devolve upon the railway company to defeat his action, if they could, by showing that they complied with the law. But what could he do in Canada? Nothing! No one being a witness of the occurrence but himself, and being debarred from testifying, he could not prove the very first incident necessary to make out his case. Many a just claimant, defeated, or entirely lost and ignored, because the facts are only known to the contending parties, and thus cannot be proved. But the anomaly is more apparent when we consider that a father can have the benefit of the evidence of a son or of a daughter, who is probably entirely under his control, and likely to be influenced by him; but the opposite party, who is not so fortunate to have a son or daughter who knows anything of the facts, cannot say a word for himself.

The true policy is to cast aside all these absurd restrictions, and adopt in courts of justice the same course which plain sensible men would take in dealing with a dispute between two contestants, namely, hear them both and judge of the credibility to be attached to their respective stories. But in nearly every other country but Canada, the plaintiff can step into the witness box and state his statement. He is subjected to cross-examinations. He corroborates his statement if he can by other evidence. Next comes the defendant, who can avail himself of the same privilege if he chooses to do so; then it is for the jury to decide who is best worthy of credit if they differ in their statements. Often, however, it happens that the defendant declines to swear in opposition to the evidence of the plaintiff. We have seen cases where a medical man having performed a long series of services, known only to himself and the patient, could not recover for these services in consequence of having to prove that he was coming from his own lips, which he could not use. All this is absurd. Why should we in Canada cherish with antiquarian devotion the now exploded prejudices of our fathers? It is to be hoped that in the new legislation of Ontario some member will be found willing and able to help us to keep pace with other countries by removing the present absurd restrictions now imposed on evidence, and thus give us an instalment of practical legislation.

The American Political Crisis.
CONGRESS AND THE PRESIDENT.

TROUBLE APPREHENDED—TWO SENATORS
ABSENT THAT JOHNSON WISHES TO RE-JECT A RAPIDLY CIRCULATED REPORT.

DETROIT, Mich., Sept. 25, 1867.
The Tribune this morning publishes a letter understood to be from Senator Howard. In referring to the threats of the Washington Union, that Senators who have declared their convictions beforehand shall not sit in judgment upon President Johnson, Mr. Howard says:—

It is generally understood that the Union is under the patronage and control of Mr. Johnson and his immediate advisers, and that in view of the military and political border states, such threats can hardly be regarded as merely for buncombe, but that the original purpose of the President to attempt violent measures against Congress has become deepened and intensified under the malign influence of his private advisers. Mr. Howard continues—Congress will do their duty regardless of these revolutionary preparations. Let him be sure of that, and it rests with the people and the army to protect them in so doing. If rebels and rebel sympathizers have not been had enough of strife and blood, they can, in my poor opinion, become more satisfied by stirring up Johnson to assault Congress by military violence; and indeed, I am not sure that in the long run, such a mad attempt would not be leading to a final and conclusive suppression of the rebellion, by the condign punishment of its fomenters, and a decided benefit to the government and the nation. There must be a final decision at some time; perhaps it is the will of Providence that Johnson's madness shall hasten it.

SPEECH BY SENATOR THAYER.

At a republican meeting in Cincinnati on Saturday, after speeches by Senators Thayer, man and Wade, of Ohio, Senator Thayer, of Nebraska, said:

I have been in Maryland and the District of Columbia, having left Washington only the night before. While there I took special pains to inform myself in relation to the present purposes of Mr. Johnson, and obtained what I am about to state on reliable authority. "I declare upon my responsibility as a Senator of the United States, that to-day Andrew Johnson meditates and designs forcible resistance to the authority of Congress." I make this statement deliberately, having received it from unquestioned and unquestionable authority. I cannot predict the occasion on which he may attempt military force. It may be to prevent the assembling of Congress, or when assembled, if the House of Representatives passes articles of impeachment, for the purpose of forcing the Southern senators and representatives to seats in Congress. The question may be asked "How can he do such a thing?" You recollect that six months ago Gov. Swann, of Maryland, was elected a United States Senator, and that a few weeks after he declined, giving grave reasons of state as the cause. It was that Lieut. Gov. Cox, of that State, could not be trusted for Johnson's purposes. There is to-day a standing army in Maryland, an organized militia force, such as no other State in the Union has, officered mainly by returned rebels. When the time comes which he looked for, under pretence Johnson may declare Maryland and the District of Columbia under martial law, and call upon Governor Swann to bring forth his militia. There is nothing that will deter Johnson from his purpose, except when the issue comes that his courage may fail. I make this statement, that the American people may know the danger that threatens their peace and safety. If Pennsylvania and New York give democratic majorities in the coming elections it will embolden him to carry out his purpose; and I hope that you, the people of Ohio, will be warned in time to cast your votes as to rebuke and prevent the mad designs of this bad man who is now acting President of the United States. But, gentlemen, let me say to you that whenever Johnson attempts force, and orders any soldiers he may have under his command to resist the authority of Congress, his doom is sealed. The fate from which he has preserved the traitor Jefferson Davis will then be meted out to him. Aye, when that times comes 500,000 men from Pennsylvania, New York and Ohio will go to arms and tramp the soil of Maryland to reach the beleaguered capital and rescue it from the hands of the rebels and traitors. In conclusion, let me say to you who have borne the flag before the enemy, do your duty the coming election, vote for those men who by their record have shown themselves to be your friends and the friends of the Government. Rally as one man to the standard of justice and liberty, and that flag will yet float over a united and happy land.

Brown the False Prophet.

OR DON'T WHISTLE UNTIL YOU'RE OUT OF THE WOODS.

(From the Toronto Globe, Aug. 10th.)

What that result will be, as far as Ontario, at any rate, is concerned, it would not in a general way be very difficult to predict. Of course, even after the most thorough and reliable information, there will be some cases of doubt, but we think we are within the mark when we say that the Reformers of Ontario will have, for both Federal and Local Parliaments, over fifty seats at any rate, and if they exert themselves thoroughly and unitedly, they may do better than that.

(From the Toronto Globe, September 21st.)

Reformers have still a good deal of ground to go. They have elected at least half of the Legislature of Ontario. When we say that, we mean that half of the members of the Local Legislature are Reformers, and owe their election to the Reform party. We are aware that some of them are pledged to give Ministers a chance to prove their policy, and we have no doubt, that every one of them will concur in doing that. The Coalition Privy Council has undoubtedly secured a majority in the first house of Commons, the Dominion. In the Province of Ontario greater efforts were put forth by the Coalitionists to secure seats in the Commons, than to secure seats in the Local Legislature; and the consequence is that the majority of the members elected to the House of Commons in this Province are supporters of the Coalition. There is a large Reform minority elected; but the Coalition has, nevertheless, secured a majority of seventeen or eighteen in the Province of Quebec the Liberals have not secured so many seats as was anticipated. Still, we think that the Opposition in that Province will number about twenty votes.

THE WAY THE SHARPHOLDERS MONKEY GOES. A new and magnificent sleeping and drawing-room car of the Pullman patent, has been, within a few days past, placed on the Michigan Central road, and will make regular trips between Chicago and Detroit. It was built at a cost of over $30,000, this outlay being considerably in excess of any amount heretofore expended in the construction of such palatial cars. It is called the "City of Boston." Its internal decoration and furnishing exceeds anything before seen even in the West, where wonderful achievements in car equipment have followed for several years past in such rapid succession. These Pullman cars, we would here state, are quite as strong and serviceable as they are elegant and luxurious. The "City of Aurora" has been averaging 300 miles per day, and is yet in good running condition, showing that they are not surpassed by any cars in this respect.

American Neutrality.

While Mr. Seward is writing long despatches to the English Ministry urging payment of the Alabama claims, he is proving his neutrality by furnishing the Fenians with material for another raid. A telegram from Buffalo says:

"The late visit of F. B. Gallagher and James Gibson to Washington resulted to-day in the delivery of 150 tons of war materiel, to the Fenian Brotherhood. This property was captured by the United States government during the invasion of Canada, in 1866, and held at Fort Ontario, Oswego, N. Y."

Notes by the Way.

BUFFALO, Sept. 28.

What a magnificent sight the Heavens presented last night. There was neither cloud or mist in the sky. But across the northern circle was a luminous arch of nearly uniform width, touching the horizon on either side. In appearance it was not unlike a rainbow, but devoid of color, and with a ghost-like flitting to and fro of coronations, which were surpassingly beautiful. As I was walking along the tow path of one of the many canals which intersect and cut up the streets of the lower portion of Buffalo, the spectacle in the Heavens seemed to me fearfully grand, and I watched the ever-changing panoramic scene for an hour or more. Never, I think, did I ever witness such an annual display of the power of Omnipotence, and never did I feel a feeling of loveless creep over me, as I stood there gazing into the blue sky and watching the playful freaks of the Northern lights, and from the blue sky into the blue waters of Lake Erie, in which were reflected the panorama of the Heavens above. The city was not altogether silent, but there was an indescribable sense of loneliness pervaded the atmosphere, and crept into one's heart, and you fancied you were in the ghost land, and a yearning went out for human sympathy or some other sympathy, to which perchance you were not entitled. It was a fitting time for communion with Him who rolls up the Heavens as a scroll. You feel that there is at almost any other time, that in "His hands are all the corners of the earth." Through the mysterious silence there comes a realization of the pervading presence of the Deity. What a pleasure it must be to know that there is one on whom you can lean. How utterly desolate to realize that His arm is not stretched out to support you.

How sad to think that one is all alone! What a consolation it must be to the despairing one, faint and ready to perish in life's desert, to think that, though the sun of mercy shines not on him by day, and the sky seems leaden by night, and the stars look coldly down upon him, there is One who sees and pities, and is ready to take him into His arms as soon as the lamp of life goes out. But that wall of despair which comes from the depths of the waters at my very feet! There is a wild surfer, and there are hurrying to and fro, and soon there emerges from the dark edge of the river the form of a woman borne on the shoulders of two policemen. I shall never forget that shriek. It still rings in my ears. Everything was altered in it—friendlessness, horror and despair—a broken heart and a desolate home. They carried her to the dead house, and when she was laid out on the marble slab and her brow was parted and gathered back from her hair, you saw that she must have been beautiful once—very probably beloved and honored, and bright with the truth and beauty of womanhood. Evidently she was a suicide. Like many other unfortunate, she could sing.

"Once I was pure as the beautiful snow," but that was many and many a year ago, and now—

"Mad from life's history,
Gladd to death's mystery,
Swift to be hurled Anywhere, anywhere,
Out of the world."

On the poor, worn countenance you see the deep lines of a vicious and unhappy life. Sin alone could have made those ominous signs around the eyes and cheek-bones. The history of a life—the fall from purity to depravity—the impulse of the last fatal step which hurried her to self-destruction and to untold horrors beyond the tomb, are written that with countenance in unmistakable characters. She passed through the dark valley alone.

How many there are in this great city, and in all our great cities and towns, who are preparing to follow in her footsteps. Little they know, when first tasting of pleasure's cup, the bitter draught they will have to drink before the sands of life run out. The first false step, in nine cases out of ten with woman, is the fatal step. Man may be an accomplished libertine, and with brazen face and lecherous eyes, show his way into virtuous homes, and find a welcome, while his betrayed is shunned, despised and is a moral cast-away. It is well there should be a wide gulf to separate the shameless prostitute from virtuous society. It is well there should be no bridge that she should pass to and fro; but why is the foul betrayer not also placed on the other side of the gulf? Why is he who made the gulf permitted to span it with the sanction of virtuous society, and walk to and fro on his hellish mission? Why does society put its foot on the neck of the one, and exalt the other to positions of honor and trust? Why does she with the one hand thrust away into outer darkness the poor victim of the seducer, and with the other take that seducer into her most intimate relationship? If society would deal with the betrayer as she does with the betrayed, there would be no so many of those "whose feet walk not on hell, and whose chamber is the way to death." Society would be purer and holier for having rid itself of its most glaring leprosy, and cleansed itself from its foulest leprosy spot.

BY ATLANTIC CABLE.

FLORINCE, Sept. 29.—Garibaldi, from his prison, has written a letter, saying the Romans have the right, which all slaves have, to rise against their oppressors, and that it is the duty of the Italians to help them in their struggles for liberty. He hopes his fellow patriots will not be discouraged by their last reverse, and exhorts them to organize and march to the achievement of their great purpose—the liberation of Rome. The letter concludes with an eloquent appeal to the men of the Liberal party of Italy, declaring that the eyes of the world are turned upon them, and the nations of the earth anxiously await the result of their action in the present crisis.

The particulars of the riots last week in various parts of Italy show that they were even more serious than at first reported. In some cities the mobs were fierce and obstinate, and the troops were frequently obliged to use their bayonets, and sometimes to fire upon the people. Many citizens and some soldiers were killed and a large number wounded.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Sept. 28.—The Sultan has at length sent out a commission of inquiry, consisting of three Turkish and three Greek members, to investigate affairs in the island of Candia.

PARIS, Sept. 29.—The Paris races were continued to-day. The race for the Criterion prize was won by Suzerain, and the Omnium prize was won by Nene. Both horses are the property of the Marquis de la Grange.

MANCHESTER, Sept. 27, evening.—The police are very active in arresting persons believed to have been implicated in the recent Fenian riot. Scores have been apprehended since the last report. The prisoners are all discharged, however, as fast as examined by the Court, nothing being proven to warrant their detention, nor has anything as to the plans of the Fenian organization been elicited.

LONDON, Sept. 27, noon.—The reports from Italy are very conflicting. The latest despatches received to-day make Rome the seat of riotous acts at Modena, Milan, Genoa, and Naples. General Garibaldi was going to Caprea. The Pope has sent a message to the Emperor Napoleon, thanking him for the arrest of Garibaldi.

LONDON, Sept. 28.—Despatches from Japan announce that the Christians are maltreated by the natives. This is especially true of the inhabitants of Nagasaki and vicinity.

PARIS, Sept. 28.—The government of Turkey officially denies the published statement that its aid has been refused by the Sultan in the struggle of the latter against the domination of the Czar of Russia.

BERLIN, Sept. 28, evening.—Kiel, a seaport in Holstein, is to be immediately fortified by King William, and garrisoned with Prussian troops.

CONSTANTINOPLE, September 26.—The Russian demands for a cession of Crete to Greece, and for the equalization of the Christians being refused, the Russian ambassador reported to the Czar has just returned. The Czar declines to see the Sultan, there being nothing agreeable to see. Neither party recedes from its position. Accounts from Athens state that a large party in Greece favor depositing the King, and proclaiming a republic under the protection of the United States or annexing it as three States.

LONDON, Sept. 29.—A despatch from Antwerp states standard white petroleum closed at 54s 6d to 55s per barrel.

American Despatches.

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—Gen. Sheridan left the fifth Avenue Hotel.

Despatches by the Cuban Cable state that an earthquake and freshet had visited Porto Rico.

The national Congress of Dr. Dominguez approved the treaty with the United States.

Water Board publishes an account of the challenges of Richard Tenning, of Toronto, to run a five mile race in Portland Harbor, for $500 in gold, granting $300 for expenses, or in Toronto, accepting the same, or at Lachine, to defy his own expenses. He also accepts the challenge of Wm. Jackson, of Toronto, to run the race in Western or any other lake, water, but refuses to row at Pittsburg under any circumstances.

Albany Lumber Market.

REVIEW FOR THE WEEK ENDING SEP. 23.

The receipts of lumber are large and ample for the demand. The market is well stocked with a good assortment. The prices have been more active than during the two previous weeks, and many large transactions are reported. Prices have not varied materially from our last quotations, and the small fluctuations are noticed in our schedule.

The shipments have been large to the East and New York; but freights remain the same as last week.

The receipts by the Erie and Champlain canals during the 34 week in Sept. in the year named are as follows:

Boards and Shingles, Timber, Stave, &c.	1866	1867
Boards, 1000	15,557,393	12,338,272

CAPITAL, $10,000,000.

FIRE AND LIFE.

LIFE DEPARTMENT.

THE principles on which this Company is founded contain all the elements required to develop the benefits of Life Assurance, and afford every facility to intending assureds.
One of the advantages secured by those who thrust their lives with this Company is that the outside expenditure for Management is absolutely restricted by the Deed of Settlement to Ten per Cent of the Net Life Income.

This most important restriction
shows that the interests of participating policy holders are closely watched and carefully attended to by the Company. Attention is especially called to this point, as the proportion of premiums expended for Management
must largely influence profits
and bonuses.

The next division of profits takes place in 1893, and all those who wish to participate in the profits should insure at once.
